REJOICE AT NUPTIAL FETE

Bluebloods and Commoners Join in Festival on Eve of Italian Princess's Wedding

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

RACCONIGI (Italy) Sept. 22.—Kings and commoners, princes and princesses of nine royal houses and hundreds of lowly subjects of the Italian crown today joined as kinsfolk in a festival of happy rejoicing over the marriage tomorrow of Princess Mafalda, daughter of King Emmanuel, and Prince Philip of Hesse.

On the eve of the union of the scions of Savoy and Hesse, two of the oldest blue-blooded families in Europe, this quaint mountain village was the scene of a brilliant celebration recalling the storied festivals of feudal times. It was a day primarily dedicated to the aristocracy, but King Emmanuel, true to the tradition which has made the house of Savoy eternally loved and respected by the common folk, did not forget his "people."

As the nobles celebrated within the confines of the ancient royal castle, hundreds of poor villagers, among them widows and relatives of soldiers who had died that Italy might live, were guests at a modest banquet at the expense of the crown in the village hostelry. The royal family made a surprise visit during the meal and were greeted with a great ovation, many of the war widows and the aged openly weeping from pleasure at this extraordinary honor. Liberal monetary gifts also were received from the sovereigns.

DANCE TO JAZZ

The royal festivities began in the afternoon with attendance at a theatrical performance in the Sicilian dialect at Verne villa, the actors earning the plaudits of the unusual audience comprising exclusively royalties, nobles and governmental and social dignitaries. A reception in the beautifully decorated hall of the villa was followed by a dance, at which the youthful guests, notably Crown Prince Humbert, stepped expertly to jazz tunes while the elders watched or dnaced gracefully in dignified fashion of yesteryear to the tune of waltzes.

The distinguished gathering then

PRINCE HAS CLOSE CALL IN TRAVELS

Train Narrowly Escapes Being Crushed by Huge Rocks from Mountains

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

JUNIN (Argentina) Sept. 21.—The Prince of Wales narrowly escaped disaster on the trip across the Andes, it was learned today.

Ten minutes after the royal train turned back last Tuesday an avalanche of great rocks, loosened by the snowfall, came crashing down the mountain, at whose foot the railroad line runs. One large boulder leaped across the track. Then men at work clearing the drift that stopped the train said that it would have smashed to splinters any railway coach it struck and probably would have overturned the cars coupled to it. Had the heavy drift not blocked the Prince's train where it did, he would have been in the path of the slide.

The Prince will spend Tuesday at Buenos Aires, leaving the following afternoon for Martinez De Hoz Estancia at Chapamalal, where he will embark on the Repulse Saturday afternoon.

The plane was the first seized in smuggling liquor into the United States from Canada.

SWEAR TO RECALL FRAUD

Witnesses in El Centro Say Names Obtained in Action Against Dist.-Atty. Utley by Falsehood

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, Sept. 22.—Representatives of opposing political factions crowded the Superior courtroom here today while a half-dozen attorneys engaged in a bitter controversy to convince Judge Thompson of Los Angeles, that he should or should not grant a permanent injunction to stop recall proceedings against Dist.-Atty. Utley of Imperial county.

Attorneys Harry Horton and Ross T. Hickcox, who are seeking the injunction in behalf of H. Rumsey and Baillies G. Walker of El Centro, declared that the petitions seeking Utley's recall have less than 700 valid signatures while the law requires 1376 names to obtain an election.

Frank S. Myer and his wife of El Centro were on the witness stand today for the plaintiffs and testified that D. F. Harbison and Mrs. Maude M. Hudson, recall workers, had visited their home and obtained their names on the petitions by representing that signatures were only for registration purposes. A half-dozen other witnesses gave similar testimony.

Both Harbison and Mrs. Hudson, when called to the stand by the defense, denied the charge that they had misled the voters in obtaining recall signatures. Harbison stated that he was paid $5 a day inside the towns and $10 a day in the country districts to obtain signatures against Utley. Attorneys Charles L. Childers and Vaughn Thompson, who are opposing the injunction suit, base their defense on the ground that the asserted fraud even if committed does not involve enough signatures to invalidate the petitions. They deny, however, that there was any fraud or misrepresentation in obtaining the names.

The charges made against Utley by those seeking to oust him are that he is aligned with political interests that are seeking to discredit the Swing-Johnson bill and that he is using his office in their behalf. Supporters of Utley charge that the fight against the District Attorney is due to his prosecution of the irrigation district directors whom two successive grand juries have accused of malfeasance in office. The directors are now awaiting trial on these charges.

Attorneys on both sides predicted at the adjournment of court tonight that the argument will be closed and the case submitted to the judge for decision before tomorrow night.

TURKS SLAY CHRISTIANS

Clear Towns by Deportation

War Propaganda Growing and Occupation of Mosul Urged

Tension Becomes Acute as Official Returns to Angora

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAGDAD, Sept. 22.—A column of Christians deported by the Turks has reached the Tanin Mountains. A number of old men and children who lagged behind because of fatigue were reported to have been killed by their captors.

Five Goyan villages have been cleared of Christians. Fugitives and travelers from the frontier say Turkish propaganda is concentrated on war talk and the occupation of Mosul by force if the League does not award it to Turkey.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GENEVA, Sept. 22.—The League of Nations has left the Mosul question hopelessly confused. Tewfik Ruchidi Bey, the Turkish Foreign Minister, is returning to Angora in anger and the tension over the Mosul muddle is growing more acute.

The League Council has asked the permanent court at The Hague to hold an extraordinary session to discuss the case, but the bald fact is that through weakness the Council has made an awful mess of the most dangerous case and the sending of the affair to The Hague is only a maneuver to conceal the League's failure and to try to delay the trouble between England and Turkey.

In a letter to the League Council, L. S. Amery, the British member of the Council, charged that the Turkish army concentrated along the frontiers has violated the status quo and demanded that the Council meet today and tomorrow to consider the violation.

Amery informed the Council that Turkish troops have crossed the provisional line solemnly laid down by the Council at the extraordinary meeting at Brussels last October and have deported to Turkey the inhabitants of four Christian nestorian villages, which are several miles south of the line.

BRITISH STAND

"The British government feels strongly that quite apart from any humanitarian considerations such as are necessarily involved in the forcible deportation of these people at this time of the year in a cold, unhospitable region, the action of the Turkish government in deporting Christians from villages which lie between the Brussels line and the frontier claimed by the British government is unquestionably a movement which might modify the present state of the territories of which the final fate will depend upon the decision to be reached on the subject of the frontier," says the British note in referring also to deportations by the Turks at places north of the Brussels line.

Amery then asserts that the forcible deportation of villagers is a violation of Article II of the Lausanne Treaty concerning the maintenance of a status quo.

Amery proposes that the council send one or more representatives to the frontier to investigate the Turkish as well as British charges and that they remain there in order to report any future violations.

Tewfik Ruchidi Bey, Turkish Foreign Minister, said today that the Mosul question is entirely out of the hands of the League of Nations as far as arbitration is concerned.

The British do not believe that Mustapha Kemal Pasha is going to invade Arak, but more than 100,000 of the best troops of the Turkish army are concentrated along the frontier and the Turks are hastily protecting Smyrna with mines and artillery and are increasing the heavy batteries along the fifteen kilometer de-militarized line on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles.

COUNCIL TO MEET

The League council is meeting Thursday or Friday to hear the British accusation that the Turks have violated the military status quo along the frontier, but the Turkish delegation will be en route home then.

The Turks expect help from the Wahabites and the Bolsheviki in case of a conflict and expect the British to have the Italians and Greeks.

Sheik Ibn Said hates King Feisul as much as he hates his father, King Hussein, and he has promised to overthrow King Feisul also.

A combined Turkish-Wahabite attack against Irak certainly would be fatal.

ADMIRAL SHATTERS AIR ARGUMENT OF MITCHELL

Eberle Shows Separate Wing to be Impracticable in Testimony Given to Coolidge Board

BY ROBERT BARRY
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—A grizzled old sailor who was studying warships and strategy when Col. "Billy" Mitchell was learning to walk, smashed the contentions of the army's gadfly more tellingly today than anyone else has been able to do thus far before the President's board of inquiry.

Admiral Edward A. Eberle, chief of naval operations, whose hand was at the guns of the Oregon when the closing shots were fired at Colon in '99, gave to the board a picture more impressive than the bales of prepared arguments, the mountains of statistics and the miles of charts it has obtained.

For five hours of the day's hearings there was a procession of formal statements and a desultory examination. The Navy had made a far better showing against the Air Service contentions than did the Army yesterday. There was more unity of thought and of purpose. The naval chiefs appeared to have given more study and greater recognition to aeronautics than the Army General Staff. Its plans seemed more sympathetic.

TONGUE UNLEASHED

A chance question by Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, a member of the board, unleashed Admiral Eberle's tongue and his restraint. The Senator was contending for a separate air corps in the Navy similar in administration to the Marine Corps. He had found Maj.-Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chief of military aviation, favorable to the scheme at yesterday's hearing. He prodded the admiralty spokesman again and again to find a loophole in their opposition. He touched a button somewhere about the gray bearded, dark-eyed old sailor and the sea and its fighting men became vocal.

Eberle has survived the row within the Navy between the sailing frigates and the steam-driven ship of war. He has seen a separate engineer corps at work. He knew that they fought just as hard for their ideals, hold themselves just as much the evangels of progress as the flyers do now.

"The engineers got their separate corps," Admiral Eberle said, his face growing even a deeper red than it is normally. "And, I tell you gentlemen it was a continual row. I was one of the officers who took both courses. I saw both sides. There never was co-operation. There was constant bickering and quarreling, until in 1899 the corps was abolished as a separate unit and all engineers had to be officers of the line. We've had harmony ever since and all naval officers, engineers and others have to qualify as line officers.

"You might as well say that there should be a separate ordnance corps and give the chief of ordnance authority to detail all the gunners, let the surgeon-general do as he pleased with the medical officers and hospital attendants, and have the chief constructor control all the constructors, machinists and carpenters. If every branch detailed its own men we wouldn't have a fleet. We would have chaos and nothing else.

"This Air Service problem must develop. It is developing steadily in the Navy. It is the impatience of young men who are responsible for all this agitation. They cannot act as wisely as older men. They want everything at once. These things develop in a natural way. They do not take in the whole problem of national defense, not only of home defense but the defense of our distant possessions. Matters are improving every day. This whole thing soon will be solved.

"The Navy went through this same agitation with the ram, the Monitor, the torpedo boat, the submarine and with the anchored and floating mines—as we are now experiencing with aircraft—yet the Navy still keeps the sea. To the threat of each new weapon an answer has been developed, and the ultimate sea power has remained in the capital ship with its better armor distribution, its improved underwater protection, its greater accuracy of fire, its increased speed and maneuverability, and

Navy Census at Beginning of Service Controversy Now Revealed

Bitter Fight Waged in Senate Against Bill Giving Control to Army

This is the fourth article dealing with the condition today of the air forces of the United States. The writer has gone to government sources in Washington for his data, which he sets forth that the public may judge for itself the merits of the present controversy over the efficiency of the winged services. Another article will be published tomorrow.

BY WILLIAM P. HELM, JR.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Almost six years ago official records show the Navy Department obtained the views of its aviator aces as to the desirability of a unified air service and found that 90 per cent opposed the plan—a fact disclosed by your correspondent for the first time. This census of opinion was taken at the beginning of General—now Colonel—Mitchell's drive for the establishment of such a service, or late in 1919, shortly after a board of four major-generals had reported, on behalf of the Army, against the centralized air control scheme.

"Shortly after this report was published," says an official account of the incident, "the director of naval aviation (the naval bureau of aeronautics had not then been formed) sent confidential letters to the fifty-one ranking aviators in naval aviation, requesting their unbiased view regarding the creation of a united air service such as was provided for by the Curry Bill.

"Forty-six of those officers put themselves on record as being strongly opposed to a united air service, and only five expressed themselves as favoring the change.

ARGUMENT SILENCED

"Four of the five based their arguments for taking aviation away from the Navy on the difficulty of progressing due to the inadequacy of the organization of naval aviation, which was then an office of the chief of naval operations with a captain as director.

"This argument for a united air service was also being used by Gen. Miltchell's followers. It was clear that unless a better organization for the administering of naval aviation could be instituted, there was a grave chance of the Navy's losing her aviation arm as a coequal military aviation department of the government.

"However, all arguments of this character were silenced when the Sixty-Seventh Congress passed a law creating a bureau of aeronautics in the Navy Department."

In the fall of 1919 when the Mitchell drive for unified aviation was in its inception, a subcommittee of the House Military Affairs Committee, headed by Republican James, was appointed to consider the advisability of passing a law creating a united air service. After hearing much testimony not only from high officers of the Army and Navy but from prominent civilians, the committee took no action on the proposal. The official account of the incident then continues:

"These hearings disclosed the fact that both the War and Navy Departments were opposed to a united air service and that the agitators for it were only a very small minority of the Army.

LEADERS OPPOSED

"Both the chief of the Army Air Service and the director of naval aviation were much opposed to a united air service and Gen. Persh-

AIR TRAGEDY EXPLAINED

Experts Discuss Shenandoah

Failure of Girder Blamed for Wreck of Navy Dirigible

Officers Declare Aluminum Alloy Used in Beams Was Brittle

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LAKEHURST (N. J.) Sept. 22.—A failure of one or more girders forward of amidships caused the wrecking of the airship Shenandoah, in the opinion of Commander Sidney M. Kraus of the special investigation board, who testified today before the naval court of inquiry.

Basing his opinion upon a personal observation of the wreck and upon such information about the disaster as he could collect, he said this failure occurred simultaneously with or shortly before or shortly after some very considerable rotation oscillation of the ship in the line squal near Ava, O., on the 3rd inst.

This breakage resulted in the nearly simultaneous failure of the frames holding the control car up under the forward end of the ship, he said, adding that the control car then probably swung by the after control wires, which sheared off a number of frames before it fell, carrying Lieutenant Commander Zachary Lansdowne and other officers and men to death.

Officers who salvaged the forward and after wrecked sections testified that the aluminum alloy of which the girders and beams were made, was much more brittle near the sections where the ship broke than in other sections. They said there was no visible evidence that there had been crystallization or any erosion of the metal and they offered no theory as to the cause.

CELLS INTACT

Commander Kraus, who observed the construction of the Los Angeles in Germany for fifteen months, said that in his examination of the wreckage he found no evidence of any defective material or defective workmanship. He also said he does not believe any of the helium gas cells had burst due to internal pressure, adding that those in the stern and bow which necessarily were subjected to the greatest pressure, were intact.

Besides hearing Commander Kraus and the salvage officers, the court received a detailed report from Commander Jacob H. Klein, president of the special investigating board sent to Ohio, and heard the stories of three other surviving officers which corroborated in the main the accounts given by the large number of officers and men survivors who passed before the court in quick succession at the opening day yesterday.

The last of the witnesses immediately available were heard today and while the court decided to meet again tomorrow, its procedure is uncertain. It may examine much of the Shenandoah wreckage which arrived at the air station here today from Ohio.

Announcement was made during the day that the scene within the great hull of the Shenandoah will be re-enacted for the court with the interior of the dirigible Los Angeles as the stage. This may take place tomorrow. The survivors now here will take positions at the stations or places where they were just before the wreck and will follow through the actions they took up to the time of the breaking up of the ship and later.

GAS ESCAPES

There was considerable more testimony today than on yesterday as to the gas pressure within the Shenandoah. Lieut. Thomas B. Hendley testified he was awakened by gas cells pressing down on his face. He expressed no opinion as to whether the gas cells were unduly inflated, but Lieut. C. E. Bauch told the court that on the first ascent normal conditions of the gas cells above pressure height prevailed and that repeated exam-

The huge Douglas army transport plane carrying officers from Rockwell field to the national air races at Mitchell Field, N. Y., had reached El Paso, Tex., last night after leaving Rockwell field early yesterday. The following description of the flight was written en route by Lieut. Dean Farran, radio operator, who has been engaged by the Times to make a series of tests of reception of the broadcasting from KHJ, the Times radio station, at various points across the country, in addition to supplying exclusive accounts of the flight.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ON BOARD U. S. ARMY TRANSPORT PLANE EN ROUTE ROCKWELL FIELD (Cal.) to MITCHEL FIELD (N. Y.) Sept. 22.—With no more fuss than boarding a train for a trip across the continent, we have just left Rockwell Field, Coronado, for Mitchell Field, Long Island, via the Army's first aerial transport.

Our party of five army officers is bound for the annual aerial races, including the classic Pulitzer Trophy race, and will visit various army flying fields en route.

Taking advantage of ideal weather conditions, we took off at exactly 5:40 a.m. and are at the present moment flying at 6000 feet a couple of miles north of the Mexican border, rapidly approaching the Imperial Valley.

Our ship is a beautiful job, built by the Douglas Company in Santa Monica. The pilot and one or two others are seated in an open, but well-sheltered cockpit forward, while seats are provided for six passengers in the cabin, where I am now sitting with my typewriter mounted on a little shelf on the back of the chair in front of me.

Looking out of the window at my side I can see the Pacific Ocean and ahead, the Salton Sea and the Imperial Valley, while below me are jagged peaks, but well sprinkled with good emergency landing fields.

We all feel that we are being

Survivor Describes First Signs of Disaster

ination of the cells assured him that the gas pressure was not excessive.

It was on this ascent that gas was allowed to escape through the valves for five minutes. Lieut. R. G. Mayer testified that during this time the valves were blowing satisfactorily and that no great pressure on the cells was noticeable.

After the upward flight had been checked the ship began to drop like a plummet and it was then that Lieutenant-Commander Lansdowne ordered water ballast thrown overboard and gave directions for men to stand by to slip the gasoline fuel tanks over the side if that should be necessary to check the downward drop.

After the last of the narratives of the survivors had been placed into the record there came a tense moment as Commander Klein placed before the court the official records of his investigating boards. These included memoranda made by some of the survivors immediately after the wreck. Lieutenant-Commander C. E. Rosendahl, senior surviving officer, objected to these going into the record, saying the men had been told that they would be used only by the men later in refreshing their recollection. They finally were admitted as memoranda and not as evidence and they were withheld from publication.

THRILLING STORIES

Somewhat thrilling stories of their experiences were given to the court by Lieuts. Mayer and Hendley. The former was going about his duties on the ship, which was rolling and pitching, when he first heard two wires snap, the sound being likened to that of a bullet riccocheting over the surface of the water.

AERIAL JOURNEY COMFORTS TOLD

treated to a glimpse into the future when such a trip as we are making will be an incident rather than an event. While European travelers are now quite accustomed to the idea of journeying by air, it is a novel experience in this country, even to those of us who fly constantly, to sit in an easy chair in a vehicle which slides along at 100 miles an hour or more with no rough roads nor clickety-click of rail joints. I even miss the wind, which I am accustomed to in the air, and am going to go forward and stick my head out with the pilot for a while.

I rode outside across the Imperial Valley and now have an entirely different conception of it. I have been in the valley on the ground, but had no idea that it is so broad or that there are such huge sand dunes along the eastern side. What a wonderful place for sheiks! I knew how hot it can get, and found it true to form at 3000 feet, but was agreeably surprised on coming back into the cabin to find it quite pleasant. It is now 8 o'clock and we are in or over Arizona, with Yuma and the Colorado River well behind and are squared away for Tucson.

Tucson is now miles behind us. We landed there at 10:45, took on gas and oil and moved our watches up an hour. We were about to "shove off" when several members of the Chamber of Commerce, who are thoroughly sold on aeronautics, came out to the field and made lunch sound so tempting that we weakened and went into town.

MUNICIPAL FIELD

Tucson is one of the few municipalities to recognize the importance of providing landing facilities for aircraft, in fact, they told me this noon that it is the first city in the United States to provide a municipal field. It seems too bad that the need for these facilities is not better understood.

In flying across country a pilot must keep one eye constantly on the map. Since leaving Tucson I have read a magazine story and taken a nap and until I look up landmarks I will have no idea of where we are. There are no railway stations, nor highway signs in the air, and it seems that the railways take particular delight in placing such signs where it is next to impossible to see them, even when flying at only a few feet above the station. Consequently a flyer must follow from one landmark to another and in desert country or in thickly populated areas where railways and highways form a fine net, this is sometimes a problem. I am in favor of legislation requiring each State to choose a distinctive color a la Rand-McNally. Today we have crossed California and Arizona and are now in New Mexico and they all look alike so far. When we can have distinguishable marks on farm and town roofs we will have a lot more time to look at scenery while flying across country.

CLOUDS OF COTTON

We saw the first clouds of the day near Tucson and now they are plentiful to the south of us, not storm clouds, but great balls of cotton which, together with their shadows, make contrasts against the desert pastel shades, which are beyond my descriptive powers. All I can say is that you will never see from the ground the scene I am now looking out on from our vantage point just under the clouds at 7000 feet above sea level.

I have been riding out in the open cockpit for awhile and I feel more at home there, but now we are only about thirty-five miles from El Paso, where we will spend the night and, as we will be in there in a few minutes, am going to stow the typewriter until tomorrow.

In the morning we will go down to Kelly Field at San Antonio, where I have several friends and probably will be able to spend a day or so with them. No more railway journeys for me when I can go by air.

FLIVVER SURVIVES FLOOD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FLORENCE (Ariz.) Sept. 22.—The long-distance sea-going auto record is believed to be held by a Ford car that was caught in a dip on the Tucson road, eleven miles from Florence, and that later was found stranded fourteen miles away, far out on what ordinarily is a desert. At that, the passengers state that the water in the wash was only a couple of feet deep.

Eberle Declares Separate Service Futile

Cites Prior Experience When Inventions Tried

Asserts Aircraft Valuable as "Eyes of Fleet"

FLYING IN INFANCY

"Aviation is in its infancy and has great possibilities, and also limitations. The present state of its development and its achievements does not warrant all the extravagant claims set forth. This is not the time to experiment with our national defense forces, but rather for sane and progressive development of new weapons and elements of warfare and their consolidation with the other fighting units of the Army and Navy.

"The invention of new implements of wareface always has been followed by fantastic claims and unnecessary impatience on the part of some enthusiasts—yet with time and practice all have assumed their tactical place in the fleet—as was the case with the submarine and the destroyer and the mine layer.

"First and foremost, a naval aviator must be a seaman to be able to judge conditions of wind and weather at sea, to pick up and distinguish vessels at sea, and should his plane be forced down, to be able to handle her when she becomes a surface boat. He must be a good navigator. He must have knowledge of battle tactics and fleet formations; and also a knowledge of all units that make up a naval force—this being most essential to enable him to give correct information to the commander-in-chief regarding the disposition of the enemy's forces.

"He must also have a knowledge of gunnery in order that he may give an accurate report of 'spots,' that is, make the proper corrections for range and lateral error, and be able to distinguish splashes of various calibers He must be familiar with the rate of fire, the doctrine of fire control and fire distribution, to enable him to determine promptly the targets assigned to various ships in the battle line and to follow the shift of fire to other targets as laid down in the doctrine.

MUST BE IN NAVY

"He must be familiar with naval radio and signals to enable him to communicate promptly and accurately. He must be familiar with the organization of the fleet and its activities. To acquire the above qualifications, a naval aviator must be a naval officer, brought up and trained in naval atmosphere with naval traditions and spirit and ideals and associations—in other words, he must think in naval terms, he must speak the language of the sea, the language of the Navy.

"We do not want divided authority or responsibility or loyalty within the fleet—all the activities of the fleet must be molded into one co-ordinated striking force acting under the commander-in-chief in order to bring success under the stress of battle. We do not want another navy created within the Navy. In our naval aviators we want to see able airmanship combined with good seamanship.

"The trouble has been that we did not have the facilities to have our naval aviators with the fleet. Now we have equipped all of the battleships but one with catapults. When we finish those installations on the cruisers and obtain the new aircraft carriers, these young men will become more a part of the fleet.

KEEPS RIGHT ON

"We've had to base them on land. Soon they will be at sea. They will give up living in houses and will settle down on the ships of the fleet. They will mess with the other officers, bunk with them, chat with them when not actually flying, and will become rapidly men of the sea. That will solve this whole business.

"The whole trouble with that branch of the Navy today is that this question is being misrepresented and misunderstood. If this commission can give us the encouragement in our policy and we don't have all of this agitation against the Navy, in a few years we will have something that everyone can be proud of. We have done more in aeronautics than any other nation. Our accidents have been very few, compared with those suffered by other nations."

Senator Bingham tried without success to check the flow of words which tumbled from the lips of the head of the commissioned forces of the American Navy. There was no chance for him. He went on. Having shaken the life out of that proposal by Rear-Admiral William A. Moffett, to give authority over flying officers exclusively to the Bureau of Aeronautics, instead of having all orders pass through the Bureau of Navigation, the admiral trained his guns on the contentions of Senator Bingham and Gen. Patrick, who favor an air corps in the Navy like the Marine Corps.

DENIES ANALOGY

"There is no analogy," Admiral Eberle declared. "We carry marines with the fleet merely to serve as a landing force, an expeditionary force. They are not a part of the functioning machine of the Navy in a sea battle. The flyers are. They are units of the fleet, of the team.

"There could be no such thing as turning loose our flyers with the fleet to let them go off to battle as they pleased. They must remain in the area of their own operations. A land operation cannot be likened to that. If the flyers under a separate command could wage battle according to their own ideas instead of under the orders of the supreme command which controlled all of the units of the fleet, in a sea engagement, they would be of no use to the fleet.

"The whole thing is worked out as a whole, and to each unit of a fleet is assigned its share in the battle. They must function together. A sea battle moves swiftly. Your front may be your rear within two hours. Victory or defeat comes swiftly. There is no comparison with a land engagement. Your air force is the eyes of the Navy. Can the eyes function irrespective of the rest of the body?"

MOFFETT REBUKED

Although Secretary Wilbur was hopping about the hearing-room interrupting the Navy witnesses, interposing objections to revealing "confidential matters," and even rebuking Admiral Moffett in curt fashion, Admiral Eberle, aided by Rear-Admiral Joseph Strauss, budget officer of the Navy, gave to the board a more effective presentation of the Navy's case against the contentions and pretensions of Col. Mitchell than the Army witnesses were able to do yesterday. It was obvious that in Admiral Moffett the Navy has no such problem of air-service viewpoint as the Army has with Gen. Patrick and Col. Mitchell, yet it was clear also that the Navy appeared to have taken hold of its aviation problem with greater vision than the Army.

Admiral Moffett did not carry to the President's board any such bagful of recommendations as the Army Air Servic presented yesterday. He was in general accord with he Navy Deparmen policy. He said he is opposed to a department of aeronautics and to a separate air corps in the Navy similar to the Marine Corps, and does not desire a separate air budget.

The head of the Navy bureau of aeronautics declared he thinks that entirely too much stress has been placed on the defensive value of aviation and not enough on its offensive power, yet he said repeatedly he regards the naval air force as an integral part of the Navy.

Admiral Moffett acknowledged there was unrest among the personnel of the naval Air Service, due primarily to the fact that the chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics does not have full and complete authority over the personnel. The bureau recommends, but the Bureau of Navigation controls all assignments.

"Would you favor legislation to give you that power?" Senator Bingham asked.

"I would not," Admiral Moffett replied. "I do not see the need of legislation. I think the matter will and can be worked out through departmental regulations."

ADMIRAL'S VIEWS

His view was that his recommendations should go direct to the Secretary of the Navy, instead of through the Bureau of Navigation. Admiral Moffett joined Gen. Patrick in asserting that some of his recommendations were denied by the general board.

Gen. James G. Harbord immediately asked the question:

"Do you think you could run a navy or an army if all the recommendation of every chief of every bureau were adopted?"

"No, I do not," Moffett replied.

Admiral Moffett declared that active flying officers were in charge of all flying stations, except at Pensacola, where the training school is a part of the naval district authority. He declared he prefers the existing system of administration to any other that has been suggested and thinks the problems will be worked out in time.

The fact that his budget was cut heavily last year was revealed by Admiral Moffett, but he said that all navy estimates were slashed under the Coolidge economy program. Admiral Moffett defended the flying corps as being equal or superior to any in the world.

To Col. Mitchell's charge that officers in both services were sent to certain death in faulty planes, Admiral Moffett replied that the navy system of inspection will not permit a plane to be used in flight which shows the slightest defect or indication of one.

CONCEDES IMPORTANCE

The failure of the PN-9 Nos. 1 and 3 to reach Hawaii in the recent test showed that it was not possible for the planes of any nation to fly over the Atlantic or Pacific oceans to bomb American cities, he said, because the PN-9 No. 1 carried her largest possible weight in gasoline and could not have carried any military load in addition.

Admiral Strauss—the man who laid the mine barrage in the North Sea—was willing to concede certain importance to aviation as a naval unit, but he was most emphatic in denying it "the importance that some people claim for it." A much larger and more assertive officer than Admiral Eberle, the man who holds the purse strings of the Navy, tossed at the President's board an array of figures to establish his contention that aviation is costly and that Mitchell can't get away with his argument that a $10,000 airplane can sink a $40,000,000 battleship.

Aviation is costing Great Britain, which has a separate air ministry, about $86,000,000 a year and the United States about $29,000,000 exclusive of construction and repair. The best possible comparison from an air view, would be that, exclusive of construction and repair, the British spend about $48,000,000 and the United States $29,500,000.

The British paid last year $3,000,000 for air ministry administration. The cost to the United States was $190,000. The British have a special air medical corps costing $1,160,000 a year, while America's cost is absorbed by existing services.

Admiral Strauss quoted reports his assertion that the whole tendency in Great Britain is "back to a commonsense system such as we have." Seventy per cent of the flyers now with the British navy are navy men and only 30 per cent air service men, he said

"Every concession has been favorable to the navy and not to the air ministry," he said.

EXPENSIVE DEFENSE

Admiral Strauss then attacked the air service contentions that there is economy in aviation development.

"We are assailed with assertions of the cheapness of aircraft defense," he said. "It is the most expensive defense, even if you concede that it is a good defense. You have heard the statement that a $10,000 airplane can sink a $40,000,000 battleship. To begin with a good bombing plane will cost closer to $40,000. Since it is true that every bomber in action represents only a third of the force necessary to render that possible, in other words, two inactive for every one active, you have an investment of $120,000. In the case of these more expensive longer range planes it would be $225,000."

Admiral Strauss cited the bombing tests by the British on the Agamemnon in which 114 planes dropped bombs without scoring a hit. He contended that was more impressive than the American tests because the Agamemnon was moving. "There you have," he said, "an investment of $12,000,000 in planes. Considering that it requires three hits to harm a battleship, your investment runs to $36,000,000 and your battleship hasn't been sunk yet."

MITCHELL LEAVES FOR CAPITAL IN AUTO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 22.—Col. He is traveling by automobile.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Adam died of the gout, says an ancient document in the possession of the Herald's College of London. The document, the origin of which is unknown, but which was written in the sixteenth century, professes to trace the genealogy of the Saxon kings back to Adam and Eve.

Eighty Millions in Two Years for State's Schools

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.—Eighty million dollars have been spent in California in the past two years in the construction of new schools, according to figures compiled by A. R. Heron, Assistant State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Heron declared that in virtually every county of the State, the exceptions being San Francisco, Los Angeles and Alameda, the school-building program has kept pace with the increase in enrollment of students.

In two years $20,000,000 has been spent in Los Angeles, Alameda and San Francisco in the hope of remedying the condition resulting from an increase in enrollment that exceeded the building program.

ing put himself on record in agreement with them.

"The general staff of the Army, Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, and the Naval War College are also on record as being opposed to a united air service. Among the great foreigners Marshals Foch and Haig and Admirals Jellicoe and Beatty have declared that the formation of a united air service is a mistake.

"On April 12, 1921, the President (Warren G. Harding) stated in his message to Congress that 'aviation is inseparable from either the Army or the Navy.'"

Notwithstanding, the workers for a centralized control of the air forces continued their efforts to have the united air service written into laws. One of the previous moves is thus officially described:

"On May 3, 1920, Gen. Mitchell appeared before the Congressional committee considering the army appropriation bill,"—the hearing being an executive one—"and the general recommended that the following proviso be inserted in the bill: that hereafter the Army Air Service shall control all aerial operations from the land bases and that naval aviation shall have control of all aerial operations attached to the fleet.

CLAUSE IN BILL

"This clause was inserted in the House bill. It will be noted that this important matter was referred to neither the Secretary of War nor the Secretary of the Navy, and the director of aviation was not even aware that the clause had been inserted in the army bill.

"When the bill reached the Senate a representative from the Navy Department called on Senator Wadsworth and informed him that the clause would virtually turn naval aviation over to the Army. The Senator stated that he would make an effort to have it removed from the bill and that he anticipated no trouble in doing this.

"However, when the committee met and considered this clause the Senator found so many members of the committee had been committed to it that it was not possible to strike it out, and he, therefore, was compelled to report to the Senate that it had the approval of the committee.

"The Navy Department called the attention of a number of Senators to the meaning of the clause and when this bill was brought up on the floor for consideration there ensued a long and heated debate. The clause together with the amendment suggested by Senator Wadsworth was stricken out by vote of the Senate. However, when the joint conference of the House and Senate took place the clause was reinserted in the bill and it was then impossible to remove it without endangering the whole bill."

LETTER BY BAKER

Concerning this activity of Gen. Mitchell, the Secretary of War, then Newton D. Baker, wrote to the Secretary of the Navy, Josephus Daniels, as follows, the correspondence being published here for the first time:

"Washington, May 21, 1920.

"Pursuant to our conversations of a day or two ago, I took up with Senator Wadsworth the provisions of the army bill affecting the naval aviation bases. Senator Wadsworth tells me that he and Capt. Craven of the Navy have worked out an entirely satisfactory amendment, and I have assured the Senator that it was my earnest desire not to have anything in the bill affecting the Navy, both because that is the wrong place for it and because the War Department does not desire to have anything affecting the Navy put into an army bill without the Navy being both heard and satisfied on the subject.

"As I understand it from Senator Wadsworth, the matter is now completely adjusted and the provision of the Navy saved."

There was to be more official correspondence, however, on the subject between the two secretaries whose letters will be published in tomorrow's installment of this series. The fight for a centralized air service, far from being closed, was but beginning, a fight in which Mitchell assumed large proportions, leading through the developments of more than five years to the pending Presidential inquiry.

WILBUR OPPOSES CHA

Secretary Declares Creation of Separate [illegible] Would Be Great Mistake in National [illegible]

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Secretary of the [illegible] today's session of President Coolidge's aircraft board [illegible] pared statement in which he discussed the operation, [illegible] ization of the Naval Air Service. He also set forth his [illegible] position to any change in its organization, [illegible] with reports from the American naval attache in London [illegible] of an aviation investigating committee of the [illegible] quotations from the English press.

These reports, he said, reflected a preference abroad for the form of the American air organization.

The Secretary also presented a report by Admiral Coontz, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, drawn up after the Hawaiian maneuvers, declaring that the Naval Air Service must remain under the control of the Navy and that any "other agreement would be entirely unsatisfactory."

Mr. Wilbur in his statement emphatically opposed creation of a department of national defense. Such a step, he declared, would be a "well night irreparable mistake."

"Air forces," he asserted, "form an essential part of the fabric of the Navy itself and its administration and its organization, like all other administrative problems internal to the Navy, will, if unmolested by outside influences, be solved with the same efficiency and with the same happy results as have been obtained in similar problems in the past."

"The mission of the Army and Navy in peace or war," he said, "is to support and defend the national policies. The Air Service, even if an independent arm, can have no other or distinct mission. If it should, unhappily, become necessary to maintain the national policies by force, the Army and Navy operate under specific missions for each.

MISSION EXPLAINED

"The great war mission of the Navy may be briefly stated as to gain and exercise command of the sea. This in its essentials means the control of the sea communications, that is, the seizure of these communications for our own purposes and conversely, their denial to the enemy.

"The objectives which would be taken by the Navy in order to accomplish this great war mission probably would be, in order, first, to destroy or blockade the enemy fleet; second, to protect our commerce; third, to destroy the enemy's commerce in order to bring economic pressure to bear on him, and, if our rights still continued to be denied, to transport the Army, in order to break down remaining enemy resistance.

"The mission of an air force of the Navy in time of war must necessarily be to assist the Navy in carrying out its war mission. Naval aviation is organized today as an integral part of the Navy, and constitutes an arm thereof, in the same manner as do battleships, cruisers, destroyers, submarines or mine layers. Acting as such integral part of the Navy, its employment in time of war will fall into the following general classes:

"First, as an auxiliary with the other units of the Navy; to control or spot gunfire; to reconnoiter or scout for enemy forces; to lay smoke screens; to counter-attack enemy air forces seeking to attack our other naval units.

"Second, as combat units, to gain control of the air in order that we employ such control to assist in gaining a decision.

"Third, as combat units, to launch torpedoes or drop bombs and depth charges directed at enemy targets.

NEEDED IN NAVY

"Aviation can best accomplish the above tactical and strategical missions by operating as an integral part of the Navy and not as an independent arm.

"The mission of the naval air force in time of war may then be thus stated:

"'The air force is an arm of the fleet. Its mission is to aid the surface units in gaining and maintaining command of the sea. It may best carry out this mission by gaining and maintaining control of the air in the theater of naval operations.'

"The existing administrative, industrial and scientific organization of our Navy Department and all of its resources have been taken advantage of in the development of naval aviation with little additional overhead beyond the general overhead charges of the department."

The Secretary at this point disclosed the conclusions in a report submitted by the commander-in-chief of the fleet under date of June 24, last, during the Hawaiian maneuvers, which read as follows:

"The commander-in-chief, as result of his close personal observations, desires to inform the department that he considers any further agitation or argument in favor of a unified air service or in favor of a separate aviation corps for the Navy as being entirely out of date. The commander-in-chief is unable to predict what will be the ultimate development of aviation material; but the developments now present in the fleet and in sight indicate clearly that the air squadrons exist as an arm of the fleet just as the destroyer squadrons and the submarine divisions exist; that they are part and parcel of the fleet and of the naval establishment and that the air squadron cannot exist on any other basis for co-operation, co-ordination and indoctrination.

MUST BE TRAINED

"In order to co-operate with the fleet the [illegible] the same training [illegible] and he made up [illegible] men who are [illegible] mentally and [illegible] ers in the fleet. [illegible] and cannot properly [illegible] sis of different [illegible] different states in [illegible] any attempt to [illegible] istence is against the [illegible] of the fleet and the [illegible] of the country [illegible]

"After the [illegible] the commander-in-chief [illegible] inform the department [illegible] he required to [illegible] he would want [illegible] whose material had [illegible] and produced by [illegible] accordance with [illegible] plied by naval [illegible] tated by [illegible] work for the fleet [illegible] work around fleet [illegible] would want [illegible] been trained [illegible] of the varied duties [illegible] at sea and around [illegible] the personnel [illegible] must be under the [illegible] of the department [illegible] mander-in-chief [illegible] fleet or in the [illegible] other arrangement [illegible] tirely unsatisfactory [illegible] mander-in-chief.

TAFT APPEALS TO UNITARIANS

Calls for Demonstration of Church Devotion

Plea Features Announcement of Biennial Session

Merger of Denominational Bodies Scheduled

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22.—A call by Chief Justice Taft to the Unitarians of the United States and Canada, "to give a demonstration of the devotion of the liberal forces of Christianity to their great cause" is sounded in the announcement of the thirty-first biennial session of the General Unitarian Conference, to be held in this city, October 12-15, next. Chief Justice Taft has been president of the General Conference since 1915.

On the program of the three days' meeting are Dr. S. Parkes Cadman of Brooklyn, N. Y., president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America; Rev. John Haynes Holmes of the Community Church, New York City; Dr. Samuel P. Capen, chancellor of the University of Buffalo; Karl de Schweinitz, social worker of Philadelphia; Prof. W. T. Waugh, of McGill University, Montreal; and Rev. Charles Francis Potter of the West Side Unitarian Church of New York City.

MERGER SCHEDULED

At this meeting the General Conference will be merged with the American Unitarian Association, which gave it birth in 1865 and now absorbs it in a reorganization of denominational machinery. Referring to this merger with the association, which began last May its second century of work, Chief Justice Taft says that it embodies the best features of both organizations. He adds:

"One of the principal features which the association is taking over from the conference is the biennial fall session held at points distant from Boston, and devoted to discussion of the spiritual aims of our denominational effort. The biennial conference is increased in importance by the merging of the two bodies. The gathering retains the completely free representative character that has marked its history of more than sixty years, and its self-direction by its right to appoint its own committees of arrangements. Its actions, however, have a greater significance than before, in that they are binding, in everything except appropriation of funds, on the reorganized American Unitarian Association, of which it now becomes an official part.

CALLS UPON UNITARIANS

"I call upon Unitarians of the United States and Canada to make the first biennial conference of the new and wider fellowship of free churches notable in their history, and to give a demonstration of the devotion of the liberal forces of Christianity to their great cause."

The three evening sessions will be devoted to such subjects as the future of Christian liberalism; religion in society and the world of nations. A variety of topics will be discussed under the general subject, "Unitarian Opportunities in the New Century."

All settled ministers and two lay delegates from each Unitarian church in the United States and Canada are entitled to voting privileges at the business session. The Unitarian Women and Unitarian Unitarian Ministerial Alliance of Laymen's League are co-operating.

M'NAMARA IS FOUND GUILTY

PLANS IN DARK

"It cropped out in evidence that the State subpoenaed all of the witnesses, while the defense witnesses came voluntarily. The ironworkers had a meeting at their headquarters last Thursday night," he said. "They decided there at that meeting who they would place on the witness stand without giving anyone a chance to know who they would be."

He affirmed that Ben Staggenborg, the foreman for the Niman Transfer Company, who, according to the indictment returned against the labor union official, was threatened at the Elks' Club Building by McNamara, possessed a "pecuniary advantage" sought by McNamara. Considerable argument was staged throughout the trial by what was meant by pecuniary advantage in the indictment returned against McNamara by the Marion county grand jury. Staggenborg's position, which was sought by McNamara, was the pecuniary advantage, according to Mr. Inman's contention.

Attacking a statement by Mr. Cox to the effect that William H. Remy, the prosecuting attorney, had sought to make himself famous by indicting McNamara on a blackmail charge, Mr. Inman declared that such a result would be impossible.

DENIES INSINUATION

"But," he shouted, "the jury can make itself famous by convicting this man who sits here guilty as sin."

"Your duty," said Mr. Inman, "is to enforce the law and not allow this man, whose true character is known to all of you, to continue on his course."

Defending his part in the case against a previous attack by Mr. Cox, he declared that he was hired to assist in the prosecution by the county. Mr. Cox charged in his closing argument that "interests had employed Mr. Inman in an attempt to destroy organized labor."

"I have no ulterior motives," said the attorney. "I was astonished to hear from the lips of my good friend, Mr. Cox, that charge. I want you to know that I was appointed by the court on the request of the prosecuting attorney."

Mrs. Sophie Poleski and George Symuk, her asserted murderer

WOMAN BURNED ALIVE

Charred Body Found in Furnace and Fireman Held on Charge of Murder After Asserted Confession

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Charged with stuffing Mrs. Sophie Poleski into a blazing furnace while she was still alive, in a lower East Side lumber yard last night, George Symuk, a giant fireman, was held without bail today on a charge of murder. He will be given a hearing the 29th inst. Police who went to the Poleski home after the slaying found the husband, John, in bed suffering from a badly cut and bruised head.

"The devil got into my head and I did it," Symuk told Assistant District-Attorney Ryan in regard to the murder. "She brought me some wine last night. She had a bottle filled with green stuff, too. She wanted me to drink some of it but I thought she was trying to poison me. I fought with her about staying with her husband. I hit her over the head with a bottle—then the devil got into my head and I did it."

Poleski was unable to clear up the mystery surrounding his injuries. He said that he was awakened in bed early this morning when "somebody" rained blows on his head. This explanation failed to satisfy police and he will be questioned further tomorrow.

"George was a great friend of mine," he told the police today. "My wife often went to see him. I knew last night she was going to see him."

The burning of the victim might have been completed and all traces of the murder obliterated but for the alertness of a policeman, who heard a woman scream while patrolling his beat. Finding the gate to the lumber yard locked, the patrolman scaled the wall and ran to the lumber yard building where he found Symuk alone.

Symuk at first denied there had been any woman in the building with him, but when the officer insisted that the screams must have come from the building, the fireman made a dash for liberty. The patrolman fired two shots at him, attracting two other policemen who captured the fugitive. Search was made and Mrs. Polesky's body, burned almost beyond recognition, was found in the blazing furnace.

AGRARIAN BONDS TO BE ISSUED

Mexico to Allot Series Totaling 50,000,000 Pesos Early in December

BY JACK STARR-HUNT

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 22.—The first series fo bonds destined to indemnify landowners affected by expropriations of lands by the government for communal grants will be issued early in December, it was officially announced today. The total amount of this series will be 50,000,000 pesos which will be amortized by means of drawings every six months, each bond having twenty interest coupons bearing 6 per cent annually.

This issue is solely to pay Mexico's agrarian obligations, being quite distinct from the republic's other internal or external obligations. Shortly after promulgation of the decree establishing this issue, it was reported that landowners were unwilling to accept paper, but it is now reported that if owners do not take the bonds allotted them within a year, the bonds will lapse to the benefit of the government.

The municipality of Mexico City claims the completion of payment of more than 1,000,000 pesos on account of past due indebtedness of the previous administration, and asserts that by the end of the current year it will be paid up regarding all accounts, and will establish a situation unequaled in municipal finance in many years.

It was officially announced that under the present program of the war ministry, the Mexican army shortly will be reduced to a grand total of 45,000 men in all branches, this being a reduction of more than 30,000 since the time of the de la Huerta revolution.

Money and Auto Lost in Torrent by Arizona Man

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HOLBROOK (Ariz.) Sept. 22.—G. C. Schillinburg, an Indian trader on the Navajo reservation, has had a costly experience at the ford of Las Lunas wash, near Chinle, northeast of this point. His car was being pulled through the sand when a cloudburst torrent came rushing down, the occupants of the auto barely making their escape to the bank, while the team that was helping had to be cut loose. The trader not only lost his automobile, but as well a satchel in which was $1000 in currency, obtained by him for the purchase of wool. Seach for the treasure is being made along the channel of the wash.

THRONGS JOIN WEDDING FETE

ranged around twenty banquet tables which were decorated with the finest examples of the pastry cook's art, huge molded desserts sufficient for all, old wines and tasty viands.

It was after the liquors that the real celebration began. Led by King Victor and Queen Helena, the guests proceeded through the garden to the shores of the tiny nearby lake. Ladies in beautiful evening gowns, the men in severely formal attire, army and navy officers in dress uniforms, resplendent with medals, marched slowly over paths trod by so many generations of Savoyards under tall cypressed pines, through the branches of which were strung thousands of multicolored lights.

At the shore of the lake the assemblage was a gorgeous spectacle with many boats and barges gayly illuminated with red, green, blue and orange lights, casting fantastic shadows and giving the scene a fairy-like air of unreality.

There was a brilliant display of fireworks, flinging forests of sparks far into the blackness of the night, some dying in the air, others hissing briefly as they fell into the water. The festival terminated at midnight in order to permit a good sleep before tomorrow's arduous round of ceremonies.

PRINCESS'S TROUSSEAU VALUED AT $10,000

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ROME, Sept. 22.—Like an old-fashioned mother wondering what the modern girl is coming to, Queen Victoria might sadly shake her head could she have a glimpse of Princess Mafalda's trousseau, obtained at the Maison, where most of the work was done. Gone are the mid-Victorian brocades and heavy regal velvets and in their place are diaphanous chiffons, cobwebby chemises and lingeries, which any modern girl might envy. And from the civil ceremony in the chateau to the parade to the Turin Automobile Club tomorrow's wedding will be one of the most important royal functions in Europe this season.

Princess Mafalda's trousseau, which was purchased in Turin, Milan and Rome at the Princess's desire, cost more than 250,000 lire ($10,000,) comprising transparent matinees, crepe de chine and silken nightgowns in Princess Mafalda's favorite colors, rose and lilac, and adorned with hand-made lace designed after the royal command, malines, valenciennes and point de Paris. Numerous dresses, gowns, little handkerchiefs of antique lace and the finest damask linen complete the trousseau. All the lingerie and house-linen are exquisitely embroidered with a monogram, surmounted by the royal emblem.

Princess Mafalda's wedding train is four yards long and will have two bearers. She will wear at the ceremony a magnificent necklace of 300 pearls, given to her by the Crown Prince. Her veil is of inestimable value, owing to the richness of the antique lace.

After the ceremony the royal couple will depart at 4 o'clock in the afternoon for an auto tour through Switzerland and Germany.

The collaboration of 300 airplanes, including big bombing planes, with three army regiments will be a feature of the military maneuvers.

NEWYLWEDS DEMAND WEDDING DANCE "FEES"

HUNGARIANS PAY FOR RIGHT TO BE PARTNER OF BRIDE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DETROIT, Sept. 22.—'Tis a fine old Hungarian custom, that of donating money at a wedding supper for the privilege of dancing with the bride, but the Circuit Court is now to be called on to decide whether the money so collected is the property of the bride or of the person who puts on the party.

Julia Kornish and her husband Joseph declare that at their wedding the 5th inst., some $1500 was collected in this manner. The wedding supper was given in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Veron Kodar. Mrs. Kodar and her husband Balint, the Kornishes say, volunteered to take care of the $1500 for the happy couple until after the honeymoon.

But, complain the Kornishes, when they came for the money, they were not only denied it but were forced to pay $224 more, the cost of the supper, before they were permitted to take away some clothing and furniture belonging to the bride.

They filed suit to recover the $1724.

OCEAN YIELDS DEATH ENIGMA

Body of Man Found Strapped to Water Keg

Believed to be That of Lost Skipper, Christensen

Fisherman Disappeared Off Catalina 9th Inst.

An unusual ocean mystery came to light to puzzle Los Angeles Harbor authorities last night with the finding of the body of a man, a ten-gallon water keg strapped to the left leg, entangled in a bed of kelp forty miles northwest. The body, which had been in the water more than ten days, was discovered by J. Oquist, sailing alone in his fishing boat, Cuba. Oquist brought the body to San Pedro.

Harbor men believe the body to be that of Liverpool Hans Christensen, skipper of the fishing boat Edna L, who was reported lost overboard west of Catalina the night of the 9th inst.

If the body is that of Christensen, the only theory to account for the keg being strapped to the knee is that it was attached by persons who previously had discovered the corpse and did not wish to go to the trouble of taking it ashore. If the body is not that of Christensen, then it may be that some sailor or fisherman, realizing his craft was doomed, strapped it on in the hope of being buoyed up.

Another fact militates against the theory that the body is that of Christensen. The drift in the vicinity of Catalina is generally southeast, whereas the body was found miles to the northwest. However, Oquist, the finder of the body, told Detective Lieutenants Farrell and Beeson it was possible the body might have been carried to the northwest.

The loss of Christensen two weeks ago was reported by Carl Mowar, with whom he had just formed a partnership, Mowar to get a half-interest for his work. It was their first trip out in the Edna L. A heavy sea was running and Mowar had gone below. Christensen had complained of not feeling very well. When Mowar came up, Christensen had disappeared and an all-night search of the vicinity revealed no trace of him.

The body brought in by Oquist was that of a man about five feet, nine inches in height, weight 185 pounds, blue eyes, brown hair, apparently middle-aged and wearing blue overalls. Christensen had worn blue averalls, a blue sleeveless sweater and an O.D. shirt.

No one could be found last night by the San Pedro police who would state positively his belief that the body was that of Christensen. The lost fisherman, so far as is known, has no relatives in this country.

DEMOCRATS TO EXTEND RALLY

Party Picnic Seen in Guise of National Affair

Gov. Smith to be Stellar Attraction at Meet

Outside States Send Large Crowds to Chicago

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Preparations for the Democratic picnic at the Beverly Hills forest preserve next Sunday reached the proportions of a national event at today's meeting of the county managing committee.

With Gov. Smith of New York coming to give the affair a national touch, party leaders from other States have sent word that they will bring big delegations and make the picnic a real political pow wow.

It looks like busy times on the stump in the West for the leader of Tammany Hall. Democratic chief in some of the Western States where the party has all but collapsed during the last four years intend to come to Chicago with an appeal to Gov. Smith to help them put the donkey back on its feet in those States.

NEBRASKANS IN FORCE

Word came from Omaha that a delegation of Nebraska Democrats numbering from 100 to 175 will come on a special train to attend the picnic and talk things over with Al. Another delegation from St. Paul, headed by former National Committeeman Dick O'Conner and William J. Quinn is expected. National Committeeman Joseph F. Guffey of Pennsylvania said he would be here with a party from Pittsburgh. In Wisconsin, where the Democratic party has almost ceased to exist as an organization, old wheelhorses have called the scattered remnants together for a trip to Chicago. Here they hope to obtain the inspiration for rehabilitating the party in the Badger State. Delegations are expected from Madison and Milwaukee, headed by National Committeeman Martin L. Lueck.

LARGEST OF KIND

From the start National Committeeman George E. Brennan, Chairman Martin J. O'Brien and other local leaders have planned to make next Sunday's picnic the largest thing of its kind ever staged in this neck of the woods.

"I have been estimating the attendance at 100,000,'" said Chairman O'Brien. "But with this activity in other States I would not be surprised if we have twice that many. Another party is coming from St. Louis and there will be a big crowd from down-State Illinois."

A delegation headed by Mr. Brennan will go to New York Thursday to meet Gov. Smith at Albany and accompany him back to Chicago.

LEAGUE MOVES FOR DISARMING

Conference at Earliest Date, Plan of Leaders

Arbitration and Security to be Linked in Trilogy

Special Body for Economic Parley Proposed

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, Sept. 22.—Confirming the plans of the leaders, the League of Nations Assembly in plenary session of the commissions today laid the foundations of future international disarmament and economic conferences.

The disarmament commission adopted a resolution whereby the League Council will make a preparatory study for a conference for the reduction and limitation of armaments so that as soon as general security has been achieved a conference will be convoked in order that "a general reduction and limitation of armaments may be realized."

The outstanding feature of today's discussion was the declaration of a British delegate that it is generally recognized that the trilogy, arbitration, security and disarmament indicates the road on which progress can be best made for a world peace—a declaration which gave immense satisfaction to the French as voicing British acceptance of the underlying ideas of the Geneva protocol.

The thought behind the disarmament resolution voiced by several delegates is that preparation for such a conference does not brook a moment's delay. As for an economic conference the resolution drafted invites the council to examine at the earliest possible opportunity, the creation on the widest basis of a special committee to prepare the work for an international conference which should examine into the economic difficulties standing in the way of restoration of general prosperity and discover the best methods of surmounting difficulties and avoiding disputes.

M. Loucheur of France, who initiated the economic conference project, announced tonight that he will expect the council to take definite action at the December session. Mr. Jouhaux, French labor leader, declared that the economic situation throughout the world was grave and should not be concealed from the people.

"The projected conference," he said, "will bring out those truths the people have a right to know, and put its finger on points of friction and agreement."

PRESIDENT WILL SEEK ARMS MEET ENTRY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Possibility that President Coolidge may call upon the next session of Congress to authorize participation by the United States in the disarmament conference planned by the League of Nations was revealed by a White House spokesman today.

Intensely interested in the cause of international disarmament, the President is known to be watching developments in the League's proposed conference with close attention in the belief that nothing will be more agreeable to the American people and their government than the perplexing question of European armaments brought nearer to a satisfactory solution.

At the same time the President realizes that participation by the United States in such a disarmament conference must depend upon authorization from Congress.

STATE-WIDE STUDY TEST PROJECTED

Readjustment Data for School Courses Expected Under New Program

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.—With a view to obtaining data that will prove of value in readjusting the courses of study in the public schools of California, a State-wide educational testing program soon will be put into effect under the direction of Miss Mamie B. Lang, State commissioner of elementary schools.

The first test, to be on arithmetic, will be given in the schools of Northern California, and later this and other tests will be given in the southern part of the State.

Miss Lang declares that the tests will show the school authorities just where the schools stand in any given subject, and also will show the counties where they stand as compared with other counties.

"We have reached the place," said Miss Lang, "where we know the very bright child, the average child and the child of slower mind than the others, but we have not made our curriculum to fit these children. The day is near at hand when instead of fitting the child to the text we will adapt the material to the child."

ARIZONA TO VOTE ON COMPENSATION BILL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Sept. 22. — Arizona will hold a special election on the 29th inst., to pass upon a submitted workmen's compensation bill, unless the Supreme Court overthrows a decision of Superior Court Judge J. S. Jenckes, who this afternoon decided the election call legal and the act one that properly might be submitted at a special election. Owing to the short time available, it is possible that no appeal will be taken.

RUNAWAY IN CEMETERY

HACKENSACK (N. J.) Sept. 22. More than a dozen tombstones were knocked over and a score or more of graves were trampled and the flowers uprooted when a team of horses attached to a wagon owned by a bakery concern dashed through the Fairview Cemetery after a mad run of more than four blocks.

FORD SHIP DEAL FAILURE FEARED

Auto Manufacturer Fails to Sign Agreement

Mind Believed Changed on Scrapping Project

Board Plans Fight to Keep $175,000 Deposit

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Henry Ford is believed by some Shipping Board officials to be developing a case of cold feet about buying ships. It is seven weeks since the Shipping Board accepted the Ford bid for 199 steel ships to be scrapped, and the board learned today that Mr. Ford has not yet affixed his signature to the contract.

William B. Mayo, Ford's chief engineer, left Washington on August 8, last, with the contract as drawn by attorneys for both sides. It was sent back by Mr. Ford with a request for minor changes in a clause relating to liquidation damages. Then it was returned to Mr. Ford, altered as he wished, and the Shipping Board was given to understand he would sign it at once and return it for the signature of Chairman O'Connor of the Shipping Board.

The proposals under which the Ford bid was offered and accepted required that the contract be executed within ten days after the award, and this period has elapsed long since. At the time of the purchase of the 199 ships, Ford also bought six tugs to move the ships whence they could be broken up.

The tugs have been paid for, but the board has learned that Mr. Ford has just discharged all the crews and left the tugs in the hands of caretakers. This, coupled with the mysteriously lapsing contract, has led board officials to think Mr. Ford has changed his mind about the desirability of buying ships.

This view was also strengthened by his failure to bid for the Pan-American Steamship Line, operated by the Munson Steamship Company when bids were sought last week. The board had been led to believe that Mr. Ford was in the market for the line.

The unsigned Ford contract would give the government $1,706,000, an amount $300,000 above the next offer for the 199 vessels. The Ford bid was accompanied by a check for $175,000. He paid $250,000 more for the six tugs. If Ford fails to sign the contract, the Fleet Corporation threatens to put up a fight to keep the $175,000 deposit.

SUICIDE GRAVES BESIDE DOGS

Greece Sets Aside Place to Show Scorn in Hope of Ending Practice

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

SALONIKI, Sept. 22.—So greatly has the number of suicides increased in Greece recently that authorities have issued an order providing for a burial place for persons who end their own lives, separate from places where persons who die natural deaths are interred. The cemetery for suicides adjoins the grounds where dogs are buried and where refuse is cast. It is hoped this display of public contempt for suicides will discourage the practice.

CHAMP'S INDECISIVE WIN PROMPTS NEGOTIATIONS

Kearns Ready to Sign for Walker and Shade Expected to Jump at Second Opportunity

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Negotiations for a return match between Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, and Dave Shade of California were opened today by Tex Rickard, promoter. The indecisiveness of Walker's victory over Shade in a fifteen-round title clash at the Yankee Stadium last night, Rickard said, prompted him to start dickering for a return match to be held during the winter season in the new Madison Square Garden.

Although no contracts have been drawn up, Rickard said that Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, is willing to sign for the match, but that Leo Flynn, manager of Shade, has not yet been approached. Flynn, however, is expected to seize the opportunity for another chance at the title.

MICKEY WALKER

Official figures of last night's show reveal that a crowd of 32,000 paid $185,156 to see the fight. With the State and Federal taxes deducted, Rickard emerged with a net gate of $159,906.80. Of this Walker is understood to have received a flat guarantee of $100,000 with Shade getting a 12 1-2 per cent cut.

NEW YORK "COMMISH" APPROVES VERDICT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The decision of the judges at last night's welterweight championship fight of fifteen rounds between Mickey Walker and Dave Shade has the official approval of the New York State Boxing Commission, even though members of the board may have disagreed with the verdict, William Muldoon, one of the commissioners, said tonight.

Admitting that he believed "Shade was having a little the better of it," Muldoon declared that "no fairer or more capable judges ever sat at a ringside to decide the merits of a bout."

LEO LOMSKI PARKS HERE FOR BATTLE

Northwestern Mitt-Pusher Arrives Quietly to Prepare for Bout With Colima

Leo Lomski, who flattened Bert Colima in a fight at Seattle last month, is in Los Angeles and has already opened a training camp in preparation for a return fight with the Whittier Mexican at Vernon, October 20.

Leo Lomski

Lomski and his manager, Eddie Eicher, drifted into the city quietly and had rented a bungalow at Huntington Park before anybody knew they were here.

Yesterday they called on "Wad" Wadhams, Vernon matchmaker, and made themselves acquainted.

The State Boxing Commission may be asked to decide where Lomski fights. Vernon claims to have signed him first and so does the Olympic Club.

THREE-EYE LEAGUE TWIRLER PLAYS HERE

Barneby pitched his first game here on Sunday for the Central Building Material squad against the Palms team. The game was played for the benefit of Hollis Leake, who was seriously injured in a game several weeks ago.

UMPIRE TECK RELEASED

Ed Teck, center of the storm which ended the second game of Sunday's double-header between the Seattle Indians and Angels amid a rain of cushions from the fans, no longer will be an umpire in the Coast League after October 1, it was announced yesterday by President Harry A. Williams.

Teck at first ruled the game forfeited to Los Angeles, only to later change his decision and rule the contest halted by darkness.

Williams also announced that Hap O'Connor had been dropped from the league's umpiring staff.

GRIDIRON ARMY OUT AT MANUAL

Three Hundred and Six Bid for Varsity Berths

Hefty Pigskinners Report to Artisan Mentors

Only Five Veterans Back for First-String Squad

"The Army Forever" might well be the national anthem at Manual Arts this year, for a fair army of be-moleskinned youngsters are daily galloping about the Toiler field while Coaches Sid Foster and Eddie Kienholtz beam approval. Exactly 306 prospective gridders, a fair percentage of them candidates for the varsity, are what Coaches Foster and Kienholtz have to deal with daily.

Last year resulted none too gloriously for Manual, and at the start of the present practice season it was thought that the 1925 season scarcely would exceed last year, if any. Veterans were few and far between, and of experienced material there was none.

When suddenly there appeared 306 aspirants, eager to sport the purple and silver of Manual, and all doing their individual best. Whereat Coaches Foster and Kienholtz proceeded to do a lightning change act from Kid Pessimism to the Beaming Cherub, and all is joy and gladness about Manual today.

Foster has but five veterans—Martin, Hanford, Oreb, Steward and Smith. And it is with this quintet as a nucleus that he will attempt to build a contending team. If numbers mean anything, results should be interesting. Martin is the quarterback from last season's squad, a smart signal-caller and a passer of good ability. Hanford, crack 440 man of the Toiler track squad, is another gridiron veteran. His speed makes him a dangerous man on any field, and he is expected to be responsible for a good portion of the Mechanics' scores this year.

Frank Oreb, another veteran half, is to do the kicking for Foster's squad, and off his practice boots, this department of the game will be well taken care of. This husky young man is hooking the parabolas, the hyperboles and the coca-colas to all heights, and distances from fifty yards up.

Haughton Norfleet, some 175 pounds of bone and flesh, promises to be the bone-crushinest member of the Toiler's bone-crushing line. Norfleet is big, fast and beefy, as, for that matter, is most of the rest of the Toiler forward wall. As usual, Manual will have a big, heavy team this season, backed up with some fleet-footed backs. Will Stewart and L. Smith are the veteran linesmen back for positions.

Irish Luck in Reverse Gear on Pat McGill

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

HOUSTON (Tex.) Sept. 22.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, claimant of the heavyweight wrestling championship of the world, defeated Pat McGill in a three-fall match here tonight. McGill, after losing the first fall, came back strong, taking the second in thirteen minutes and having the champion out on his feet when he slipped while trying to crash Lewis to the mat for the win. When he fell, Lewis fell on top of him. McGill landed on his head and was knocked out by the blow. The first fall went twenty-eight minutes and went to Lewis with a headlock. The last fall was twelve minutes.

MEADOWBROOK FOUR WINS POLO FINALS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—The Meadowbrook Long Island polo team today defeated Point Judith, Rhode Island, 12 goals to 9, in the final round of the tournament for the President's Cup. The match was played at the Philadelphia Country Club.

The work of the Meadowbrook four was superior to that of Point Judith in all departments of the game. J. C. Cooley, at No. 1 for Meadowbrook, played a particularly spectacular game, scoring eight of the twelve goals for his team.

Point Judith was conceded a handicap of three goals at the start of the match, but this was overcome in the seventh chukker. J. P. Mills was the leading scorer for Point Judith, with three goals.

Washington Manager Hurt in Game; May be Out for Rest of Season

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. On the eve of the world's series, Stanley (Bucky) Harris, manager and second baseman of the Washington champions, suffered an injured finger today and was forced out of the game and possibly out of the opening game of the season's classic.

The middle finger of Harris's right hand was badly gashed when he dove into third base in the first inning of today's contest with Cleveland.

EIGHT OF OXY TEAM JUNIORS

Tigers Cheered by Large Number Third-Year Men on Varsities

Never before in the history of Occidental has any single class been able to boast of such a collection of athletes as the incoming juniors. Nineteen lettermen out of a total of thirty-five junior men have returned to the Eagle Rock institution.

When the Bengals lost such stars as Powers, Argue, Ellsworth, Spangler and Goodenough most followers stood by with a skeptical air, wondering just how the coaches were going to muster up enough men to put a full team on the field in any one sport.

In making the letters in their sophomore year the younger athletes forced many upper classmen, who were conceded varsity berths to warm the benches in all four of the major sports.

The fact that eight lettermen in football are returning for their second year of the sport should put joy in Coach Nichols's heart. Probably no coach has reason to be more optimistic than Wilkie Clark, who has ten of the men returning to play baseball. Five sophomores made letters in basketball and six in track last year.

Portland Beavers Nosed Out in Opener of Series

Wee Ludolph Bests Burns in Exciting Mound Duel

Local Hurler Blanks Ducks Until Ninth Inning

BY ROBERT RAY

It took ten innings and a wild heave by Manager Truck Hannah to give Rube Ellis's Vernon Tigers a 2-to-1 victory over the Portland Beavers in the series opener yesterday. Mr. Hannah's wild throw to second that was intended to nip Evar Swanson at said sack, filtered into the dirt and, then up Emmet McCan's sleeve out into right field, allowing Pete Thompson, a member of the September crop of Tigers, to gallop over the plate with the winning run.

All of which would indicate that Mr. Hannah's debut as a manager was not what might be termed a howling success.

Yesterday's tussle, to watch, was of a major-league caliber, compared with the ones put up by the Seattle Indians and the Angels last week. Also the athletes on both sides showed a lot of hustle and the game, extra frame and all, was over in little more than an hour and a half.

The win ended the Tigers' losing streak of seven straight games.

Dennis Burns and Wee Ludolph played the principal roles in a hurling duel, with the former having all the better of the argument despite the fact that he had to work overtime to win. The Tigers slapped Burns for sixteen assorted safeties, while Ludolph limited the Ducks to six.

SCORE IN NINTH

Wee had the Ducks shut out with three swats up until the ninth when the visitors bunched a trio of singles to push over their solitary score.

Ellis presented a lot of new faces to local fans, having in his September crop of minor league pickin's, Bob Gillespie, just returned from the Three-I league; Pete Thompson, who came down from Montana to play third base for the Bengals, and Redfern, a shortstop obtained from Detroit in part pay-

TWO FOR COBBMEN

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Detroit took both games from the Red Sox today, 11 to 8, and 7 to 2. Seven runs in the sixth inning of the first game settled that contest in favor of the Tigers. Owen Carroll, former Holy Cross star, pitched the second game for Detroit. It was his first full game in the American League and his second victory of the season. Pitcher Ross of the Red Sox had his nose broken by a bad bounding ball off Wingo's bat in the first game. In the second contest Heilman hit a home run off Fuhr in the ninth with Manush on base. SPLIT TWIN BILL

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—New York and Chicago divided a double-header at the Yankee Stadium today, the Yankees winning the opener, 11 to 6, and the White Sox taking the final, 4 to 2. The Yankees beat Hollis Thurston and Dickie Kerr in the first game, but Ted Blankenship allowed only six hits in the second, chalking up his fifteenth victory of the season. Paschal aided the Yankee cause in the opening game by hitting for the circuit twice, both clouts remaining inside the playing field. Bob Meusel hit his thirtieth homer of the season in the first game and his thirty-first in the second. Ruth went hitless both games and contracted an error in the second game which allowed a Chicago runner to score: The scores:

Horse Racing at Fair Proves Popular With Visitors, Who Witness Stirring Gallops

POMONA, Sept. 22.—Opening the five-day program of horse racing at the Los Angeles County Fair here today with exceptionally fast time in all heats, 6000 enthusiastic spectators welcomed the ushering in of the matinee programs for the week amid wild acclaim and gave Frank Lieginer, racing secretary and starter, a real ovation as he took his position at the post.

Suzanne (Mrs. E. T. Perry) driven by M. P. Sebree, who was the winner at the recent Ventura county fair, again romped home winner in the 2:24 pace in the fast time of 2m. 11 1-2s.; Black Bon (Burton and Sissell) driven by Frank Burton, winner of the State Futurity in 1923, copped the ribbon in the 2:17 trot in 2m. 13 1-4s., while Review (A. Mathews) ridden by Phillips, placed first in the four and one-half-furlong running. Castle Crown, ridden by Marshall, a last-minute entry in the three-quarter-mile running, upset the dope by taking first. Miss Los Angeles, in disguise, won the one and one-half-mile relay in 3m. 6 1-4s.

HARVARD GRIDS BOW TO HUNTINGTON PARK

Huntington Park High School opened its grid season with a victory yesterday, by scoring a 6-to-0 victory over the Harvard Military Academy. Mahlon Chambers, right half for Huntington, scored the only touchdown of the game in the third quarter, on a twenty-yard run on a criss-cross play.

McGrath, quarterback, was the outstanding player of the Harvard squad, while Parslow, Gilbert and Brown all did well for Huntington Park. The line-ups and score:

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

IT LOOKS very much as though the world's record for ax-wielding, hitherto held by the Stanford University pedagogues, might soon be the property of the University of Southern California. Their latest effort, that of decapitating Fay Thomas, captain of the Trojan varsity football team, certainly demonstrates that the local professors have no intention of letting anybody get away with anything, all of which is good for amateur athletics and for the reputation of the school, even if it does sock the football coach in the jaw. But is is a much better situation, when the Trojans themselves do it, than was the case a year ago when outsiders undertook to step in and "purify" U.S.C. Our guess is that U.S.C. can stand the spotlight of publicity on their athletics about as well as most of 'em.

As far as we can recollect, Stanford set a record that won't be equaled for a long time, when the Cardinal faculty mowed the boys down in December, three years ago. At one fell swoop they knocked over enough big stars to kill athletics in pretty nearly any school. Practically the entire championship freshman football team was canned, and with them went Tiny Hartranft, the great weight man; Al Smith, the sensational miler; Clarke, the fine quarter-miler from L. A. High, and a batch of others. That, as far as we can recollect, was the grandest housecleaning of athletes in the history of the Coast.

Incidentally, we heard an interesting item about that freshman team. Nevers, now called the greatest fullback in the country, couldn't make it and was a substitute. He only played a few minutes in the game against the splendid Trojan team of that year. Bill Cook and Al Clayes were halfbacks and a giant named Faust was fullback. All were stars and all got the hook from the faculty, Cook and Hayes for failure in their studies and Faust for a number of reasons. It develops that Faust was over 30 years of age and had played professional football for several years. He had a younger brother and entered Stanford on the youngster's high-school credits.

The Trojans this year have ruled off Fay Thomas and X. Jones, first-string tackles; Greene, an experienced quarterback, and one or two other lesser lights. California is said to have unceremoniously dumped a couple of good prospects, and Stanford, who seems to do its deadly work at Christmas, fired the two stars of the freshman backfield, Bill Pabst and a halfback flash named Altaffer, who ran wild against California—the only game in which he played. He looked to be one of the greatest backs on the Coast and Warner had counted on him to star this year. He was a product of Kiski, the famous Pennsylvania prep school, which has turned out some of the finest players in the country.

BEARS SET FOR PIGSKIN BATTLE

Open Season With Santa Clara Eleven Saturday

Andy Smith to Use Veterans in Initial Clash

Bruins Touted as Wonder Team of Pacific Coast

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERKELEY, Sept. 22.—Clashing with the Santa Clara Broncos in the first game of the season, the widely heralded 1925 California football team will get under way Saturday afternoon in the memorial stadium.

Andy Smith, mentor of the Golden Bears through five undefeated seasons, has declared himself well satisfied with the condition of his charges, and is ready to admit that he has a football team second to none on the Coast.

Bruin supporters, confident that they have another "wonder team," are looking to the game in a very different fashion than they did one year ago. This time last year Andy had little or nothing in the way of experienced material. In two weeks he had to develop a lot of green men into a football machine. Consequently, Blue and Gold fans were rather apprehensive regarding the initial contest. Santa Clara's heavy and experienced team lined up against the green California eleven, and in less than five minutes scored the first touchdown against the Bears in their new stadium. It was all the Bruins could do to hold the Broncos on even terms the rest of the period. In the second half they came back refreshed and full of fight, and by desperate struggle managed to score two touchdowns, grabbing a 13 to 6 victory out of what seemed a sure defeat.

Although Andy Smith has not yet announced his line-up, it is safe to say that his first varsity, kept intact throughout the training season, will start. This is composed of Mell and Thatcher, ends; Sargent and Cock, tackles; Carey and Rau, guards; Baze, center; Carlson, quarter; Imlay and Dixon, halves, and Griffin, full.

For reserves Andy is very well fixed. Such men as Coltrin, Green, Giddings and Barnard on the line, and Mills, Bancroft, Brown, Maurice and Willis in the backfield, give the Bruin coach plenty of first-class reserve material.

It is probable that every member of the varsity squad, which consists at the present time of thirty-one men, will get into Saturday's contest.

Washington by beating Cleveland while Philadelphia lost to St. Louis widened the gap between the teams to eight and one-half games. By taking three more contests of their remaining eleven, while the Athletics win all their remaining ten, the world's champions would finish seven points in front, as follows:

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

THE outdoor fight season in New York, which wound up Monday night with the brawl for the welter title between Mickey Walker and Dave Shade, has been nothing to go daffy over.

This is the sum and substance of a screed just received by "Gig" Rooney, manager of Jackie Fields, from his old-time friend, "Scotty" Montieth, manager of World's Featherweight Champion Kid Kaplan.

"Scotty" says Walker was guaranteed $100,000 for his end, which meant that Tex Rickard had to draw $200,000 to break even at the gate. The total receipts were just about that, according to the news dispatches, so apparently the only satisfaction Tex got out of the fight was in seeing a good scrap.

"Scotty" intimates that Dave Shade queered the works for one of the best outdoor shots of the season when he flattened Jimmy Slattery. He worked himself into a title bout with Walker, but ruined the Berlenbach-Slattery gate.

But for that unexpected kayo at the hands of Shade, the Berlenbach-Slattery fight would have drown $500,000 in Scotty's estimation. As it was, the promoters played to a $100,000 house.

"The weather is uncertain in New York now; the nights are getting chilly, and all hands are waiting for the grand opening of the new Madison Square Garden December 7," writes Scotty.

Incidentally, Scotty says it is very likely that Kid Kaplan will defend his title in a return bout with Babe Hermann as the piece de resistance of the opener. If not the first shot, it will be the third, declares Scotty.

In the meantime Scotty is preparing to pull out for California again. He will not only have his own troupe of fighters, but will be accompanied by a bantamweight, a lightweight and light heavyweight of national reputation, whose names the writer is not at liberty to divulge at the present time.

Contradicting some of the nice things Jack Kearns said about Ernie Owens, his Los Angeles fighter failed to do anything with Ad Stone in Philadelphia Monday night that would excite the natives here or elsewhere.

On the contrary, there was the stigma of a carry attached to the affair. Stone, who won the fight, was warned for pulling his punches.

PACIFIC TO HOLD ASHES OF PHELON

Just an urn of ashes, all that remains of the earthly body of W. A. (Bill) Phelon, grand old man of the baseball scribes, will be cast over the waters of the Pacific by Charles Hazelhurst, Los Angeles attorney and lifelong friend of the writer.

Phelon was one of the best loved of all baseball writers. The press chair that "Bill" occupied in the Cincinnati ball park has been encased in cement, and a bronze plate bearing an inscription has been placed thereon. Phelon is mourned by thousands of readers and his loss is greatly felt by the baseball fraternity.

MECHANICS CLASSY IN SCRIMMAGE

Poly Gridders Show Good Stuff in Workout With Fremont Eleven

Coach Voyle Brennen, Polytechnic grid mentor, gathered together his exuberant collection of pigskin chasers and journeyed out to Fremont High yesterday afternoon to engage in a practice scrimmage with Coach Bill Haney's hopefuls. No scores were made, no time was kept, and there was no kick-off. The tilt was merely a practice scrimmage and not a game.

The Mechanics gained at will, shoving the lighter Fremont players all over the lot. Bucks off the tackles, and over the guards, by Lauterman and Griffiths, were always good for from three to eight yards. Occasionally Murphy and Carrol would dart around end for a substantial gain. Post also carried the ball well.

Coach Newman has two smart ends in Newman and Elzer. The Fremont backs could not get around them and both lads followed the ball like a hawk, recovering four fumbles.

Hatch, a 190-pound tackle, was the outstanding lineman. Brady was also a tower of strength. Moore, who is second choice for the other tackle position, looked good. Except for a pretty thirty-yard run by Anthony of Fremont, the Mechanic line held charges of their rival backs.

Coach Brennen's first line-up was as follows: Elzer and Newman, ends; Clark and Hatch, tackles; Brady and Gatterdam, guards; Handy, center; Stephens, quarterback; Griffiths and Murphy, halves, and Lauterman, fullback.

Firestone

Double the Mileage at Half the Cost

Only a few years ago a 32 x 4 cord tire listed over $50.00. Today, you can buy the highest quality 32 x 4 tire—a Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord—for about $26.00.

Last spring crude rubber cost tire makers around 40 cents a pound. Today, it is over 90 cents a pound.

It was not so long ago that 7,500 miles represented the average life of a cord tire, while today, 15,000 miles—and more—is only the usual performance for a Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord.

Due to large, concentrated production, specialized machinery and simplified factory methods, together with economical distribution, Firestone is able to keep tire prices low—no matter where crude rubber prices go.

And, because of special Firestone processes, chief among which is Gum-Dipping, motorists are getting thousands of extra miles by using Gum-Dipped Cords.

Gum-Dipping is an exclusive method used by Firestone. It is an extra process, carried out in special Gum-Dipping plants, after which the cords are put through the usual calendering machines. Gum-Dipping insulates and impregnates every fiber of every cord with rubber, and practically eliminates internal friction and heat and builds strength and endurance into the tire.

In the day-in and day-out service of taxicab, bus and truck operators—on the cars of hundreds of thousands of motorists everywhere—Firestone Full-Size Gum-Dipped Cords are giving unheard of mileage, dependability and satisfaction.

Former Open Champ Pushed to Remain in Classic

International Stars Meet in Matches Today

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Walter Hagen of Pasadena, Fla., managed to remain in the contest for his title of professional golf champion at Olympia Fields Country Club today, but it took him thirty-nine holes to overcome Al Watrous of Grand Rapids, medalist of the tournament. The former British champion had to score par 70 on the fourth course in the afternoon and lay his opponent a stymie on the third extra hole to survive.

New York managed to keep eight of its twelve qualifiers in the field, or half of those remaining to contest for the title. This computation counts Hagen as a New York player, although he is entered from Florida.

The defeat of Laurie Ayton, 2 and 1, by Leo Diegel of New York left only Al Espinosa and Bill Mehlhorn to carry the banner for Chicago and one of them must be eliminated in the second round, as the pairings bring them together.

Oklahoma, Ohio and Missouri are still represented as Bobby Cruikshank defeated William Leach of Philadelphia, 4 and 3; Ray Derr overcame Abe Espinosa of San Francisco by the same margin and Ed Dudley of Joplin ousted Mike Paeton of Memphis, 3 and 2.

The only Pacific Coast player left in the running, in Morte Dutra of Aberdeen, Wash., who overcame Willie Ogg of Worcester, the only New England contender, 2 and 1 after being three down at the end of the first eighteen and barely square when they turned into the home stretch. Ogg played the first nine of No. 4 this morning in par 35, and finished that course with a good 73, but he slipped in the afternoon on No. 3 course, while Dutra was close to par.

Pairings for tomorrow's matches:

Armour and Golden; Dutra and Dudley; Kerrigan and Williams; Espinosa and Mehlhorn; Farrell and Derr; Cooper and Burke; Diegel and Cruikshank; Hagen and Brady.

ment for Jackie Warner. Neal Finn was also back in the line-up after an absence caused by injuries.

Although they hit Burns with frequency in the early frames, the Tigers weren't able to score until the seventh inning, which Wee Ludolph opened by socking a triple to center-field corner. Gillespie, who got three hits during the day, drove Ludolph over the plate by punching a single over Lafayette's head. Gillespie, however, was caught off first base when Finn failed to connect with a sacrifice bunt.

The Beavers came close to scoring in the fifth, but a rapid double play engineered by Pete Thompson stopped the Ducks in their web-footed tracks. McCann opened the inning by beating out a roller over second and stole second. The Duck infielder took third after Gillespie's catch of Lamb's fly in deep left. "Hard-Hearted" Hannah lined one down the line, but Thompson speared it, touched third and that was that.

COUNT KNOTTED

Portland knotted the count and robbed Ludolph's chance for a shut-out in the ninth, which Charley High began by getting a hit when his bounder took a bad hop out of McDowell's reach. Rhwer singled to right, putting High on third, but Rohwer was trapped and run down between first and second. Riconda popped to Thompson for the second out, but McCann piciously enough, when Hunnefield threw out Finn, but Wolfer started something by hitting safely to center. Thompson singled to right and Ike went to second. Swanson slapped a one-base knock to left, but Rohwer's fine throw to Hannah nipped Wolfer at the plate. Swanson started for second on the throw-in, and Hannah threw there to try to head him off. As previously mentioned, Hannah's throw wasn't all it should have been, Thompson scoring, and everybody getting home to supper on time.

The Tiger tenth opened unausforced the athletes into extra innings by rapping a single to center. McCann pilfered second, but perished there when Ludolph slipped a third strike past "Stew" Lamb.

Another today, with Leverenz and Pillette as the probable hurlers. The score:

NIMRODS PREPARE FOR DUCK SEASON

According to word passing around among the nimrods, the duck season, scheduled to open October 1st, will be the best in many years. Many lakes report that their boats already taken for the opening day.

The ducks are already settling on local waters. Several thousands of ducks and some geese are paddling on Lake Arrowhead, while reports from the Sacramento and Imperial Valleys indicate that the fowl will be plentiful in those locales.

A Series of Articles on How Modern Grid Game Should Be Played

BY ROBERT C. ZUPPKE,

University of Illinois—the World's Greatest Football Coach

No. 3—WHY EAT SPINACH?

When I told you yesterday that men did not come out for football because they wished to harden their muscles, to co-ordinate mind and limbs, to make their bodies sturdy, but that they played the game because of its irresistible appeal to the imagination, I didn't mean that football is without physical benefits.

RED SETS FAD

Hundreds of boys are eating spinach today who scorned that vegetable a year ago. Why? Because it has been printed that Harold Grange eats spinach. The boys learned that their hero eats spinach because it is rich in vitamines that help to make a great athlete. It doesn't make any difference whether they become great athletes. The important thing is that they have developed a new and valuable habit.

Football is not the best form of physical exercise because it is too strenuous a business except for the hardiest. But it is one of the most potent educational factors in drama staged on a wind-swept and rain-soaked field in 1923, when Chicago and Illinois battled through a driving storm to a 7-0 score. Undoubtedly a small fortune was spent in restoring damaged clothing, but I heard no complaints.

To the youngster a football player epitomizes what is most admirable in American athletics, for he stands for clean living and hard playing.

In the late Dr. G. Stanley Hall's "Tests of Human Fitness," the first test on his list is health.

Now, watching a football game in the rain is, I must admit, hardly conducive to health, but just as the boys are now eating spinach, so are they getting other salutary habits—habits in eating, in sleeping and in bathing—for they are imitating faithfully and gladly and hopefully the great ones of the grdiron.

Dr. Hall's next test is second breath.

GOES AT TOP SPEED

Every athlete knows what is meant by drawing on reserve strength. He must have a mental reserve as well as a physical reserve. A football team going at top speed, perhaps in the face of adversity or even certain defeat, is drawing on its reserve strength, fighting doggedly, giving extra ounces to the cause.

Every man and every boy feels the need on occasion for some such reserve, either mental or physical or spiritual. Plato calls its the divine afflatus.

And when the boy or youth or grown man sees a football player giving a little bit more than he thought he had, refusing to admit defeat, going down with spirit unbroken, with head bloody but unbowed, he must be inspired to go and do likewise, whether it be in a spelling bee, a geometry class, a baseball game or in business.

Football helps us to learn to play hard and fair, and in the end to accept victory graciously or to meet defeat with a smile.

The Eighteen Best Plays

Selected for Use by High School and College Teams school life, for its is an expression of virility, of courage and character.

That is what it does for the youth of the country. For the rest of us it is a mental stimulant.

Once in a great while a play or an actor is so popular that a line will form at the gallery door an hour or so before the audience is admitted and perhaps a hundred or more of the eager will stand in the rain cheerfully paying the price of discomfort to see their idol.

That scene is enacted at long intervals.

Every autumn it is not extraordinary for 70,000 persons to sit for three hours in drenching rain and chilling wind to watch a football game. And not in one city, but in many cities; not on one Saturday, but on numerous Saturdays.

GRIPPING DRAMA

There have been few plays that I have seen so gripping as the and Joey Sanger, and fought Bud Taylor to a draw, Sarmiento's record speaks well for itself.

MARKS POPULAR WINNER

Marks but recently won a newspaper decision from Frankie Genaro in Red Btnk, N. J.

Each boy intends to park in California for some time.

Trainer Emmett Ledwith has built Georgie up to 117 1-2 pounds for the engagement. Sarmiento will come in a pound and a half or more over that.

"Gig" Rooney sends Jackie Fields against his second dangerous professional opponent in the person of Frankie Fink. "Tuffy" Wing, Julius Jessick, Johnny Adams and Johnny Lamar will tell you that Fink is far from being an "egg." Frankie trimmed the first three and broke even with the Mexican orphan.

Fields's friends say he will jab Fink's head off. Kink's followers assert that the kid who won the world amateur featherweight championship at the Olympic games in Paris last year does not belong in the same ring with the Dallas demon.

FERACI MEETS DUPRE

Charley Feraci, the stylist, is paired with Andre Dupre, former featherweight champion of France, who is just back from Australia, in another six rounder.

Four-round bouts between Charley Moy and Pedro Villa and Johnny Sacco and Tommy Shull complete the card.

Because Larry McGrath is still on the suspended list, Leo O'Shea of Kansas City and Omaha will referee the Sarmiento-Marks encounter.

For the few who may not know, the Olympic Auditorium is located at Eighteenth street and Grand avenue. The first quarrel starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Several hundred attended the returns last year and enjoyed getting the news of the games without having to miss their lunch or stand in a hot street waiting for the play by play.

David Butler, L.A.A.C. squash champion, has entered the tournament and Gallery, Hinckley and the other stars will have to be in top form to stop Butler.

Golf Commissioner Brown of the club stated that just as soon as the Lakeside golf course is completed the Hollywood Athletic Club would hold a big tournament for the members.

TROJANS ELECT CAPTAIN TODAY

Jones's problem will be to find another Cummings.

Lyle Baldridge, a husky 249-pounder, is the outstanding prospect right now for the vacancy. Bill Friend has secured his job at one tackle. Baldridge, despite his bulk, is a strong, reliable man, but is unfortunately slow. Cruickshank and Wescott are a pair of eligibles, but both need a lot of developing.

Al Behrendt, a guard now playing end, will not be moved in unless absolutely necessary, Jones stated in reply to rumors. Behrendt has shown himself a classy running mate for Hobbs Adams, and a keenly necessary man for the Jones style of play. If he, by any chance, is moved in, either Newt Stark or Red Badgro will take the wing position.

Rumors were thick about the campus that several additional men might be found ineligible. Prof. Willett, head of the faculty athletic committee, refused either to confirm or deny these rumors. Trojan athletes have twenty different rules to qualify under before they are eligible to perform. These rulings are in both the Coast conference, and the three-way agreement with Stanford and California. Willett stated that he had not thoroughly investigated the entire varsity squad, and until such investigations were made, would be unable to make any statement.

Gwynn Wilson, graduate manager of the university, announced that $25,000 worth of tickets to the U.S.C.-Stanford game, which is to be played in the Coliseum October 17, have been sold to date. This sale strengthens the belief that the big bowl will be filled for the contest, the first game in two years between the teams.

NINE-INCH TROUT TAKEN AT RAINBOW

Members of the Rainbow Angling Club have been very pleased with the fine catches made recently. Fishermen at the club are taking the limit consistently and all of the fish being caught measure nine inches or more.

Catches of nine-inch trout are very unusual and manager Leigh Garnsey reports that many new members are being attracted to the club because of the fact.

Piave II Starts New Service to Coast Ports

Los Angeles-Mediterranean Link Established

Fleet of Four Scheduled for Regular Call

Linking Los Angeles with the trade centers of the Mediterranean, the Italian steamer Piave II yesterday arrived from Trieste to inaugurate the monthly passenger and freight service of the Navigazione Libera Triestina. She was greeted upon arrival at the port by a large delegation from the Los Angeles Italian Chamber of Commerce.

The Piave will be followed in four weeks by her sister ship, the Cherca, from Trieste on the 5th inst. and at regular intervals by the new Italian motorships Leme and Fella, which have just been constructed expressly for the new Mediterranean-Pacific service. The two steamers' activities will be confined to freight dispatch, while the new motorships also will carry passengers.

Calls will be made at all important Italian, French and Spanish ports in the Mediterranean by the new line, while on the Pacific Coast its activities will extend north to Puget Sound. Capt. W. J. Stofen, district manager for the General Steamship Corporation, agent for the line on this Coast, said that other vessels will be added as cargo and passenger offerings warrant.

Today at the Paris Inn, Capt. Francisco Zachel, commanding the Piave II, and his officers will be the guests of the Italian Chamber of Commerce, while tonight Capt. Zachel will hold open house aboard the Piave II to Italian residents of Southern California.

HEAVY MOVEMENT OF OIL BOOKED AT HARBOR

A million barrels of petroleum will leave Los Angeles Harbor today and tomorrow on fifteen tank steamers for widely scattered ports of the world; beginning an unusual activity in the offshore oil movement which will mark the last quarter of the present year.

Important among today's departures will be that of the General Petroleum tanker Emidio, sailing for Hamburg with 70,000 barrels of gasoline, the first gas shipment to Germany in many months. The Yorba Linda, also of the General Petroleum fleet, will also sail today with a similar gasoline cargo, it being destined for the North Pacific.

The Norwegian tramp tanker Malmanger will today load out a cargo of kerosene for oriental delivery under Royal Dutch Shell charter. The shipment is one of the first bulk kerosene cargoes to go to the Far East. Yesterday the Shipping Board liner West Calera, in Swayne & Hoyt's Australian-New Zealand service, took out 17,000 cases of cased gasoline for Auckland.

Other important tanker departures will include the British tanker San Salvador, with fuel oil for Buenos Aires, and the Japanese tanker Manju Maru, with a similar shipment for delivery to the Imperial Japanese Navy at Tokuyama. Advices were received yesterday that the British naval tanker Nacula is en route here from the Antipodes to load fuel oil for the British East Indian-Australian squadron of the fleet.

The Standard Oil's tiny motorship H. T. Harper, which two months ago sailed for New Zealand with a gasoline cargo as an experimental voyage, will have successfully carried out the venture when she returns here today.

The volume of foreign trade in Los Angeles Harbor's shipping is strikingly illustrated in the annual report just issued at the United States Immigration Station by C. G. Gatley, inspector in charge.

Mr. Gatley and his force of eleven inspectors during the past twelve months examined 31,083 alien seamen on 1189 vessels. There were 210 desertions by aliens reported at the port, while 508 undesirables were deported during the year. In that period forty-four stowaways were captured by Mr. Gatley and returned to their respective points of departure.

Mr. Gatley declared that the number of stowaways has been cut exactly in half over the previous year, which he said was due to the efforts of the United States Immigration Service in curbing the activities of a shipping master at Rio de Janeiro. This man, he asserted, had previously practiced a regular traffic whereby he charged seamen $150 for safely stowing them away on board tankers of a certain British line operating regularly to Los Angeles.

Los Angeles shipbuilders will have an opportunity to bid for the construction of a 248-foot passenger and freight vessel which has been designed for immediate building by Albert W. Lawson, San Francisco naval architect. Bids will be opened at San Francisco on October 20.

The new vessel, which Mr. Lawson says is to be operated on a Pacific coastwise run, will be of steel, powered with Scotch boilers and driven by triple expansion engines designed to give her a loaded speed of twelve knots. She will have a beam of forty feet and a fifteen-foot loaded draft.

The vessel will be the first of its kind to be constructed in a Pacific Coast yard in more than two years and spirited competition is developing among all coast builders in an effort to secure the contract.

The Luckenbach liner Lena Luckenbach, bringing for Pacific Coast delivery 8000 tons of freight from New York and Philadelphia, arrived at the port yesterday after having passed through the tropical hurricane which last week raged off the lower West Coast. Although neither the Lena Luckenbach nor her cargo were damaged, officers of the ship reported receiving radio messages from her sister ship, the Julia Luckenbach, bound for New York, saying that she had been hove-to before the gale for twenty-four hours.

The Garlin Line freighter George Allen, which was towed into port disabled on the night of the 21st inst. by the tug Sea Lion, effected repairs in the roadstead early yesterday and before noon was at her berth, discharging the 1700 tons of Los Angeles freight which she brought around from Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Surveyors found the seat of the trouble, which threw the George Allen's engines completely out of commission 230 miles south of Los Angeles Harbor, to be a poor grade of fuel oil which proved to be of too heavy consistency. She took new fuel in her bunkers, pumped her bilges off the harbor and proceeded to dock under her own steam. Capt. J. D. Clarke, her master, yesterday was commended by shipping men for the masterly fashion in which he handled the ship while she was helpless at sea.

Carrying forty Los Angeles travelers and 3500 tons of Southern California freight for the Orient, the Dollar around-the-world liner President Garfield yesterday departed on her sixth circumnavigation of the globe. When she made this port, the President Garfield had been taken over 140,000 miles at sea by Capt. Kenneth B. Lowry without having once been off schedule or suffering damage to ship or cargo.

STRESSES FOOD VALUE OF NUTS

[illegible] Sees Future Supply of World's Sustenance

[illegible] Use Subsoil and Do Not Waste Land

[illegible] Growers Assemble at St. Louis

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22.—The [illegible] need have no worry about [illegible] future food supply, no matter [illegible] thickly populated it becomes, [illegible] it gives adequate attention to the planting of nut trees, [illegible] to Dr. Robert T. Morris [illegible] York, who spoke today at [illegible] of the Northern Nut [illegible] here. Dr. Morris is a sur[illegible] profession but long has [illegible] hobby of nut-growing.

"The more people there are in [illegible] the better," said Dr. [illegible] "The more people, the [illegible] there will be on the [illegible] of food supplies for the [illegible] of today and for tomorrow."

[illegible] Morris pointed out that nut [illegible] the subsoil in producing [illegible] and there apparently [illegible] to the land as when [illegible] and corn are grown. Also, [illegible] said, marsh lands, in[illegible] being drained, might be put to use growing trapa nuts or lotus, which form the basic food supply for millions of persons in the Orient. "Crops from marsh plants, fish, fowl and fur-bearing animals often bring larger returns than do those from cultivated uplands," he asserted.

Zenas H. Ellis, of Fair Haven, Vt., another grower, told of his efforts to produce many varieties of nuts in the cold climate of his State. He suggested nut trees as being best for the lawn, because they give just enough shade for comfort without killing out grass or flowers around them. Besides, he declared, most of the blossoms are beautiful and there is nothing monotonous about a nut tree.

What the agricultural experiment station of the University of Missouri, at Columbia, is doing to test out the value of nut trees on Missouri farms was described by T. J. Talbert of the university.

One of the outstanding features of the four-day convention is an exhibit of nuts from all parts of the world. In the display are pecans, Persian walnuts, almonds, filberts and chestnuts, pili nuts from the Philippines, lichee nuts from China, Queensland nuts from Australia, cashew nuts from the tropics, Turkish pistache nuts from California, pignolia, or stone pine nut kernels from Southern Europe, pinions from the American Southwest, and Paradise nuts from Brazil. Most of these nuts are edible. Some are poisonous to the touch until roasted and some cause death if eaten.

Thursday, the last day of the convention, will be given over to a visit to orchards of pecan and hickory trees in Illinois.

BUTTERFLY SIGN ROBBERS' CLEW

Novel Device Told Them if Householders Were Away

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Sept. 22.—The police learned a new one when a band of young burglars, whose thefts total 500,000 francs in the rich suburbs of the French capital, were arrested.

Instead of making a cross against a villa to be robbed they glued upon the door a live butterfly. If the butterfly was still sticking to the door following twenty-four hours they considered that the house was unoccupied and the band made a raid. But if the butterfly was missing they checked that house off their calling list.

Jury Chosen in Note Suit From Wood Campaign

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22. — A jury was chosen today to hear the suit of Col. William Cooper Procter who was chairman of Gen. Leonard Wood's 1920 campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination, against Col. A. A. Sprague, who was treasurer of the Wood committee, for recovery of $50,000, one-half of a note given by Col. Procter which was indorsed by Col. Sprague.

Col. Proctor maintains Col. Sprague signed the note as a coguarantor, while Col. Sprague insists he appended his signature to indicate to the Merchants Loan and Trust Company of Chicago, of which he was a director, that it represented business brought into the bank by Col. Sprague.

The suit is a sister suit to one instituted in the Superior Court here against Col. Sprague for recovery of one-half of Col. Procter's contribution to the Gen. Wood campaign. That amount is unknown.

Hawaii Flight Plane Ordered to San Diego

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HONOLULU, Sept. 22.—The Navy seaplane PN-9 No. 1, which carried Commander John Rodgers and his crew from San Francisco to Hawaii, in the air and on the water, will be shipped to San Diego, probably aboard the transport Chaumont, next month.

Orders for forwarding of the seaplane were received today by Lieutenant-Commander Hillington B. McComb of the Pearl Harbor naval air station.

The orders probably will force abandonment of the tentative plans which had been made to fly the seaplane to Hilo, Island of Hawaii, Thursday, with Gov. Farrington as a passenger. The Governor planned to inspect the annual National Guard encampment on the big island.

Espee Proposes Acquisition of Imperial Road

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The Southern Pacific Company today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for the right to purchase the Holton Interurban Railroad in Imperial county for $325,000.

STOLEN CHECKS SENT TO BANK FOR PAYMENT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN RAFAEL, Sept. 22.—The receipt in the mails of a number of checks and other securities by three Marin county banks today disclosed that the postoffice boxes of these banks had been rifled three weeks ago, and the checks and other papers taken therefrom. The paper with a total face value of $10,000, was "doctored" after the theft, and was thereupon mailed to the three banks for payment. The forgeries were discovered after a total of about $300 had been paid out. The banks are the Tamalpais Bank and Bank of San Fafael in this city, and the Mercantile Trust Company branch at San Anselmo. The Postoffice Department is investigating.

TRIUMPH OVER RIFF FORECAST

Correspondent Says Allies to Win Eventually

Continuance of Battle Until Spring Predicted

Hard Winter Declared to be in Store for Krim

BY FLOYD GIBBONS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FEZ (French Morocco) Sept. 22. Fighting in Morocco will continue until spring.

Winter will bring famine and great suffering to the Riff.

A Franco-Spanish victory is eventual if the armies in the field are permitted to operate without political interference.

These are my personal conclusions based on eleven weeks' observation and investigation afield and at sea with the military and naval forces of France and Spain in North Africa.

The conditions of the climate and terrain support my first conclusion. The rainy season, arriving in full force within three weeks, will constitute a most important ally for Abd-El-Krim in his winter campaign. The mobility of his forces, unburdened with heavy transport, will enable him to strike repeatedly at isolated outposts. The French and Spanish operations will be confined to defensive measures in strongly entrenched positions accessible by roads, with offensive action undertaken only by air bombing forces.

FACE HARD WINTER

The Berber tactics of infiltration, by which enemy groups again operate behind the French and Spanish advance lines, will continue to harass and interrupt the rear and communications and add enormously to the difficulties of supply and relief columns struggling forward through the mud to line positions. Neither the Europeans nor the Senegalese will improve in health during the wet, cold snow and rain of the North African nights to which the Berber is acclimated from birth. For these reasons, it is believed that the initiative will pass to Krim whose winter objective will be to capture more guns and munitions from the French and Spanish for use in the spring.

No military decision will be reached by these tactics against which the French forces, now numbering 150,000 men, are taking full precautions. In neither the French nor the Spanish camps are there indications that conclusions by arms will be attempted this year. The absence of roads in the Riff area precludes the possibility beyond the present terminus of the communicating lines.

The French operations in the last ten days all have been confined to limited objectives, and their energy is now directed toward the stabilization of the winter lines with the establishment of mutually supporting advance posts organized on a battalion basis rather than on a squad footing, as was the case when Krim attacked last April.

BUILDING ROADS

The most effective weapon against Krim will be forged within the remaining few weeks of dry weather, when the French and Spanish forces will perfect their continuity east and west, forming junctions which will eliminate the holes and gaps by which the Berber rebels have been able to receive supplies from Algeria.

Before the rains come, Marshal Petain and Primo de Rivera hope to have a complete and unbreakable circle of steel east, south and west of Krim, and be ready at the same time to resist all the attacks which he may hurl against them during the winter months. The work of the battalions and of thousands of natives is now engaged in building roads, by which the advance positions will be supplied during the rainy season.

Simultaneously, the Barbary coast patrol by the French and Spanish fleets will be redoubled, eliminating the possibility of the rebel Sultan receiving supplies by sea. This blockade will call for the presence of 250,000 French and Spanish troops along a front 400 miles long, plus constant watchfulness by the combined fleets.

It is not believed that Krim has been able to amass winter supplies during the summer fighting, and it is known that his best stores of wheat and large expanses of unharvested crops have been destroyed by fire resulting from the continual air bombardment. The effectiveness of the blockade will be measured by the famine and suffering among the Riffs this winter.

PLANES TO BE BUSY

The French and Spanish aviation is one branch which will continue mobile through the winter, and it will carry the war into the enemy's country, forcing the hill men to live a cave existence. Large movements of enemy troops will be possible only at night.

The absence of hospitalization and medical supplies will increase the deaths among the wounded and further depreciate Krim's strength before next spring. Already the moral effect of the advance of the French and Spanish landing at Alhucemas has resulted in numerous defections by the rebel tribes.

Untimely discussion of the allied plans next spring and changes on the political horizon in Paris might upset all predictions, but it is safe to say that France and Spain will be able to suppress Krim and completely occupy his territory if they are left to do it without political interference.

GOV. HUNT HAS NEW AMBITION

Wires Work That Arizona Should Possess Grand Canyon

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Sept. 22.—Gov. G. W. P. Hunt has another "State's rights" idea. It is that the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, the Kaibab Plateau north of the canyon, the deer north of the canyon and the canyon and forested areas now held under the care of the United States Forest Service and the National Park Service, all be turned over to the State of Arizona for possession and administration.

The suggestion has been wired by the Governor to the Secretary of the Interior, with a statement that overlapping authortly has been the cause of friction and dissatisfaction, and expresses the belief that the time has come to turn the whole area over to the State.

STOCKMEN HIT LAND RULINGS

Regulation of Government Domain Draws Fire

Senate Committee Conducts Bay City Hearing

Restrictive Laws Given as Cause of High Costs

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Dissatisfaction with the manner with which public domain is regulated was expressed by western stockmen today at a session of the Senate Public Lands Committee. The live-stock owners are of the opinion that the laws and rules are so restrictive that it causes an unnecessary burden on stockmen, resulting in a high cost of meat, wool and leather to the ultimate consumer. The committee is composed of Senator Oddie of Nevada, Senator Stanfield of Oregon and George K. Bowden of Washington, D. C., general counsel for the government. The trend of the questions asked by the Senators apparently indicated that they were in sympathy with the stockmen. The committee has held hearings in various western cities and came to San Francisco today for a three-day session.

REPEAL ASKED

Repeal of the present homestead grazing law was advocated by William Kent, former Congressman from Marin county and at one time a stockman. Kent, the first witness called at today's hearing, declared that he had quit the raising of live stock because of the way the government handled grazing lands. Kent advised that new laws should be enacted giving small live-stock men opportunities to secure government land in small units on long leases. Only by this method, he declared, could the worn-out ranges "come back."

Harry Petrie of Mill Valley, interested in stock-raising in many Western States, painted a dismal picture of the financial condition of the stock business, owing to the high cost of government grazing lands and the restrictions on them. He declared that the privilege of grazing stock on the public domain was a right and not a privilege, and should be as little hampered by regulation as possible.

STOCKS DECLINE

"Fifteen years ago 60,000,000 sheep were pastured on the public lands; today the number is only 37,000,000, due to the way the government handles the land. The price of meat has gone up in consequene. Tramp sheepmen have been allowed to graze their stock, to the detriment of land-owning stockmen who pay taxes.

"The landowners should be allowed to graze their stock on adjoining government acres, using their own judgment as to how the pastures can best be conserved. There should be a sane and business-like administration by well-paid forest supervisors," Petrie declared.

He asserted that the law permitting the taking up of stock-raising homesteads of 640 acres was worthless as no man could support a family on such a holding. He said that in Colorado there had been a 100 per cent failure in the attempt.

Sherwood Green of Madera county explained to the committee the live-stock situation in the San Joaquin Valley and adjacent national forests.

NATIONAL PARK AREA EXTENSION OPPOSED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—In an effort to forestall any action by Congress to increase the national parks area in California, the California Development Association today sent to Washington a spokesman in the person of Frank Cuttle, a member of the association, who will present to authorities at the national capital views of the opposition as represented by the association and the State Board of Forestry.

Both bodies late yesterday passed resolutions opposing any extension of the national park areas in this State "which would materially interfere with or prevent the use and development of the natural resources of the State."

POWER PLANTS INSPECTED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LUBBOCK (Tex.) Sept. 22.—I. R. Kelso of St. Louis, president of the Texas Utilities Company, has been making an inspection of the several electric light and power plants of the company in the South Plains region of Texas. He said that the expansion program which the company has been following for some time past will be continued.

NUPTIALS AMAZE FRIENDS

Rhode Island's Richest Girl, Who Jilted Italian, Surprises Society by Wedding New Yorker

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Sept. 22.—Miss Nancy Sayles of Pawtucket, who only a few weeks ago suddenly broke her engagement to marry Lieut. Ernesto Ladinelli Becci of Italy, was married at noon today to Lee Garnett Day of New York, to the amazement of friends of both, who had known nothing of this romance.

Miss Sayles is the daughter of the late Frank A. Sayles, an appraisal of whose estate filed yesterday in New York set its total value at $32,923,780. She was known as "Rhode Island's wealthiest girl." Day had a distinguished war record, being attached to Gen. Pershing's staff as a lieutenant-colonel.

TO VISIT EUROPE

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Frederick S. Penfold, rector of St. Stephen's Church of Pawtucket. Only members of the immediate families were present. Mr. and Mrs. Day will sail tomorrow for an extended trip abroad.

Early last month, Lieut. Becci, First Assistant Secretary of the Interior of Italy, arrived in New York for his marriage to Miss Sayles, set for August 12. He discovered in quarantine that Mrs. Sayles had announced that the wedding would be postponed indefinitely.

No reason was given for the postponement. Later it was permitted to become known that Miss Sayles had merely changed her mind. Lieut. Becci brought jewels valued at $37,500, which he intended as a present for his bride.

SAILS FOR ITALY

The Italian stayed here until three days after the wedding was to have taken place. Then somewhat indignantly he sailed for Italy, taking the jewelry with him.

Day is a graduate of Yale. He is a member of the University and Yale clubs of New York and is a patron and corporate member of the Field Museum of Natural History. Before the war he managed and financed the Collins-Day South American exjedition, which acquired specimens of animal and bird life for the American Museum of Natural History.

SOVIET BANS "HOME WORK"

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MOSCOW, Sept. 22.—"No more home work," was the glad tidings the soviet ministry of education published yesterday to console the Russian children at the end of their summer holidays. Henceforth, it was announced, "all home preparation, copying, learning by heart, arithmetical exercises, problems, etc., will be categorically forbidden." It is also intended that the pay of teachers in the public schools throughout the country will be raised to the equivalent of the wages of skilled workmen in the same area.

tence for grand larceny in the Golett stock sales. The only information that he has of the merger and its principals was gleaned from the newspapers, Doheny said.

H. E. Yardley, Sacramento undertaker and former Coroner of Sacramento county, testified that he started an investigation of the syndicate after Franklin P. Davis, one of the defendants, and W. P. Sherman, stock salesman, endeavored to sell him some of the stock on the representation that the merger was "the biggest in the world."

"They asked me if I wanted to become a millionaire," Yardley said. "I said that I did not want to become one as quickly as they suggested. The deal looked crooked to me."

Yardley said that he took a Sacramento banker to the Sentor Hotel in that city to interview Davis and Sherman but did not find them in. Later he continued his investigation in Oakland.

Sherman pleaded guilty before the trial started and was fined $500.

Boys of Colombia who have attended school in this country have introduced baseball in their home country, Barkanquilla having a seven-team amateur league.

Gov. Hunt Balks at Resignation of Homer Wood

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Sept. 22. — Nearly two months ago Homer R. Wood of Prescott, for years one of the closest of Gov. G. W. P. Hunt's political advisers and supporters, forwarded his resignation as a member of the State Fair Commission, for the announced reason that the Governor had honored a request of the Phoenix Ministerial Association and had directed the closing of the fair grounds to Sunday auto racing.

Mr. Wood took the ground that the Constitution of the United States guaranteed the people full religious liberty. The Governor states that he has not accepted the resignation, and that he has no present intention of so doing. He has adopted the same policy with regard to the resignations of the membership of the State Live Stock Sanitary Board, which now has only a secretary and a veterinarian.

BUSINESS NEED ON RIVER SEEN

Attorney Hits Political Handling of Colorado

Los Angeles Development Plan Held Solution

Outside Capital Necessity for Arizona's Growth

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Sept. 22.—Frank H. Hereford, a pioneer Tucson attorney, who has a summer home in Altadena, declares that the time soon will come when business men of California and Arizona will take the Colorado River development problems out of politics and will handle them as the development problems of Los Angeles have been handled. He states his belief that "if Arizona had a State-wide business men's organization, pledged to solve the Colorado River problem, we would find that California would have a similar one ready to meet with us. We would further find that if the State of California undertook to solve the problems they would be solved in record time.

FLOOD ACTION NEEDED

"The southern part of California has loosely joined for flood control, for Boulder Canyon high-line water for domestic purposes and for new agricultural development. Flood control is the only one of these enterprises needing immediate action. The unanimity of sentiment is, I believe, but temporary. I expect the business, as opposed to the political, government of the low part of the State will be forced to take control of the situation. If it does, we may quickly expect results beneficial to California and equally beneficial to Arizona, if our business men will prepare and do their part. I shall welcome the day when the business men of this State and of the State of California sit down to discuss the matter, for I feel something then will be done." He added that appreciation should be given the fact that much added prosperity would be known in both States from the date on which work should be begun on river storage works, prosperity that would continue indefinitely. Consideration also should be given the fact that large revenues from taxes would follow such work by any private corporation.

POINTS OUT CITY GROWTH

Mr. Hereford is of the opinion that "the phenomenal growth of Los Angeles is largely due to the invisible government of business men. I once heard Mose Drachman say that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce was responsible for the growth of that city. There is much truth for the statement, if you use 'Chamber of Commerce' figuratively and as descriptive of organizations of business men striving for the advancement of their city. California's business men have so well learned the art of attracting outside money that it will be long years before it ceases to flow in that State. We in Arizona need settlers, but money that comes into the State to pay wages and purchase materials, and which becomes transformed into taxpaying resources, is what we need most."

"California," he concludes, "has most thoroughly demonstrated what outside money can do in a community such as there has been built up by united business effort."

CARD LOSSES NOT TAX-FREE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Holding that playing bridge for stakes is illegal under the laws of New York, the board of tax appeals today upheld the Commissioner of Internal Revenue in refusing to allow a deduction of losses by M. L. Heide of New York City. Heide had deducted a loss of $2770.60 at auction bridge during the year 1919 as a member of the New York Bridge Whist Club.

L. Shaw and John Marks, who patrolled the route.

AUBURN Proves Startling POWER in Record-Breaking Climb.

AUBURN scores a truly notable victory with its flying trip to Big Bear Lake in High Gear—a feat attempted repeatedly during the last ten years, but never accomplished until the powerful, vibrationless Auburn tackled the job.

And it did it with ease—even when it bucked the "hairpins" on steep grades and the pitches that run as high as 16 per cent. Never once did it falter. At no time did the car get uncomfortably hot, though practically the entire route constitutes a climb from an elevation of 1076 feet to a height of 7200 feet.

We share with owners a pride in the Auburn—the car of ultra-refined appearance — luxurious comfort — velvety-smooth operation — rugged endurance and power beyond compare.

PARTNERS IN POWER
RICHFIELD
THE GASOLINE OF POWER
RICHLUBE

After various tests, Richfield Gasoline and Richlube Motor Oil were selected in this gruelling run for their perfect combination of speed, power and unfailing lubrication.

This choice was more than justified by the wonderful new record—the smooth, even flow of power developed by the new Auburn wherever needed, and the almost negligible consumption of oil.

ONE BANK, ONE MANAGEMENT, ONE POLICY

SECURITY TRUST & SAVINGS BANK has total deposits in Los Angeles greater than the deposits in Los Angeles of any two other banks. It has one management, one policy—the same policy which it has consistently followed during its history of nearly 37 years under practically the same general direction.

This policy of rigid adherence to the law; the following of the highest standards in banking practice; unswerving loyalty to the Los Angeles Metropolitan District in which it does business; the development of "Every Banking Service"; and a sincere desire to further the comfort and prosperity of its patrons—this consistent policy is the "secret" of the bank's tremendous growth.

One bank, not a "group", but with forty-three locations convenient to the principal centers of business in and about Los Angeles, solicits your business on its record.

WOMAN'S STAND PROVES PUZZLE

Indicted Mother Demands Home Comforts

Asks Guarantee of Baby's Welfare

Asserts She Is Too Busy to Be Corrected

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 22.—Uncle Sam is at a loss as to how to proceed in the case of Mrs. Mable Domm, Oregon ranch woman under indictment on a charge of sending a threatening letter through the mail. Mrs. Domm is sitting pretty at her mountain home in the fastnesses of Panther Creek in the Coast Range and daring the Federal officials to "come out and get her."

Mrs. Domm was indicted many months ago. At that time she expected a new baby and the United States Attorney made no effort to press the charges against her. Recently, however, a summons was sent for Mrs. Domm to appear in the Federal Court in Portland, a time limit being set within which she must act.

But Mrs. Domm did not come. Instead she went right on with her housework, only taking time to write a letter to tell the government her conditions. If they wanted her in Portland, she wrote, they would have to come and get her. Moreover she would not budge a step with them unless they sent a closed automobile large enough to carry her and her husband and their two children. It would be necessary also for the government to guarantee to get her back to Panther Creek the same night as her baby was used to sleeping at home on wool and would probably take cold if he slept away from home.

The United States Attorney and the United States Marshal frankly do not know what to do about it. They hesitate to send out a deputy to fetch Mrs. Domm forcibly and they have no appropriation to send a sedan out into the mountains, nor could they guarantee to return her to her home the same day. Furthermore, it is not customary for Federal prisoners to travel in such style.

Mrs. Domm's indictment was based on a letter she is asserted to have written to Nels Peterson of Mist, Or., threatening to "expose" him in connection with some timber deals unless he gave her half of $20,000 he had received for the sale of a timber claim. Peterson did not send the money but gave the letter to the government.

Mrs. Domm had just finished canning some 400 quarts of fruit when a reporter found her at her home. She could not understand why the Federal authorities kept on bothering her.

"I wrote to that United States Attorney several months ago that he wasn't as busy as I was and that if he wanted to talk the matter over with me he could come out some Sunday," she said. "Why, I even offered, if he would let me know ahead of time, to have a fine chicken dinner for him; but he was disagreeable and would not come."

ENGLISH TOLD THEY ARE STANDARDIZED

WRITER SAYS COUNTRYMEN CONFORM TO TYPE AS DO AMERICANS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Americans accustomed to hear constantly from Europeans that America is rapidly becoming so standardized that soon its inhabitants will all think, talk, eat, drink, live and die exactly alike, will welcome the assertion by the well-known English writer, Stacy Aumonief, that the English of today are just as standardized as Americans.

"The Englishman who reads Sinclair Lewis's realistic picture of life in the Middlewestern States of America, where everyone has the sabe kind of house furniture, motor car and mental outlook, pats his chest and thinks 'heavens, what a country!' comfortably oblivious of the fact that the processes of Babbitry are just as active in his own circle as in Main street," declares Aumonier.

The English public school system, he continues, has no use for originality or personal idiosyncrasies.

"The boy at Eton or Harrow is not condemned because he is a stupid little prif, but because he has his trousers either turned up or down, whichever is contrary to a mode," writes Aumonier. "The first law of his training is always to conform to type."

FIREMEN TERM MAN "BUFF TURNED BUG"

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—While alienists at the Psychopathic Hospital have long lists of Latin and Greek words with which to describe William A. Combie, who has been committed to their charge, in firemen's slang he is simply "a buff turned bug."

Combie is charged with setting a series of fires in a local tenement district. He denied all knowledge of the fires, but several witnesses identified him as the man they had seen running from the fire scenes on several occasions.

"A buff" is one who likes to go to fires, who hangs around the engine houses and rarely misses an alarm. When a "buff turns bug" it is simply that he is anxious to see the engines run and the flames shooting up into the sky that he sets the fires himself.

THIEF KEEPS MONEY BUT SENDS BACK BAG

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BROCKTON (Mass.) Sept. 22.—Satisfied with the $18 in bills and change that was in Miss Mildred Pendergast's pocketbook a thief sent the bag back by mail with a Boston and Brockton commutation ticket and several other valuable articles left untouched. The bag was stolen from a dentist's waiting room.

REHEARING ASKED FOR CAR LINES

Phoenix Company Seeks Further Consideration of Transit Service Order

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Sept. 22.—The Phoenix Railway Company of Arizona has asked the State Corporation Commission for a rehearing with regard to a commission order that street car service in this city be continued after October 20, next, on which date the company had proposed to abandon its local lines.

In this connection an interesting feature is that on October 1 the company has been instructed to raise its fares to 10 cents for a single ride, three fares for 25 cents and sixteen for $1, so, it is possible, that the corporation for the last days of its operating existence may be enabled to pay a dividend, something unknown for years past at the 5-cent fare. The commission also has ordered decreased expense by shortening certain routes and by operation of one-man cars.

The city commission is fighting the orders of the State body and is campaigning for acceptance of an ordinance that would turn the transportation service over to a New York company that proposes to ignore the rails now laid and to install a fleet of busses. Explanation of the commission's policies will be made at a mass meeting called by the Mayor for Wednesday night, with expected attendance of one of the prospective recipients of the bus franchise.

Red Ban Held by Coolidge Not to Gag Free Speech

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Exclusion of Shapurji Saklatvala, British Communist, from the United States, does not violate the principle of free speech, according to the view of President Coolidge.

The President, it was stated today at the White House, thinks it is good policy to permit a free discussion of anything relating to American institutions. These institutions, he holds, are sound enough to withstand criticism. By discussion of the subject he thinks public opinion is developed.

VETERAN PROSPECTOR TAKES UP LAST CLAIM

WILLIAM BLEWETT SUCCUMBS IN HOSPITAL; FAMOUS DESERT CHARACTER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TONOPAH (Nev.) Sept. 22.—William Blewett, veteran prospector and government Indian scout, took up his last claim the other day when at the mines hospital here he closed his tired eyes never to open them again. He was laid at rest in a lonesome cemetery, surrounded by sagebrush and sand, near here. He left one sincere mourner in his partner, "Tex" Watson, another desert character.

"Yes," said "Tex," with a mournful shake of his shaggy black locks, "I buried Bill today and I staked and monumented his last claim so it would be 'unjumpable.'"

"Tex" has been front page material for the newspapers on a number of occasions. It was a long time ago that he took a solemn vow to not have his hair cut until the election of a Democratic President. He had a long wait. His black hair hung well down his shoulders when in November, 1912, Woodrow Wilson was elected President. When it was announced that Wilson had won, "Tex" was out in the hills on a prospecting trip. It was his old partner, Bill Blewett, who went out and brought him in. The cutting of his long locks was made a sort of holiday in Tonopah. The barber selected by him to perform the operation brought his chair out into the street in front of the Mizpah. A motion-picture outfit happened to be in town at the time and made a one-reel picture of the event.

DISCHARGED ENGINEER SUES SANTA FE ROAD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Sept. 22.—The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company is defendant in a $25,000 suit brought by Thomas H. Shipp, who asserts he was dismissed without adequate cause from the position of locomotive engineer, in which he had been making $400 a month. The complaint states that on June 5, 1903, Shipp was injured in a powder explosion near Glendale Ariz., and then was promised a permanent position in lieu of damages. Since 1906 he has been an engineer, discharged July 9, last on a charge of intoxication, denied by him. He says that he has not been given proper hearing in the matter.

FARMER'S WIFE, BURNED IN EXPLOSION, DIES

GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.) Sept. 22.—Mrs. Charles Morse, 45 years of age, died a few hours after suffering burns in an explosion at her farm home a few miles from here. Her husband is suffering severe burns about the hands as the result of an unsuccessful rescue attempt. Mrs. Morse was preparing the evening meal and attempted to quicken a fire in the kitchen stove with kerosene. The oil exploded in the stove and her clothing caught fire.

TRIO SOUGHT IN IMPERIAL TRIAL

State Avers Three "Payees" Mythical Persons

Defense for Supervisor Says Men Really Exist

Suspect Accused of Getting More Than $22,000

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, Sept. 22.—If George Main, Charles Roberts and Frank Shubert are in existence, an Imperial county jury would like to hear from them, it developed today in the trial of J. Roy Adams, Supervisor from Imperial, on a charge of forging several warrants on the County Treasury, through which he is asserted to have obtained more than $22,000.

Immediately after a jury was impaneled today, Dist.-Atty. Utley started the introduction of testimony intended to prove that Main, Roberts and Shubert, whose names appeared on the county demands and warrants in evidence, never were employed by the county on road work and, in fact, never existed. Counsel for the accused Supervisor indicated that they will show that the three men do exist and were employed by the county.

Only three warrants were introduced before the jury today. One bore the name of Main and called for $225, one ordered the payment of $212.50 to Roberts, and the Shubert warrant was for $216. The name of Adams appeared on each of these warrants and County Treasurer Adair testified that Adams had indorsed the warrants and obtained the money at her office about December 8, 1924.

The District Attorney asserted that he intended to produce numerous similar warrants that had been presented to the county officials, passed by the Board of Supervisors, of which Adams was a member and cashed for Adams by the treasurer.

Three women are members of the jury that is hearing the evidence and will be called upon to decide the guilt or innocence of the accused official. These are Mrs. Zilda J. North, wife of an El Centro attorney; Mrs. Nita C. Webster, wife of a Brawley farmer, and Mrs. Nina Stafford, wife of an El Centro transfer man.

MOUNT EVANS REGION MAY BE MADE PARK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DENVER, Sept. 22.—A survey of the Mt. Evans region west of the Denver Mountain Parks has been made by members of President Coolidge's advisory council on national parks and forests, with a view to designating it as a national park. The region is already within the boundaries of the Pike National Forest and if it is made a national park it will be the third national playground in Colorado, the others being the Rocky Mountain and the Mesa Verde national parks.

Now they've discovered

Cloudy teeth are not naturally "off color"—simply dulled with a dingy film that hides them and invites decay and gum troubles

Now restore your teeth to dazzling whiteness, your gums to healthy firmness this remarkable new way that dental authorities urge . . . send coupon for 10-day test . . . note the amazing difference in your teeth

BELIEVING your teeth are naturally dull is a great mistake. Science has proved otherwise. Permitting your teeth to be other than clear and beautiful is an injustice to yourself.

Largely on dental advice, millions are now multiplying the beauty of their smiles. New methods of tooth cleaning and gum care have been found.

In a few days you can work wonders with your teeth. Can give them whiteness and clearness that amaze. But not with ordinary brushing. Just send the coupon and a 10-day supply of the correct way will be sent.

It's film that hides pretty teeth and imperils gums

Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles to a germ-laden film that forms on your teeth.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it . . . a slippery, viscous coating.

That film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. And that is why your teeth look "off color" and dingy.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack and your teeth open to decay. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea.

Mere brushing won't do

Ordinary dentifrices and cleaning won't fight film successfully. Feel for it now with your tongue. Note how your present cleaning is failing in its duty.

Now new methods are being used. A dentifrice called Pepsodent—different in formula, action and effect from any other known.

Largely on dental advice the world has turned to this method.

It removes that film, and Firms the Gums

It accomplishes two important things at once: It removes that film, then firms the gums.

A few days' use will prove its power beyond doubt. Send the coupon. Clip it now before you forget.

An extra bathroom is as good as its fixtures

The better the materials you use, the more value and comfort you add to a house

Divide the first cost of a new bathroom by its 25 or 30 years of service and healthful comfort, and the annual expense is small. Fixtures, valves and fittings must be of good quality, of course, or repair and replacement bills will constantly grow larger.

Since it costs as much to install inferior materials as enduring fixtures of correct and convenient design, it will pay you to deal with an established, responsible plumbing contractor in your city. Consult him.

He will help find the space in which your extra bathroom will fit—an idle closet, perhaps, spare room or an empty hall-end.

If he is a Crane contractor, he can show you a wide range of quality fixtures in sizes to fit any taste, space and purse. Come to the Crane Exhibit Rooms with him. Write to Crane Co., Chicago, for booklet "The New Art of Fine Bathrooms."

Se Incendia una Manzana en Tijuana

SAN DIEGO, Septiembre 22.—Esta noche se estaba ya recobrando Tijuana del sexto desastroso incendio que ha sufrido en los últimos seis años. Muchas quejas se oían en la ciudad contra lo inadecuado de los aparatos extintores. Las cantinas que no fueron afectadas por las llamas, que barrieron con una manzana entera del lado occidental de la calle principal, abrieron de nuevo sus puertas, como de costumbre. Dícese que un salto del viento fué lo unico que impidió la completa destrucción de la citada población de recreo.

Descubrióse el fuego poco después de las tres de esta madrugada, en la cocina de la taberna de Vernon, sita en el lado oeste de la avenida A. Activadas las llamas por un viento fresco del mar, se comunicaron rápidamente a todos los demás edificios de la manzana, al grado de que, quince minutos después, había envuelto el incendio quince cantinas, el gran almacén de curiosidades de la California Commercial Company, dos carnicerías, dos abacerías y otros pequeños inmuebles que había en la referida manzana.

Padres Acusados de Brutalidad para con su Hijo

En un escrito que presentó ayer al Tribunal Juvenil el detective Tyron, de la oficina policíaca para la prevención del crimen, se hacen cargos de crueldad para su hijo de nueve años, al señor y la señora James Ripley, habitantes en la calle Cuarenta y Siete Este, 671. Se afirma en la acusación que, las noches en que salían de casa los esposos, encerraban al rapaz en una caseta que está detrás de su casa habitación. Agrega el referido detective que padre y madre son culpables de tratamientos inhumanos para con el chico, y pide se les declare incapacitados para cuidar de él, y se decrete que el muchachito queda bajo la tutela del tribunal.

Ayer tarde a última hora, unos agentes prohibicionistas federales, capitaneados por Ray S. Adams, echaron abajo la puerta de una fábrica de transparentes de ventana, sita en la calle Treinta Oeste, 1429 1-2, y entraron en una destilería de alcohol para friegas, donde ocuparon una alquitara de cien galones, 185 latas de cinco galones de "Rubalcol" y "Lincol", que son alcoholes medicinales, y 40 galones del producto puro, que, según aseguran los agentes, estaba ya listo para ser vendido a los "bootleggers".

No había bicho viviente en el local cuando logró penetrar en él la policía; pero, por un hilo que tienen los investigadores, se cree poder hacer hoy una aprehensión.

American Tells About Discovery of Spanish Mine

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TEPEHUANES (Dorango, Mex.) Sept. 22.—Chris Heaton, an American mining man who has been in Mexico for the last twenty years, avers he has discovered a lost Spanish mine of fabulous richness. He brought samples of ore taken from the lower workings of the property to Tepehaunes and assays are reported to bear out his assertion as to the richness of the mine.

Heaton said that he began hunting for this mine more than fifteen years ago. He found a record of it in the ancient archives in the National Library in Mexico City. It was known as the Lluvia de Oro, and, strange to say, it is within about seventy-five miles of the more modern gold mine of that name which within the last two decades produced an enormous fortune of gold ore. Heaton has filed upon the property.

Frocks Smart in Color, Fabric and Line, $75

LEADING designers have sent to Robinsons' a wonderful collection of fall frocks. Here are interpretations of the newer style phases for street and afternoon wear.

Smart tailored frocks in the soft twilled woolens, Mirroleen and Charmeen, suggest themselves for street or for sports wear. (Long sleeved, always.) One youthful frock of navy blue is unusual with a balbriggan vestee with high turtle neck and cuffs to match.

For Afternoon one selects satin, roma crepe, crepe faille, frost crepe or crepe de chine. Frequently in black, also in green, purple, brown, or rust.

A large number of the frocks display trimming down the back terminating in back fullness; others flared to the side are bordered often in fur or bright metallic trimming.

An imposing group, an interesting group, in sizes 16 to 44. Priced to attract attention at $75.

THIRD FLOOR

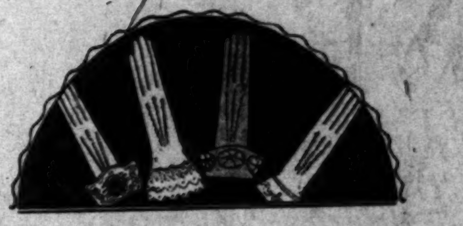
Permanent Waving $15

THE satisfaction derived from a Permanent Wave at Robinsons' far outweighs its cost, especially when it may be obtained at so very low a price.

The waving is skillfully done by experienced operators in sunny, cheerful rooms. At the very low price of $15.

Phone BRoadway 4701 for appointment.

SECOND FLOOR



Trefousse Gloves From France

SMART to her very finger tips is the woman who thoughtfully selects Trefousse Gloves to accompany her fall costume. A different type of glove is chosen for each ensemble. Sports gloves for sportswear, novelty cuff styles for street and longer gloves for evening wear.

At Robinsons' exclusively may these French Gloves of such excellent quality be found. The soft fine skins give to Trefousse gloves their comfort and well fitting lines.

Trefousse Gloves in these Fall colors:

Bois de rose, sable, tans, browns, grays, black with combinations of white, rouge, pencil blue and citron. White with bright color combinations.

Suede Gloves in the 2 Pearl-clasp style are moderately priced at $3.75.

Biarritz (slip on) Gloves at $5.

Many delightful Point Beauvais embroidered cuff effects are shown priced as high as $9.

FIRST FLOOR

Robinsons' Present Velours in Various New Modes $12.50

THE college girl as well as the more mature woman will be highly pleased with both the style and price of these smart hats.

Velours and felts—two types of hats which are extremely prominent in millinery modes for fall. Simply but cleverly styled with bits of trimming. Metallic ribbon, ostrich quills, metallic thread or grosgrain ribbon pleatings.

In just the colors that one wishes for street or sports wear:

Orange, brown, sand, wood, blue, black, green or rosewood. Exceptional in price as in quality, just $12.50.

LOCAL LAUGHS

Each week The Times produces a film entitled "Local Laughs," consisting of the fifteen best jokes submitted by local people. Weekly prizes are paid of $5, $3, $2, and twelve of $1 each. A list of threaters showing the film, together with rules for submitting jokes, are given daily in a coupon in The Times. Prize-winning jokes, and names and addresses of winners, appear only on the screen. Jokes receiving honorable mention will be given a place of honor on The Times comic page each week-day, and each of these contributors will receive a souvenir of acknowledgment.

"Do you know any good college jokes?"

"Yes, my two nephews."

GOOD BUSINESS IN HARDWARE

Wholesale Executive Believes Fall Outlook Better

Conditions Today Improved Over Year Ago

Hawaiian Islands Trade is 12 Per Cent Up from 1924

With conditions in the Pacific-Southwest improved, the outlook for the wholesale and retail hardware business during the fall and winter months is the best since the fall of 1923, according to a statement made yesterday by L. C. Scheller, vice-president and general manager of the Union Hardware and Metal Company.

The wholesale hardware business during the past few months has shown a steady improvement, and Mr. Scheller stated that business in this territory at the present time is approximately 10 per cent better than last year. While the retail hardware business during the summer months was about on a level with last year, indications are that fall and winter should bring an increase over a year ago.

"During the boom period of 1923 eastern jobbers were attracted by the white spot on the map of this section and proceeded to send high-powered salesmen to this territory," said Mr. Scheller, "and as a result the retailers became overstocked with merchandise, some of which they were unable to sell.

BUY LOCALLY

"Retailers during the past year and a half have been absorbing the merchandise sold them by eastern jobbers and as these jobbers have withdrawn from this field, local wholesalers are now beginning to experience better business. Retailers are now buying from local jobbers in smaller quantities and more often are in a position to make larger turnovers of their stocks.

"The retailers of Southern California are more particular in the selection of goods and consequently are buying from houses with which they are familiar. The dealers who continued to buy from local jobbers during the boom period, fared the best, made the most money, and their businesses are in the soundest position today.

"Money seems to be more plentiful than a year ago and the credit situation appears better. Collections are made more easily than last year.

ARIZONA TRADE UP

Conditions in Arizona have improved, in Nevada they are about normal, and on the West Coast of Mexico conditions are somewhat spotty, stated Mr. Scheller. Great hopes are held out, however, for the West Coast of Mexico and as this section develops, it should contribute a large market for Los Angeles.

The hardware business in the Hawaiian Islands is reported to be about 12 per cent better than a year ago and the outlook is very favorable. The Hawaiian Islands buy from here mostly household goods, cutlery, sporting goods, and farming implements, although the consumption of the latter is surprisingly small, as there are comparatively few farms in the islands.

BY WIRELESS—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Financial markets were irregular today, cheap money again being a dominating factor.

Talk of another cut in the discount rate of the Bank of England was revised by the extraordinary ease of money rates, but the question of whether this action would be taken depends, seemingly, on the course of sterling which ruled weak at $4.84 1-2.

Oils were in better demand under the leadership of Royal Dutch. French rates were a trifle easier. For the first time this year, the monthly returns of French foreign trade show an adverse balance of 39,000,000 francs. It is reported that the commonwealth of Australia is arranging to float another loan in London, but it is uncertain whether or not American bankers will participate this time.

BRANCH TOPIC MAY ARISE

Possible Request for Approval of McFadden Bill at Bank Meeting May Start Fireworks

BY EARLE E. CROWE

No matter how hard the steering committee may work, conventions of business men will find the opportunity to discuss whatever controversial questions are in the air. In the instance of the coming meeting of the American Bankers' Association at Atlanti City, there is no place on the program for the subject of branch banking, yet it is the sole topic of conversation among bankers, and undoubtedly will come before the convention in some form.

Last year the American Bankers' Association unanimously went on record in favor of the McFadden bill, which was designed to restrict branch-banking committees. Opponents of branch banking, in presenting their case before the Congressional committees, stressed the unanimous indorsement of the association, but the bill failed to pass the Senate after succeeding in the House.

READY TO FIGHT

While some of the Los Angeles branch bankers included in the delegation that left yesterday for Atlantic City are, at least unofficially, somewhat inclined to discount the effect on Congress of the association's indorsement, they are expected to have something to say if the subject is brought up for discussion. At least, they hope to prevent a unanimous indorsement of the McFadden bill.

Possibly the subject will come to the floor through the medium of the legislative committee. It was this committee that last year presented the resolution for the approval of the McFadden bill, and undoubtedly will ask similar action this year. Whether such a resolution will embrace the House bill, sponsored by Congressman McFadden or the Senate bill, is not known, but it is certain that the California branch bankers will oppose any attempts to delimit their activities.

In the matter of branch banking, the factions in California now at odds over the method by which State-wide expansion shall be conducted in this State, present a united front when it comes to consideration of the McFadden proposals. They stand squarely opposed to the provision in the bill which would amend the Federal Reserve Act to prohibit the establishment by State banks of branches outside the city in which the head office is located. This, the California bankers contend, is in violation of Section 9 of the Federal Reserve Act, which guaranteed to State banks all their statutory and charter rights not in conflict with he Federal Reserve Act.

Opposition is also voiced by the California State bankers against the Hull amendment, incorporated in the last McFadden bill, which would provide that in any State, which hereafter enacts a law legalizing branch banking, national banks shall not have authority to establish branches unless especially granted by Congress. It would also deny membership in the Federal Reserve system to State banks establishing branches under State laws enacted after the passage of the bill.

UNIT BANKERS ACTIVE

Whether or not the question of indorsement of a branch-banking bill is brought before the convention of the bankers' association, the independent bankers who are opposed to branch banking in any form, will air their views at a meeting called for the day prior to the opening of the convention. The California League of Independent Bankers appears to represent the motivating force behind this gathering, for Charles H. Segerstrom, president of the league, is chairman of the committee issuing the call for the meeting.

In 1922, the independent bankers succeeded in passing a resolution at the New York convention of the American Bankers' Association, disapproving branch banking, and it is possible that a similar attempt will be made this year at Atlantic City.

No intimation has been given that the State banks will attempt to introduce a resolution opposing the receipt of savings deposits by national banks, although it is expected that this question may arise in some form in the Congressional hearings on the McFadden bill. When the Comptroller of Currency was in Los Angeles recently, the savings question received considerable attention from the State and national bankers, and neither side seemed disposed to retire from its position.

Between the attempts to win approval of delimitation of branch-banking activities and those to eliminate this form of business entirely, the possibilites are that the Atlante City meeting will be productive of some interesting sessions.

Issue of Tooth Paste Stock is Offered Today

Through a syndicate headed by Hemphill, Noyes & Co., and Lage & Co., of New York, and Bond, Goodwin & Tucker, Inc., on the Pacific Coast, a new issue of 101,250 shares of Class A participating stock of the Forhan Company, one of the largest tooth-paste manufacturing concerns in the world, will be offered today. On a basis of a 40 per cent quarterly dividend rate which the company announced its intention of immediately inaugurating, the stock, priced at $17.75 a share, will yield more than 9 per cent.

The company has no funded debt, and there is no preferred stock ahead of the class "A" participating shares. The capitalization consists of 150,000 authorized shares of the Class A stock and 150,000 shares of common stock of no par value authorized and outstanding. A dividend rate of 25 cents a share quarterly is to be established on the common shares, according to the announced intention of the company.

Earnings for the first eight months of 1925, were at the annual rate of over $4 per share on the Class A stock. For the years 1922, 1923, 1924 and the eight months of 1925, earnings averaged $463,943.55 annually, or at the rate of $3.09 per share.

Through stock ownership the company controls Forhan's, Ltd. of Canada, which, in turn, controls all the rights for Canada and Great Britain. The rights for the rest of the world are controlled by the company itself. Application will be made to list the stock on the New York Stock Exchange.

Numerous Bond Issues Will be Marketed Soon

Six large municipal and improvement bond issues, aggregating more than $12,000,000, will be sold in Central and Southern California, during the next four weeks, according to a report of coming sales announced yesterday by Dean Witter & Co. The sales reported are as follows:

On the 22nd inst., $42,000 San Jacinto municipal improvement 6 per cent bonds; 30th inst., $950,000 reclamation district No. 1660, Sutter county, 6 per cent bonds; October 2, $7,133,000 Sacramento-San Joaquin drainage district 5½ per cent bonds; October 5, $225,000 Coast road improvement district, San Luis Obispo county, 5½ per cent bonds; October 3, $1,863,000 Palo Verde irrigation district 6 per cent bonds; October 15, $2,000,000 California Veterans' Welfare 4½ per cent bonds.

The following municipal bonds have been voted upon favorably, but no sale date announced: $39,000,000 East Bay public utility district; $300,000 Huntington Beach High School, Los Angeles county, 5 per cent bonds; $992,000 Mullholland High Way, Los Angeles county; $350,000 Newport Beach municipal improvement, Los Angeles county; $478,000 San Diego County Hospital; $325,000 Santa Monica sewer, Los Angeles county; $22,500 San Jose municipal improvement; $96,000 Sausalito school district, Marin county; $165,000 Ventura water and sewer; $95,000 Whitley Heights district; $52,000 Cloverdale highway and water works.

BANKERS ON JOURNEY TO CONVENTION

Effort Will be Made to Bring 1926 Meeting Here Despite Opposition

There is evidence that the same group of propagandists who have been exceptionally active the last two years in keeping people from coming to California are now doing all in their power to dissuade the American Bankers' Association from selecting Los Angeles as the meeting place for the 1926 national convention of that body, yesterday, declared William R. Morehouse, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, and chairman of the Los Angeles delegation to this year's convention opening next Monday at Atlantic City. The local delegation left yesterday on the California Limited for the East.

All of the Los Angeles bankers are determined to win the convention, despite the efforts of the professional anti-California workers. "These propagandists," said Mr. Morehouse, just prior to the delegation's departure, "know that the most sought-after convention in the United States, perhaps, is that of the American Bankers' Association, because of the opportunity of advertising one's community before the leading financiers of the country. Once a banker has seen with his own eyes the true situation in California he is not going to take anti-California talk very seriously. His judgment of California conditions goes far in his own community, as well."

Mr. Morehouse stated that assurances of support from enough bankers in all parts of the United States had come to offset the efforts of the propagandist workin against Los Angeles. The further fact that the Los Angeles Hotel Men's Association has voluntarily and officially assured the officers of the Bankers' Association that there will be no increase in hotel rates, has added strength to our position, said Morehouse.

All the Pacific Coast cities are reported in agreement to back the Los Angeles delegation's efforts to land the next convention. Seattle, Portland, Spokane, Salt Lake, San Francisco, Oakland and San Diego bankers have all agreed to organize individual entertainment committees to receive bankers who may stop off in their cities, either going to or coming from Los Angeles. Instead of leaving the visitors to the mercies of sightseeing busses and spielers, they have assured the Los Angeles delegation that it may promise the convention that in every western city the same attention will be shown eastern bankers as though the convention were being held in that city. Added to this is the assurance of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce that that large organization will put all of its facilities of entertainment at the disposal of the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association.

Those making up the local group which left for Atlantic City included: J. B. Chaffey, Jr., vice-president; Leo S. Chandler and Gordon C. Smith, comptroller, California Bank; A. W. Anderson, vice-president, First National Bank; W. D. Longyear, Ralph B. Hardacre, William R. Morehouse, Herbert H. Smock, James B. Gist, vice-presidents, Security Trust and Savings Banks; Charles F. Stern, president; Motley H. Flint, executive vice-president, and W. R. Hervey, vice-president, Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank; John Burbaw, vice-presidents, Citizens' National Bank; Orra E. Monnette, president, Bank of America; R. H. Fulton, auditor, Merchants' National Bank; W. H. Hart, assistant vice-president, Hellman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank; A. H. Lewis, assistant cashier, Union Bank and Trust Company; E. W. Wilson, president, Pacific National Bank of San Francisco, and F. H. Colburn, secretary, California Bankers' Association.

Intervention of Labor Day Cuts Freight Loading

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Revenue freight loadings for the week ended the 12th inst., the American Railways Association announced tonight, totaled 975,434 cars, a decrease of 127,512 under the week previous, due to the Labor Day observance.

Coal loadings were placed at 157,357 cars, a decrease of 20,861 under the week before and 16,270 under the same week last year. Miscellaneous freight totaled 376,151, a decrease of 48,909; merchandise and less than carload lots, 238,035, a decrease of 30,957; grain and grain products, 44,690, a loss of 11,041, and livestock 28,687, a decrease of 3525 cars.

RUBBER MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The rubber market was quiet today, and with manufacturing interest lacking, prices dropped slightly. Ribbed smoked sheets continued firmly held at 95c a pound, but other leading grades were 1@2c lower. While holders of the commodity will retain a considerable portion of their confidence in spot prices, future positions show signs of weakening, with few bids. London was unchanged at 42½d.

Railroad Earnings Statements For August to be Published Within Next Fortnight Are Likely to Please Investors in ur Carrier Stocks.

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—About this time every month the Kansas City Southern Railway publishes its earnings statement for the month before and investors begin to watch for similar statements from other Class I railroads.

This carrier gave out its statement yesterday. While the improvement in earnings that it reported for August was not startling, an upward trend clearly is indicated.

Investors in railroad stocks await the forthcoming earnings statements with more than ordinary interest, since the chances are good that some new records may be entered for the August period.

SHOULD SWELL REVENUE

Certainly investors that follow the freight loadings from week to week have been led to expect good things from the August statements, since loadings in every week of that month exceeded the 1,000,000-car mark. Loadings for the last week not only broke the record for that time of year, but set a new high in history for all seasons.

Several things contributed to the large late summer loadings of freight this year. Drought in certain sections of the country matured the crops earlier than usual. Almost everywhere the carriers have been benefited by the acceleration in business activities, moderate in some places and lively in others. Doubtless the strike of bituminous miners will reduce the volume of coal available for transportation by our carriers during September, but the probability that work would soon cease fattened the loads for August.

These at least are straws in the wind that make us suppose the revenues of the carriers now about to be reported will be good. Nobody has reason to fear, furthermore, that such a gain in business will leave the railroads crippled, as the heavy autumn traffic appears. On the 1st inst., the country had no fewer than 162,000 cars and 5900 locomotives idle and ready for service at a moment's notice. Extraordinary demands have been made upon the roads this year, but equipment was never in better condition than it is now.

BILLION NET IN 1925

Net operating income for the first seven months of this year totaled $537,165,541. Except possibly 1916 no year in history has given the roads so much as this in net during the first seven months. Assuming, as we may, that the last five months of the normal year contribute 49.6 per cent of the year's net operating income a basis is found for a 1925 estimate.

Ordinarily the roads get about as much in net earnings from the last five as in the first seven months. If the rule holds good this year, certainly the railroads have a chance to reach the $1,000,000,000 for the first time since the Transportation Act was passed.

Perhaps the railroads this year will top the record even of 1916. Whether 1925 is to become the best year in the history of the railroads from the standpoint of aggregate net operating income, depends upon the answer to two questions. Will the present rate of improvement in business be sustained? Will the coal strike reduce seriously the autumn traffic?

It is pleasing to see a number of the roads busily engaged in efforts to offset possible losses in coal traffic by active campaigns for merchandise hauls. Troubles may lie just around the corner, but not in a long while has so much been promised to railroad investors as now seems to be promised.

BAD CHECKS

The following bulletin on bad-check writing was issued yesterday by the forgery detail of the Los Angeles Police Department, detective bureau:

A young woman known as Helen Benson has been issuing a number of worthless checks recently, in most cases drawn on the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, 670 West Jefferson street.

Following is a description of Helen Benson: American, about 23 years of age, weight about 120 pounds, rather short, light complexion, brown hair, wears a dark suit and is a slow talker.

LOCAL LAUGHS

Each week The Times produces a film entitled "Local Laughs," consisting of the fifteen best jokes submitted by local people. Weekly prizes are paid of $5, $3, $2, and twelve of $1 each. A list of threaters showing the film, together with rules for submitting jokes, are given daily in a coupon in The Times. Prize-winning jokes, and names and addresses of winners, appear only on the screen. Jokes receiving honorable mention will be given a place of honor on The Times comic page each week-day, and each of these contributors will receive a souvenir of acknowledgment.

Wholesale Executive Believes Fall Outlook Better

Hawaiian Islands Trade is 12 Per Cent Up from 1924

With conditions in the Pacific-Southwest improved, the outlook for the wholesale and retail hardware business during the fall and winter months is the best since the fall of 1923, according to a statement made yesterday by L. C. Scheller, vice-president and general manager of the Union Hardware and Metal Company.

The wholesale hardware business during the past few months has shown a steady improvement, and Mr. Scheller stated that business in this territory at the present time is approximately 10 per cent better than last year. While the retail hardware business during the summer months was about on a level with last year, indications are that fall and winter should bring an increase over a year ago.

"During the boom period of 1923 eastern jobbers were attracted by the white spot on the map of this section and proceeded to send high-powered salesmen to this territory," said Mr. Scheller, "and as a result the retailers became overstocked with merchandise, some of which they were unable to sell.

BUY LOCALLY

"Retailers during the past year and a half have been absorbing the merchandise sold them by eastern jobbers and as these jobbers have withdrawn from this field, local wholesalers are now beginning to experience better business. Retailers are now buying from local jobbers in smaller quantities and more often are in a position to make larger turnovers of their stocks.

"The retailers of Southern California are more particular in the selection of goods and consequently are buying from houses with which they are familiar. The dealers who continued to buy from local jobbers during the boom period, fared the best, made the most money, and their businesses are in the soundest position today.

"Money seems to be more plentiful than a year ago and the credit situation appears better. Collections are made more easily than last year.

ARIZONA TRADE UP

Conditions in Arizona have improved, in Nevada they are about normal, and on the West Coast of Mexico conditions are somewhat spotty, stated Mr. Scheller, Great hopes are held out, however, for the West Coast of Mexico and as this section develops, it should contribute a large market for Los Angeles.

The hardware business in the Hawaiian Islands is reported to be about 12 per cent better than a year ago and the outlook is very favorable. The Hawaiian Islands buy from here mostly household goods, cutlery, sporting goods, and farming implements, although the consumption of the latter is surprisingly small, as there are comparatively few farms in the islands.

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY

BY WIRELESS—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Financial markets were irregular today, cheap money again being a dominating factor.

Talk of another cut in the discount rate of the Bank of England was revised by the extraordinary ease of money rates, but the question of whether this action would be taken depends, seemingly, on the course of sterling which ruled weak at $4.84 1-2.

Oils were in better demand under the leadership of Royal Dutch. French rates were a trifle easier. For the first time this year, the monthly returns of French foreign trade show an adverse balance of 39,000,000 francs. It is reported that the commonwealth of Australia is arranging to float another loan in London, but it is uncertain whether or not American bankers will participate this time.

BRANCH TOPIC MAY ARISE

BY EARLE E. CROWE

No matter how hard the steering committee may work, conventions of business men will find the opportunity to discuss whatever controversial questions are in the air. In the instance of the coming meeting of the American Bankers' Association at Atlanti City, there is no place on the program for the subject of branch banking, yet it is the sole topic of conversation among bankers, and undoubtedly will come before the convention in some form. form.

Last year the American Bankers' Association unanimously went on record in favor of the McFadden bill, which was designed to restrict branch-banking committees. Opponents of branch banking, in presenting their case before the Congressional committees, stressed the unanimous indorsement of the association, but the bill failed to pass the Senate after succeeding in the House.

READY TO FIGHT

While some of the Los Angeles branch bankers included in the delegation that left yesterday for Atlantic City are, at least unofficially, somewhat inclined to discount the effect on Congress of the association's indorsement, they are expected to have something to say if the subject is brought up for discussion. At least, they hope to prevent a unanimous indorsement of the McFadden bill.

Possibly the subject will come to the floor through the medium of the legislative committee. It was this committee that last year presented the resolution for the approval of the McFadden bill, and undoubtedly will ask similar action this year. Whether such a resolution will embrace the House bill, sponsored by Congressman McFadden or the Senate bill, is not known, but it is certain that the California branch bankers will oppose any attempts to delimit their activities.

In the matter of branch banking, the factions in California now at odds over the method by which State-wide expansion shall be conducted in this State, present a united front when it comes to consideration of the McFadden proposals. They stand squarely opposed to the provision in the bill which would amend the Federal Reserve Act to prohibit the establishment by State banks of branches outside the city in which the head office is located. This, the California bankers contend, is in violation of Section 9 of the Federal Reserve Act, which guaranteed to State banks all their statutory and charter rights not in conflict with he Federal Reserve Act.

Opposition is also voiced by the California State bankers against the Hull amendment, incorporated in the last McFadden bill, which would provide that in any State, which hereafter enacts a law legalizing branch banking, national banks shall not have authority to establish branches unless especially granted by Congress. It would also deny membership in the Federal Reserve system to State banks establishing branches under State laws enacted after the passage of the bill.

UNIT BANKERS ACTIVE

Whether or not the question of indorsement of a branch-banking bill is brought before the convention of the bankers' association, the independent bankers who are opposed to branch banking in any form, will air their views at a meeting called for the day prior to the opening of the convention. The California League of Independent Bankers appears to represent the motivating force behind this gathering, for Charles H. Segerstrom, president of the league, is chairman of the committee issuing the call for the meeting.

In 1922, the independent bankers succeeded in passing a resolution at the New York convention of the American Bankers' Association, disapproving branch banking, and it is possible that a similar attempt will be made this year at Atlantic City.

No intimation has been given that the State banks will attempt to introduce a resolution opposing the receipt of savings deposits by national banks, although it is expected that this question may arise in some form in the Congressional hearings on the McFadden bill. When the Comptroller of Currency was in Los Angeles recently, the savings question received considerable attention from the State and national bankers, and neither side seemed disposed to retire from its position.

Between the attempts to win approval of delimitation of branch-banking activities and those to eliminate this form of business entirely, the possibilites are that the Atlante City meeting will be productive of some interesting sessions.

Issue of Tooth Paste Stock is Offered Today

Through a syndicate headed by Hemphill, Noyes & Co., and Lage & Co., of New York, and Bond, Goodwin & Tucker, Inc., on the Pacific Coast, a new issue of 101,250 shares of Class A participating stock of the Forhan Company, one of the largest tooth-paste manufacturing concerns in the world, will be offered today. On a basis of a 40 per cent quarterly dividend rate which the company announced its intention of immediately inaugurating, the stock, priced at $17.75 a share, will yield more than 9 per cent.

The company has no funded debt, and there is no preferred stock ahead of the class "A" participating shares. The capitalization consists of 150,000 authorized shares of the Class A stock and 150,000 shares of common stock of no par value authorized and outstanding. A dividend rate of 25 cents a share quarterly is to be established on the common shares, according to the announced intention of the company.

Earnings for the first eight months of 1925, were at the annual rate of over $4 per share on the Class A stock. For the years 1922, 1923, 1924 and the eight months of 1925, earnings averaged $463,943.55 annually, or at the rate of $3.09 per share.

Through stock ownership the company controls Forhan's, Ltd. of Canada, which, in turn, controls all the rights for Canada and Great Britain. The rights for the rest of the world are controlled by the company itself. Application will be made to list the stock on the New York Stock Exchange.

Numerous Bond Issues Will be Marketed Soon

Six large municipal and improvement bond issues, aggregating more than $12,000,000, will be sold in Central and Southern California, during the next four weeks, according to a report of coming sales announced yesterday by Dean Witter & Co. The sales reported are as follows:

On the 22nd inst., $42,000 San Jacinto municipal improvement 6 per cent bonds; 30th inst., $950,000 reclamation district No. 1660, Sutter county, 6 per cent bonds; October 2, $7,133,000 Sacramento-San Joaquin drainage district 5½ per cent bonds; October 5, $225,000 Coast road improvement district, San Luis Obispo county, 5½ per cent bonds; October 3, $1,863,000 Palo Verde irrigation district 6 per cent bonds; October 15, $2,000,000 California Veterans' Welfare 4½ per cent bonds.

The following municipal bonds have been voted upon favorably, but no sale date announced: $39,000,000 East Bay public utility district; $300,000 Huntington Beach High School, Los Angeles county, 5 per cent bonds; $992,000 Mulholland and High Way, Los Angeles county; $350,000 Newport Beach municipal improvement, Los Angeles county; $478,000 San Diego County Hospital; $325,000 Santa Monica sewer, Los Angeles county; $22,500 San Jose municipal improvement; $95,000 Sausalito school district, Marin county; $165,000 Ventura water and sewer; $95,000 Whitley Heights district; $52,000 Cloverdale highway and water works.

BANKERS ON JOURNEY TO CONVENTION

There is evidence that the same group of propagandists who have been exceptionally active the last two years in keeping people from coming to California are now doing all in their power to dissuade the American Bankers' Association from selecting Los Angeles as the meeting place for the 1926 national convention of that body, yesterday, declared William R. Morehouse, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, and chairman of the Los Angeles delegation to this year's convention opening next Monday at Atlantic City. The local delegation left yesterday on the California Limited for the East.

All of the Los Angeles bankers are determined to win the convention, despite the efforts of the professional anti-California workers. "These propagandists," said Mr. Morehouse, just prior to the delegation's departure, "know that the most sought-after convention in the United States, perhaps, is that of the American Bankers' Association, because of the opportunity of advertising one's community before the leading financiers of the country. Once a banker has seen with his own eyes the true situation in California he is not going to take anti-California talk very seriously. His judgment of California conditions goes far in his own community, as well."

Mr. Morehouse stated that assurances of support from enough bankers in all parts of the United States had come to offset the efforts of the propagandist workin against Los Angeles. The further fact that the Los Angeles Hotel Men's Association has voluntarily and officially assured the officers of the Bankers' Association that there will be no increase in hotel rates, has added strength to our position, said Morehouse.

All the Pacific Coast cities are reported in agreement to back the Los Angeles delegation's efforts to land the next convention. Seattle, Portland, Spokane, Salt Lake, San Francisco, Oakland and San Diego bankers have all agreed to organize individual entertainment committees to receive bankers who may stop off in their cities, either going to or coming from Los Angeles. Instead of leaving the visitors to the mercies of sightseeing busses and spielers, they have assured the Los Angeles delegation that it may promise the convention that in every western city the same attention will be shown eastern bankers as though the convention were being held in that city. Added to this is the assurance of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce that that large organization will put all of its facilities of entertainment at the disposal of the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association.

Those making up the local group which left for Atlantic City included: J. B. Chaffey, Jr., vice-president; Leo S. Chandler and Gordon C. Smith, comptroller, California Bank; A. W. Anderson, vice-president, First National Bank; W. D. Longyear, Ralph B. Hardacre, William R. Morehouse, Herbert H. Smock, James B. Gist, vice-presidents, Security Trust and Savings Banks; Charles F. Stern, president; Motley H. Flint, executive vice-president, and W. R. Hervey, vice-president, Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank; John Burbaw, vice-presidents, Citizens' National Bank; Orra E. Monnette, president, Bank of America; R. H. Fulton, auditor, Merchants' National Bank; W. H. Hart, assistant vice-president, Hellman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank; A. H. Lewis, assistant cashier, Union Bank and Trust Company; E. W. Wilson, president, Pacific National Bank of San Francisco, and F. H. Coluburn, secretary, California Bankers' Association.

Intervention of Labor Day Cuts Freight Loading

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Revenue freight loadings for the week ended the 12th inst., the American Railways Association announced tonight, totaled 975,434 cars, a decrease of 127,512 under the week previous, due to the Labor Day observance.

Coal loadings were placed at 157,357 cars, a decrease of 20,861 under the week before and 16,270 under the same week last year. Miscellaneous freight totaled 376,151, a decrease of 48,909; merchandise and less than carload lots, 238,035, a decrease of 30,957; grain and grain products, 44,690, a loss of 11,041, and livestock 28,687, a decrease of 3525 cars.

RUBBER MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The rubber market was quiet today, and with manufacturing interest lacking, prices dropped slightly. Ribbed smoked sheets continued firmly held at 95c a pound, but other leading grades were 1@2c lower. While holders of the commodity will retain a considerable portion of their confidence in spot prices, future positions show signs of weakening, with few bids. London was unchanged at 42½d.

Railroad Earnings Statements For August to be Published Within Next Fortnight Are Likely to Please Investors in ur Carrier Stocks.

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—About this time every month the Kansas City Southern Railway publishes its earnings statement for the month before and investors begin to watch for similar statements from other Class I railroads.

This carrier gave out its statement yesterday. While the improvement in earnings that it reported for August was not startling, an upward trend clearly is indicated.

Investors in railroad stocks await the forthcoming earnings statements with more than ordinary interest, since the chances are good that some new records may be entered for the August period.

SHOULD SWELL REVENUE

Certainly investors that follow the freight loadings from week to week have been led to expect good things from the August statements, since loadings in every week of that month exceeded the 1,000,000-car mark. Loadings for the last week not only broke the record for that time of year, but set a new high in history for all seasons.

Several things contributed to the large late summer loadings of freight this year. Drought in certain sections of the country matured the crops earlier than usual. Almost everywhere the carriers have been benefited by the acceleration in business activities, moderate in some places and lively in others. Doubtless the strike of bituminous miners will reduce the volume of coal available for transportation by our carriers during September, but the probability that work would soon cease fattened the loads for August.

These at least are straws in the wind that make us suppose the revenues of the carriers now about to be reported will be good. Nobody has reason to fear, furthermore, that such a gain in business will leave the railroads crippled, as the heavy autumn traffic appears. On the 1st inst., the country had no fewer than 162,000 cars and 5900 locomotives idle and ready for service at a moment's notice. Extraordinary demands have been made upon the roads this year, but equipment was never in better condition than it is now.

BILLION NET IN 1925

Net operating income for the first seven months of this year totaled $537,165,541. Except possibly 1916 no year in history has given the roads so much as this in net during the first seven months. Assuming, as we may, that the last five months of the normal year contribute 49.6 per cent of the year's net operating income a basis is found for a 1925 estimate.

Ordinarily the roads get about as much in net earnings from the last five as in the first seven months. If the rule holds good this year, certainly the railroads have a chance to reach the $1,000,000,000 for the first time since the Transportation Act was passed.

Perhaps the railroads this year will top the record even of 1916. Whether 1925 is to become the best year in the history of the railroads from the standpoint of aggregate net operating income, depends upon the answer to two questions. Will the present rate of improvement in business be sustained? Will the coal strike reduce seriously the autumn traffic?

It is pleasing to see a number of the roads busily engaged in efforts to offset possible losses in coal traffic by active campaigns for merchandise hauls. Troubles may lie just around the corner, but not in a long while has so much been promised to railroad investors as now seems to be promised.

The following bulletin on bad-check writing was issued yesterday by the forgery detail of the Los Angeles Police Department, detective bureau:

Total Bonds, this issue $51,682.80

These bonds are issued for the improvement of Washington Boulevard, Culver City, California, the principal street of that city and one of the main thoroughfares from Los Angeles to the Beach District. The 1915 Act, under which these bonds are issued, provides that the assessments levied to pay the cost of improvements are collected as a part of the city taxes, on the same tax bill as other city and county taxes.

The legality of this issue has been approved by William M. Brown, attorney at law.

BOND QUOTATIONS

New Issues Attract

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—New financing in large volume proved a disturbing counter-attraction to bond trading today, causing a diversion of buying orders to new issues and obscuring the rather narrow price movements of listed obligations. The recent stiffening of money rates, although giving signs of relaxation today, acted as a retarding influence.

Strong investment demand for new offerings was attested today by the ready sale of several large issues, the most important of which were the $29,700,000 Argentine government loan, $17,500,000 for Marshall Field & Co., and $10,000,000 for the State of Bremen, Germany.

Profit-taking made its appearance in nearly all divisions of the bond list. Recessions of 1 to 2 points were general throughout the rail group, embracing Florida, Western and Northern 7s, Pennsylvania general 6 1-2s, Katy 5s, Southern Railway 6 1-2s and St. Paul 4s.

Tighter money conditions prompted free offerings of Liberty bonds, resulting in a general shading of prices.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices on bonds on the New York Stock Exchange and the total sales of each bond. These quotations are received over Associated Press wires, and to expedite transmission the closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close are omitted when they are same as the high.

NEW YORK CURB

Prices Turn Lower

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Selling pressure was renewed against today's Curb market carrying the main body of stocks lower, but chief speculative interest centered in the buoyancy of about a dozen industrials and public utilities, which were bid up briskly on the basis of special developments.

Gillette Safety Razor was run up over 2 points to a new high record at 105½ in further reflection of heavily increased sales. Nizer B., touched a new high record at 64 3-8, despite the fact that it was selling ex-dividend.

Mill Rubber was run up 9 points to a new peak at 229 in expectation of an early stock split-up, but it canceled half of its gain on profit taking. Land Company of Florida dipped another 4½ points to 76, as against the recent high of 80½, but rallied to 78½ before the close.

Oils, as a rule, were sluggish, although New Mexico and Arizona Land was active around its recent high, following announcement that the company had approved a contract for additional development work.

A brisk demand developed for some of the high-priced public utilities. National Power and Light was bid up 12½ points to 384½, a record high, and Southern California Edison scored an extreme gain of over 6 points to 135, part of which was later lost on realizing.

BANCITALY AND EDISON GO HIGHER

Heavy Trading on Local Exchange Yesterday; Two Mines Hit Highs

Southern California Edison common's sensational advance, together with the sharp upturn in Bancitaly Corporation shares, featured trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday. Edison common during the morning session soared 4½ points to 133 and closed at 132 3-8, after the liveliest trading in months. Bancitaly Corporation advanced 10½ points to a new high record at 284½.

Julian Petroleum preferred was another active trader, but declined under pressure to a close at 9 1-8, a net loss of ½ point from Monday's close. Julian common continued on the toboggan, losing 5-8 to a close at 3. Shell common was off 1-4 point to 22 1-4. Union Oil was steady at 33 3-4 and Union Associates was 3-4 point lower at 32 3-4. United Oil added 3-4 point to 34.

In the mining group, San Francisco Gold and Big Jim Mines continued to hit new highs, each adding ½ point to the close of Monday. San Francisco Gold closed steady at 26, and Big Jim Mines opening and trading during the day at 15½, closed at 16. Prince Consolidated was steady at 35 and North Star dropped back ½ point to 4.

Los Angeles Investment was not in great demand and sold firm at 5.60. Trading in the balance of the stocks followed a steady course.

SECOND OF HUB OIL CONTRACTS APPROVED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The New Mexico and Arizona Land Company board has just approved a second contract with the Hub Oil Company and F. A. Andrews of Los Angeles, under which the operators secure the right to survey and select for drilling purposes, an additional ten thousand acres from the land company's acreage in Valencia county, N. M. The terms of this second contract are substantially identical with the contract of the 5th inst.

QUEEN SAVES PAPER

Queen Mary of England has her pet economies, according to Ernest Brooks, British Court Photographer, who describes one of them in the October McClure's Magazine.

Packages were sent to her wrapped in a fine grade of handmade paper, tied with tape. She ordered this practice discontinued, saying that ordinary wrapping paper and twine were good enough containers for the purchases made by the royal family.

Greatest Artificial Lake

What will be the largest artificial lake in the world is being built in a remote section of Alabama to assure a constant flow of water for driving three large electric generators. These will feed power into the electrical transmission system of the State. The lake will have a shore line 700 miles long and will cover 40,000 acres of farm and forest land.—[Popular Science Monthly.

COTTON AT CLOSE OFF SLIGHTLY

Market Quiet and Steady as Traders Await Tenor of Federal Report

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The cotton market was quiet and steady today, with not many changes from yesterday's closing. This was mainly due to the uncertainty of what tomorrow's semimonthly government crop report will show.

Due to be announced at 12 o'clock tomorrow trading will be suspended five minutes before the report is given out and resumed fifteen minutes later.

Most of today's business was evening up of some outstanding speculative interests over the report. An advance of about 15 points in the general contract list marked the opening, mainly influencing a rally to that extent in futures at Liverpool from their early decline in following the late declines here of yesterday. They went off 6 to 8 English points, but rallied and closed steady at 1 to 2 net advance on the day, against the decline of 5 to 7, they should have held to have met our closing of yesterday. Spot cotton there was off 9 points to 13.35d for middling, with the day's sales 8000 bales and import arrivals of 30,000 bales, including 25,000 American.

Weather in the cotton belt has turned much colder. There will be rains from North Texas to North Carolina tomorrow.

The trade is expecting the government report to show a condition of around 53 per cent and an indicated yield of between 13,500,000 and 13,600,000 bales without linters. This would compare with the condition of 56.2 in the last report to the 1st inst., and the indicated yield then of 13,740,000 bales. The previous report for August 16 made the condition 62 per cent and the indicated yield 13,990,000 bales.

The Census Bureau's report on ginning is expected to show the record-breaking total of between 4,000,000 and 4,500,000 bales against 1,892,549 ginned to the 1st inst., in the last report.

October sold at 24.18 cents on the early advance; December, 24.55; January, 23.90; March, 24.18, and May, 24.42. By 2:30 o'clock the market was back to 24.10 cents for October; December, 24.46; January, 23.80; March, 24.06, and May, 24.33, due to scattered liquidation and further southern hedge selling.

World Cruise Revised Plans Are Announced

The United American Lines announces that its world cruise plans have been revised and instead of conducting two cruises around the world by the steamship Resolute during the coming winter, one eastward and one westward, there will be only a single cruise.

This cruise will start from New York, January 21, 1926, and proceed westward, calling at Havana and passing through the Panama Canal. Stops will be made at Los Angeles on February 6, and at San Francisco, February 9.

From San Francisco the Resolute will follow the itinerary previously announced, calling at Hilo, Honolulu, Yokohama, Kobe, Shanghai, Hongkong, Manila, Sandakan and Tarakan, Batavia, Singapore, Rangoon, Colombo, Bombay, Suez, Port Said, Naples, Villefranche, Gibraltar and Funchal. Shore excursions will be made to places of interest along the route.

According to the schedule the Resolute will arrive at Villefranche, May 10, and Naples, May 8, where world cruisers who desire to prolong their trip by an extensive visit to European centers may disembark, and return by a later steamer of the United American Lines or Hamburg-American Line.

BUSINESS PHILOSOPHY

BY WILLIAM FEATHER

ONE way of going broke is through false pride in opinion. A man will come to a conclusion that a certain line of action is desirable, and will pursue this line until he is flat on his back and taking the count.

This is very foolish.

Conditions change, and therefore opinions should change.

Conditions are often changing while an opinion is being formed. There is nothing discreditable in changing one's opinion.

News of Spring Street

An issue of $500,000 tax-exempt Union Joint Stock Land Bank of Detroit 4½ per cent farm loan bonds, dated July 1, 1925 and due July 1, 1955, is being offered by C. F. Childs & Co., at 102 and interest to yield 4.25 per cent to option date, July 1, 1935, and 4.50 per cent thereafter.

The bonds are the direct obligation of the bank of issue and are secured by the capital assets of the bank and by mortgages and United States government obligations held by the government custodian, the registrar. The bank is under supervision of the Federal Farm Loan Board, a department created by Congress in the United States Treasury.

The Union Joint Stock Land Bank of Detroit was organized on May 1, 1923 and given a charter with a paid-up capital of $250,000 and $25,000 surplus. The charter provides for loans to be made in Michigan and Ohio States recognized as being among the best adapted States in the Union for diversified or general farming.

Oakland Sales Grow

Detail sales of Oakland six cars for August last, were the highest for any month so far this year and 34 per cent greater than the best previous August in the history of the company.

Production at the Oakland factory is being stepped up to meet the increased demand and during the remaining months of this year will be at peak, according to a report of the General Motors Corporation.

Wheat Weakens as Long Holders Seek to Unload

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Some of the local professionals who turned bullish overnight, bought wheat futures early today and were able to make a fractional advance over Monday's close, but the expected eastern buying failed to develop, however, and when longs tried to sell out, they found support lacking, and with pressure from the Northwest, and from spreaders, prices declined 1⅞@2⅝c from the top. The finish was within a fraction of the bottom, with net losses of 1⅜@1½c. September closed at 1.50¼@1.50, December at 1.50⅛@1.50¼ and May at 1.53⅜@1.53⅝. Corn was easy, except for a brief period early, and closed ½@1c lower, with September 87⅛c, December 80⅞@80⅝c and May 85⅜@85⅝c. Oats lost ⅛@¼c, while rye was ⅛c lower to ⅝c higher.

Local sentiment became extremely bearish toward the last and there was considerable selling of wheat futures here against purchases at Winnipeg, which narrowed the difference slightly, Winnipeg being off only ½@1⅛c for the day. Minneapolis declined 1⅜@1⅝c. News had little effect on the market either way, although in the main it was rather bearish.

Northwestern messages indicated an easing in spring wheat premiums and eastern interests figured that Canadian wheat and flour, duty paid, was selling at practically the same price as domestic.

While sentiment among local corn traders is decidedly bearish, there was less disposition to press the selling side on declines, and the deferred deliveries received fair support as December neared the 80c level, a fair rally from the low point following. Trade was largely of a professional character. There were claims of some export business at the seaboard for December shipment, but it failed to have much effect.

Oats were dull and easier in sympathy with corn. North American available supplies increased 1,242,000 bushels for the week and are 71,639,000 bushels, against 54,238,000 bushels last year.

Houses with seaboard connections bought rye futures early, presumably removing hedges against sales abroad, causing a sharp bulge, but the greater part of it was lost later when wheat weakened.

Packers' brokers were on the buying side of September and October lard, and also took some ribs and bellies, the latter against cash sales. Commission houses were on both sides, and at the last lard was 5c higher to 7½c lower and bellies 5c lower to 10c higher. Deliveries on September contracts were 100,000 pounds of ribs.

Two Issues of Foreign Bonds Are on Market

Foreign financing got under way again yesterday when two issues, aggregating $39,700,000, were announced by investment bankers throughout the nation. J. P. Morgan & Co. and the National City Company are offering an issue of $29,700,000 Government of the Argentine Nation external sinking fund 6 per cent gold bonds at 96½ and accrued interest to yield about 6.25 per cent, and the Guaranty Company of New York and Dillon, Read & Co. are offering an issue of $10,000,000 State of Bremen (Germany) ten-year 7 per cent external loan gold bonds at 94 3-4 and interest to yield over 7.75 per cent.

The Argentine bonds are a direct external obligation of the Argentine government. The proceeds of the issue will be used to repay floating debt of the Argentine government as provided for by laws which govern this issue. This issue of bonds will substantially complete the amount authorized to be issued under such laws.

The Bremen bonds are a direct obligation of the State of Bremen. The proceeds of this issue will be used for necessary income producing port improvements and other public works and for payment of the $5,000,000 external one-year discount treasury notes, due December 1, 1925.

The State of Bremen is one of the independent states of Germany with control over its own affairs, subject to such matters as are now reserved for control by the German Reich. With a population of about 330,000 it comprises an area of ninety-nine square miles, including the harbors of Bremen, Bremerhaven and Vegesack. Its port is the second largest of Germany and is the largest cotton importing port on the continent of Europe.

FLAXSEED MARKET

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE: Curtailed receipts, on account of the washouts on the Utah-Nevada line, resulted in an active clearance for all available cattle. The run at hand was estimated at 200 head. Market on beef steers from Monday's high level showed a fresh advance quoted strong to 25c, rounding out a net advance from the close of last week of a big quarter. Top yesterday reached 8.75, paid for two loads of fed Californias, of Arizona origin, averaging 1220 pounds. Other sales of steers were noted at 7.50 and 7.75, with some common offerings at 5.25.

Much the same conditions governed the market for fat cows and heifers, the bulk of the cows clearing from 5.00@5.75, with best included. Arizona heifers averaging 648 pounds at 5.00, with two loads of cows at 5.40, averaging 815 and 818 pounds. Odd lots of cows sold downward to 4.50. No change was noticeable in outlet for canners and cutters. A few old shelly cows sold from 2.00@2.75, with cutters upward to 3.75. The bull market was unchanged, bolognas mostly 4.50@5.00, with beef bulls upward to 5.25.

CALVES: Estimated receipts, 100. Market ruled firm. Run included 115 averaging 260 pounds at 6.00. A few milk vealers were noted at 11.00.

HOGS: Market was a slow, draggy affair, the few sales consummated quotable steady. One load of eastern hogs averaging 196 pounds sold at 15.25, with a few trucked-in hogs noted downward to 14.50.

SHEEP: None. Market nominally steady. Good and choice fat range lambs are quoted from 13.75@14.75, with good and choice ewes, 7.00@8.00.

METAL MARKETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22.—Daily Metal Trade today says: "Tin can makers are placing orders with mills for delivery next year, which indicates likelihood of continuation of present high operating rates for mills in Pittsburgh district. Sheet consumers at Detroit and steel bar users at Chicago hurry to cover spot needs, without waiting for formal inquiry and threaten warehouse stocks. New pig iron sales and inquiry at Cincinnati continue to grow and southern prices indicate likelihood of further advances. Copper at New York easy at 14.62½@14.70c; zinc firm at 7⅝c; lead steady at 9.25@9.30c, St. Louis; tin active at 58½c."

Executive Wanted

A local company, manufacturing a successful commodity necessary in every household, and having on its directorate some of the most prominent men in Southern California, seeks a man with ample capital and proven ability, to take over the management and active operation of the company.

The man we want may possibly now be retired, or he may now be holding an important position with a successful concern. However, he is a man who is accustomed to achieve big things. He will show us a record of constructive accomplishment in sales management and marketing and he will be fitted by past experience to manage a manufacturing business. The man chosen will be one who can make an investment of $20,000 to $25,000 to finance his operations. This will give him a very favorable interest in the company, with opportunity for ultimate control.

If you believe you are the man we need, phone MEtropolitan 7341 for an appointment.

STOCKS PURSUE UNEVEN COURSE

Market Irregular as Money Keeps Tight

Advance of Motor List Trio Day's Feature

Weakness Again Crops Out in Industrials

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Money rates were again a dominating influence on the price movement in today's stock market, which displayed alternate periods of weakness and strength. Closing quotations were irregular, a long list of motor and public utilities showing net gains of 1 to nearly 3 points, with corresponding losses in many of the motor accessories and specialties.

Execution of a large accumulation of overnight selling orders, inspired by the rapid marking up of the call money rate late yesterday, gave opening prices a heavy tone. When these were disposed of the market began to rally, but turned heavy again when the renewal rate on call money was raised to 5 1-4 per cent, the highest in nearly two years. The subsequent lowering of the rate to 5 per cent started another rally, which was still under way when the market closed. More significance was attached by bankers to the stiffening of time money rates and the fact that call loans against acceptances were moved up a full 1 per cent from 3 3-4 to 4 3-4.

MOTORS ACTIVE

About one-third of the day's total business took place in the motor and accessory stocks, whose combined sales exceeded 600,000 shares, of which slightly less than half was in three issues—Studebaker, Hupp and Willys-Overland common—all of which attained new peak prices for the year. Talk of special dividend distributions accompanied the rise in some of these stocks.

Steel shares moved within rather narrow and irregular limits, although trade advices were generally cheerful.

United States Steel common closed 5-8 lower at 122 1-4 after having sold a point above that figure.

Weakness again cropped out in some of the high-priced industrials. General Electric broke 7 points to 311 and American Can and General Baking showed net losses of 3 1-4 and 4½ points, respectively. Sugars turned heavy on the announcement that the raw product had sold in the New York market at the lowest price since 1922.

RAILS LAG

Trading in the rails slowed down, pending the publication of additional August earnings reports, but Southern Railway and Atlantic Coast Line developed independent strength.

Call money opened at 5 1-4, a decline from yesterday's high of 6 per cent which was the highest renewal rate since January 3, 1924, but dropped to 5 per cent in the afternoon, closing at the low figure. Time money stiffened slightly with rates quoted at 4½ to 4 3-4 per cent, instead of 4 1-4 to 4 3-4. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Reactionary tendencies predominated in the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling ruled around $4.84 1-8, or below the generally accepted "gold point." French francs held firm around 4.73½ cents but the Belgian, Italian, Dutch and Norwegian currencies lost ground. Polish zlotys broke 80 points to 16.60 cents.

BANKERS IN DRIVE ON BANDITRY

Pacific-Southwest Officials in Pistol Practice at Police Rifle Range

"Say it with bullets" is the slogan of employees of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, who met yesterday on the police rifle range in Elysian Park for the regular monthly pistol practice which is a part of the bank program to take the ambition out of bank bandits.

Elimination contests between teams representing the bank's Los Angeles city branches and the central office, were held to select four high men to represent each team in the finals. The branch team won the match with a score of 577 to 517.

Financial Outlook of Southern California Edison for Current Year Brighter Than in 1924 Due to Addition of Adequate Water Supply.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The outlook for the Southern California Edison Company for the current year, based on results obtained in the first seven months, forms a striking contrast with the lean return gathered from operations last year. Precipitation, which dropped last year to the lowest level in over forty years, has been nearer normal, and the operation of the Florence Lake tunnel, designed to turn the upper waters of the San Joaquin River into Huntington Lake, has assured the company of an adequate water supply for its plants.

Better conditions are due principally to more rains and snows. The drought of 1924 was much more severe in the Edison company's territory than in that of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company or the San Joaquin Light & Power Corporation. As a matter of fact, both of the latter companies were able to help the stricken company over the most trying months of July and August.

The company, due to water shortage and inability to operate its hydro plants at capacity required was forced to purchase 13 per cent of its power sold. Only 43 per cent of its requirements was produced at its own water-power plants. Steam generating stations were utilized to the limit, but even so it was necessary to short-ration consumers to some extent.

The outcome was that, despite an increase of more than $1,000,000 in gross business done, the increased operating costs left the company with a deficit of more than $2,000,000. The return to normal conditions this year has, however, brought a desirable change in operating results.

In the first seven months—that is, to July 31—the company was able to show a net balance applicable to funded debt of $,323,000, or almost $1,000,000 more than in the entire year of 1924, when net available for that purpose was $8,395,720. Gross business has, of course, been increasing, but this good showing has been made possible largely because of the fact that operating expenditures are once more well in hand.

From present indications the company is enjoying its banner year. Based on the actual results of the first seven months and with the remaining five months estimated, final gross should approximate $25,500,000, compared with $21,389,499 in 1924. With operating expenses in all probability down near the $9,000,000 mark, compared with $12,993,779 last year, the indicated net will be about $16,500,000, or about double the $8,395,720 shown at the close of 1924.

Allowing for a considerably more liberal deduction for depreciation and for dividends on preferred and common stocks, including the $5,202,000 additional common subscribed for by officials and employees but unissued, the company will probably show a final surplus for the year of about $1,370,000, against the deficit reported in the previous year.

In two more seasons experts believe that Australia will have 100,000,000 sheep.

BROKERAGE SYSTEM IS UNDER FIRE

Asserted Abuse of Part Pay Plan in Securities Sale Being Investigated

Brokers who are abusing the partial payment plan in the sale of securities will become the subjects of intensive investigation by the Corporation Department if it is found that sufficient powers are granted in the decision handed down in San Francisco recently, Commissioner Edwin M. Daugherty announced yesterday. Firms conducting legitimate operations, however, have nothing to fear, he explained.

Attorneys attached to the Corporation Department are now studying the decision to ascertain the amount of authority the department has in the partial-payment cases. In the case heard before Superior Judge Daniel C. Deasy, the department was sustained in its action revoking the licenses granted to Cromwell Simon and Cromwell Simon & Co., San Francisco brokers, who were charged with selling stock on the partial-payment plan and exacting usurious rates of interest.

While he has not had the opportunity to analyze the decision, the commissioner said that it is possible that the court has given sufficient authority for the department to proceed with a greater degree of freedom in such cases that it has in the past. The San Francisco case was the first in which the department has gone into the question of exorbitant service charges on partial-payment purchases.

Illustrative of the methods under the system which Commissioner Daugerty declares must cease throughout the State, it was stated at the department offices that complaints had been received from persons who had agreed to purchase, for example, $1000 worth of stock, making a first payment of $100. Immediately the purchaser was charged a 10 per cent commission on the $100, leaving $90 to apply on the purchase.

Then 7 per cent was charged on the $900. The brokers were not required to purchase the stock until the final payment, together with interest or service charges, was made. Thus, in addition to receiving the interest they had the use of the installment payments without actually buying securities.

An investigation by auditors of the Corporation Department disclosed that the liabilities of the brokers involved in the case just decided exceeded the assets.

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

While development at Torrance has long since reached the point of drab routine, this field is still in the habit of getting new wells at frequent intervals, and during the past few days has brought in three new wells and one old one.

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company got the best well in recent weeks at Torrance, completing its Del Amo No. 33 for an initial production of 350 barrels a day from a depth of 3725 feet.

The George F. Getty Company, Inc., finished its Torrance No. 26 at 2900 feet, placing the well on the pump at ninety barrels a day.

The Shell company's Redondo No. 5, completed at 3600 feet, began producing at the rate of seventy-five barrels a day.

The Standard Oil Company's which has been testing for a possible deeper zone in its Ellinwood No. 2, has finally abandoned the hope of deeper production and is contenting itself with from ten to twenty barrels a day. Ellinwood No. 2 originally was drilled to 4750 feet, but was plugged back to 3886 feet.

Another new well which is expected to go on production within a day or two is the Gish No. 2 of the California Petroleum Corporation. This well is down 3800 feet, and the crew is preparing to bring it in immediately.

No Deep Production

Chances for deep production around the edges of the Inglewood field in the Baldwin Hills seem slim, whatever they may be in better located parts of the field. The only two wells in this district which have gone below 4800 feet are both out of the running as far as present indications go.

The General Petroleum Corporation's Brown-Shasta No. 2, north of the field, is down 4820 feet, drilling ahead, without a showing of any kind. It is now the only operating project on the Brown-Shasta lease.

Oscar Howard's Dominguez No. 1, west of the field, which was drilled to a total depth of 4900 feet, has just completed a productions test at 4815 feet, which showed negative results. During the test the well is said to have shown some oil, but so much salt water that production was regarded as almost hopeless. The well is now standing plugged.

Howard's second well apparently is just off the edge, as the drill penetrated a number of oil-sand streaks, but with water sands so intermixed that there appeared no chance for a shutoff.

Dore Goes East

Charles A. Dore, vice-president of the Superior Oil Company, left yesterday for Tulsa, Okla., on a tour of inspection of the Superior's midcontinent operations.

Drilling has been resumed on the Superior's wildcat well in Ellis county, Kan., it is said. This project was struck by a Kansas cyclone a few weeks ago, just as showings were getting interesting, and the derrick was blown over a near-by Hill. A new derrick was built and tools run into the old hole, which was the only thing about the well undamaged.

No Showings

The Standard Oil Company has reached a depth of 5200 feet in its Baldwin No. 62, the deep test well of the Montebello field, according to field reports. No important showings have been found, it is said.

Deep Fishing Job

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company is engaged in the business of trying to extract about 300 feet of drill pipe from its Bilhorn wildcat well, between the Athens area of the Rosecrans field and the Inglewood district. Bottom of the hole is down 6000 feet, with no showings.

Make Production Test

The Union Oil Company is making a production test on its Olinda No. 2 in the Olinda field, according to official reports. The well is down 2750 feet in semiproven territory and has had good showings of oil and gas, it is said.

WORLD RELATIONS COUNCIL WILL MEET

The Council on International Relations will have the opening meeting of its fall season at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the library of the Chamber of Commerce, according by K. S. Bean, executive secretary. The Rt. Rev. John J. Cantwell, bishop of the diocese of Los Angeles, and San Diego, will speak of impressions gained during a recent visit of six months in Europe.

WALL STREET PARAGRAPHS

Rise in Call Rate Seen as Move to Check Wild Buying

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, by New York Evening Post.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Regardless of assurances that stiff money rates, which put a crimp in market operations yesterday, were only temporary, it was noticeable today that the 5¼ per cent renewal rate undermined confidence to some extent. To many close observers it appeared doubtful whether there would be an immediate reversal in the trend of money. As a result, therefore, suggestions were revived that the New York Federal Reserve Bank rediscount rate might be advanced at an early date.

Curb Sought

Sentiment was decidedly mixed in commission-house circles, but one gained the impression that the rank and file believed influential factors were making an effort through dearer money to curb wild speculative operations, which, in their opinion, threatened to undermine the market. The sensational move in Hudson Motors shares was singled out as an example. With the outstanding 1,230,000 shares going about 80, it was pointed out the company was given a market value in excess of $100,000,000.

Severe Break Unlikely

On the other hand, no severe break should be expected in the market, according to commentators, who believe that bankers will take care of the situation in the event that prices slip back too rapidly. Commission-house accounts are protected by ample margins, but the market is honeycombed with "stop-loss" orders. Traders looking for a reaction have determined to take profits and any sharp break would bring a flood of selling of "stop-loss" liquidation it is felt. To prevent possible demoralization it is suggested that bankers will provide relief.

Strongly Intrenched

Progress of the Studebaker Corporation may be fully visualized only by a tour of the properties at South Bend and Detroit. Business and earnings this year have been entirely satisfactory, and, in view of the promising outlook, officials are considering enlarged capacity for both plants. Savings made possible by the operation of its new body plant and foundry, built entirely from earnings at a cost of about $10,000,000, now permit the company to make a larger net profit per unit than it realized before the last price adjustments and prior to the discontinuance of body purchases from outside builders. Its new power plant, also financed completely out of earnings, is producing all the current needed in manufacturing operations including the new electric furnace department, at a cost substantially below the rate heretofore paid for outside current. Earnings for August, it is said, will surpass the most optimistic forecasts. The company, by reason of its newly adopted policy of purchasing supplies every two months instead of quarterly, has fortified itself against being caught in an unfavorable inventory position, even if business should experience a sharp setback.

Mixed Price Trend

That yesterday's reaction in stocks occasioned more than casual interest was demonstrated by the increased attendance in brokerage offices today. Customers who rarely visit downtown offices were on hand early to "see what the market is doing." No heavy liquidation developed, however, and prices fluctuated rather orderly within comparatively narrow limits. Buying power has been diminished, however, and, in most instances, the trend was to slightly lower levels. Here and there speculative favorites were pushed forward.

Another Utility Deal

Buying for control was the explanation put forth for the rather spectacular performance of Columbia Gas and Electric as the shares of that company soared to new high levels in a tremendous turnover. No light was thrown on the heavy buyer. The company has been making rapid strides in gross and net earnings in recent years, and the position of the company is such that directors could, if they so desired, permit a moderate increase in the return to shareholders.

Airbrake Dividend

The expected reduction in the dividend rate on New York Airbrake came through on schedule. Directors voted to pay only 50 cents a share instead of the usual quarterly disbursement. As a result the stock broke swiftly 5 points from the opening, a net loss of more than 2 points, but later rallied.

Sterling at New Low

Sterling fell to a new low for the movement at $4.84 3-8 today, but bankers were inclined to believe that further weakness need not be anticipated. It was felt that support would be obtained without recourse to gold shipments, although the quotation was regarded as slightly below the new "gold point."

Big Year for Battery

Considered in the light of an automobile accessory company, although its field is by no means restricted to the limits of its business in that direction, the Electric Storage Battery Company is reaping its proportionate share of the prosperity of the motor manufacturers. At the same time its business, which involves the installation of electric light and power plants, is progressing favorably and indications are that the current year will prove a banner one. Common and preferred issues share alike in all distributions after 25 cents a share has been paid on the junior issue, and neither class of shareholders has been neglected, as the companies record of extra disbursements reveals annual payments including such extras have been regularly in excess of the $4 regular rate fixed on both classes of stocks. An extra disbursement was made early this year, and in view of the satisfactory earnings another special payment is being talked of as quite likely.

Rail Consolidations

On the surface, at least, active consideration of the problem of consolidating the railroads into systems appears to be marking time. The Van Sweringens have their attention centered in getting the approval of the Commerce Commission for the projected Nickel Plate merger, which most of the proponents of consolidations wish to succeed for the manner in which it will open the way for other deals. New York Central and Pennsylvania seem content to let their deadlock of differences of opinion over a general merger rest for the time.

Rail Passenger Revenues

Seven railroads of the first class (those having gross revenues of nearly $1,000,000 or more) contributed to the general decrease in passenger receipts during the first seven months of 1925 compared with the corresponding period of last year. Of those reporting larger passenger revenues one road belongs to the western group, one was in the East and the remaining five might properly be classified as systems whose passenger business is largely of the resort variety. They were the Great Northern, the Lehigh Valley, the Atlantic Coast Line, the Seaboard Airline, the Central of Georgia, the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Long Island.

Jury Question Slows Trial of Oil Promoters

Owing to the fact that defense attorneys questioned prospective jurors as to whether or not they had lost money in oil stock, considerable difficulty was experienced in obtaining a jury in United States District Judge Henning's court yesterday in the case of W. L. Barnard, Drew Haven Dunn, B. S. Dennison and R. H. Tune, charged with using the mails to defraud in an oil promotion project.

A panel of twenty-two talesmen was exhausted and a special venire called before eleven jurors had been accepted. The last juror is expected to be selected today and the trial will start.

The defendants are former officials of the Huntington-Hawthorne Oil and Gas Company, which is said to have realized approximately $100,000 from the sale of stock.

Police Board Approves Deal for Station Site

The Board of Police Commissioners yesterday approved of the purchase for $18,500 of land at Pico and Georgia streets as the site of one of the eleven police substations to be built from the proceeds of the $1,600,000 police bond issue authorized in 1924.

The Newton-street and the Seventy-seventh-street stations have been completed and are now in use, the station at Vineyard avenue and Pico street is rapidly being completed, and the next ones built will be the one at Pico and Georgia streets and the one on York Boulevard.

WORKER FOR LEPERS TO ADDRESS WOMEN

Dr. William Dannen of New York, secretary of the American Association for Work Among Lepers, will address members of the Women's Missionary Federation of Los Angeles tomorrow noon at the First Methodist Church. Dr. Dannen will sail soon for a trip to leper colonies all over the world. There are 8000 of these unfortunates in the United States and its possessions, one-half of whom are in the continental United States. The lead in the work in Los Angeles will be undertaken by the missionary federation, which is composed of members of all the Protestant churches of the city.

Y.W.C.A. TO CELEBRATE NEW HOTEL

Open House to be Held With Breaking of Ground for Height-Limit Structure

Open house will be kept at the administration building of the Young Women's Christian Association, 941 South Figueroa street, when ground is broken for the new $1,000,000 hotel for women at 3:30 p.m. today.

Those who will take part in the program are Mrs. Chester C. Ashley, president of the Y.W.C.A.; R. W. Pridham, president of the Chamber of Commerce and the Community Chest; Mrs. Robert J. Burdett, president of the Women's Athletic Club; Mrs. O. P. Clark, president of the Friday Morning Club; Dr. Herbert Boothe Smith, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian Church; Harry Henderson, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A.; Mrs. Charles S. McKelvey, district parliamentarian of the Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, past president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Willits J. Hole, past president of the Ebell Club and the Y.W.C.A., and Rev. W. E. McCulloch, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church. Miss Grace Inman will have charge of the musical program.

The hotel will be limit height, of reinforced concrete, of Italian Romanesque architecture. It will contain 400 rooms, and will be completed about July 1, 1926.

A meeting of the board of directors and trustees also will be held today. Girl Reserves of the Y.W.C.A. will hold a council Saturday at Sierra Madre Canyon, in the cabin of Dr. J. G. Hill of the University of Southern California. Gymnasium, dancing, sports and swimming classes start tomorrow at the Y.W.C.A., 941 South Figueroa street. Special children's classes in rhythmic work and swimming begin Saturday morning.

BRUTALITY TO SON LAID TO PARENTS

Juvenile Court Charges Accuse Pair of Locking Boy in Shed of Nights

Charges that Mr. and Mrs. James Ripley of 671 East Forty-seventh street locked their 9-year-old son in an outbuilding behind their home when they went out at night were contained in a petition filed in Juvenile Court yesterday by Detective Tyron of the police crime prevention bureau.

Detective Tyron asserted that the father and mother had been guilty of general inhuman treatment toward the child, and asked that they be declared unfit to care for him and the boy declared a ward of the court.

Neighbors complained about the treatment which the boy received, according to Capt. McClary, head of the juvenile bureau, and started the investigation which brought about the petition. Detective Tyron reported that he found that it was customary for the parents to lock the boy in the outbuilding when they went out at night, and that the neighbors had seen the father strike the boy with his fist.

LIGHTWEIGHT BOXER SOUGHT IN SLAYING

JOE COFFMAN IS HUNTED BY OFFICERS OF SISKIYOU COUNTY AS KILLER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

KLAMATH FALLS (Or.) Sept. 22.—Joe Coffman, lightweight boxer, is being sought by Siskiyou county, California, authorities on a charge of first degree murder.

The crime for which the young pugilist is sought, was committed in Weed last month when an unidentified logger was choked to death in a reputed robbery plot. Two prisoners are held in the County Jail at Yreka, in connection with the murder.

"Murder" posters urging the apprehension of Coffman and his detention without bail have been mailed to peace officers throughout the Northwest by Sheriff Calkins of Siskiyou county. One of these posters was received here yesterday by Sheriff Hawkins.

The two persons now held at Yreka on tentative murder charges in connection with the crime are Oscar Schuler and a woman giving the name of Mabel Arant.

BABY FOUND DEAD IN ROOM AT THEATER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WORCESTER (Mass.) Sept. 22. A baby found dead in the women's waiting room of the Strand Theater abandoned during a performance, was declared to have been strangled to death, and an attempt was also made to burn the body, according to the report of Medical Examiner Frederick H. Baker. Detectives have found no clew to the identity of the baby or her parents.

RELIGIOUS COLLEGE PLANNED

Long Beach Man Proposes to Found Colony on Site on Mint Canyon Highway

Details of plans for the establishment of a $250,000 Pacific Coast Christian Science Educational Home at Alpine Springs, two miles south of Palmdale on the Mint Canyon highway, are to be set forth in a series of six public lectures at the Biltmore, beginning at 8 o'clock next Monday evening.

The announced purpose of the proposed institution is the teaching of Christian Science, with classes in Bible study, English, music and art. It will be privately owned, according to A. J. Cole of Long Beach, business manager, who stated he has donated twenty of several hundred acres he owns in the vicinity for the site of the structure, which is projected as a four-story, fan-shaped building. With Mrs. Winifred Lucia Fisher as an associate in the venture, Cole stated that the cost of the home will be defrayed by the subdivision of townsite acreage at Alpine Springs. The townsite is directly opposite the memorial aviation field recently dedicated to the late Hugh Denny in Antelope Valley.

The new home, Cole stated, will be independent of the First Church of Christ, Scientist of Boston and all other existing organizations for the teaching of Christian Science. "It is distinctively a separate organization," he said.

Full explanation of the purpose and plans, augmented by photographs, will be given in the lecture series, Cole stated. The meetings are free to the public.

HIT-AND-RUN CONVICTION PLEA FAILS

Court Denies Autoist's Appeal on Failure to Stop in Fatal Accident

The State motor vehicle law that autoists must stop and render aid to accident victims was upheld in its fullest sense yesterday by Division No. 1 of the Second District Court of Appeals, which refused to grant R. O. Graves an appeal from a conviction of failing to stop and render aid to David Fraser, resident of Alhambra, who died of injuries received when struck by the defendant's machine.

Graves based his plea for a reversal of judgment and a denial of a new trial on testimony that he was only riding in the car while someone else was driving. He also contended that the trial court judge misinstructed the jury when he informed them that they should find the defendant guilty if it was proved he failed to render aid, no matter who was to blame for the accident, and that the law and instruction were too broad, since they did not provide for the possibility of a driver injuring anyone without knowing it.

Presiding Justice Conrey, and other justices ruled that the instruction to the jury and the law are legal, and that no new trial shall be granted Graves.

INNOVATION IN SPEAKING CLASS MADE

Men and Women Pupils Given Separate Lessons in Y.M.C.A. Instruction

An innovation in the teaching of public speaking to men and women was inaugurated last evening by Clayton R. Rogers, instructor in public speaking and salesmanship in the Y. M. C. A. schools.

Mr. Rogers, who has taught hundreds of business men the art of public speaking, met with a new problem this fall when women were admitted for the first time into the schools.

He found that there were many women who wished to learn public speaking, but who were sensitive over the fact that they must get up and speak before men; and, likewise, many men were anticipating the same embarrassment for the first few weeks of instruction. All wished eventually to speak before mixed groups.

Mr. Rogers has solved the problem by having separate classes for men and women for the first eight lessons of the course and then the classes will be consolidated.

This novel plan has been accepted with enthusiasm on the part of the many women and girls who are registering for Mr. Rogers's public-speaking classes at the Y. M. C. A., according to Miss L. Madeline McClintock, new registrar of women.

SEWER FUND FIGHT AGAIN IS IN COURT

Huntington Park Sues to Force Treasurer to Honor Three Warrants

The sewer system of Huntington Park, over which a fight has been waged for more than three years, landed in the Superior Court again yesterday, when City Attorney A. A. Trippel of Huntington Park filed a suit demanding that William H. Boss, city treasurer of the municipality, be ordered to show cause why he won't honor three warrants drawn as preliminary payments on a proposed sewer system.

Three years ago the Huntington Park Board of Trustees passed a bond issue of $250,000 for a complete and independent sewer system.

In April, 1924, a new administration promptly refused to allow the construction of the sewer system for various reasons. Followers of the old administration and proponents of the sewer system promptly went to court to force the construction work, but Judge Brunell decided in favor of the defendants. Whereupon a recall election was instituted against the new Board of Trustees and the sewer system, or rather lack of sewer system, was the campaign slogan. The new board, however, went into Superior Judge Shaw's court and the recall election was never held.

In the meantime, the county had voted for the Metropolitan sewer system and Huntington Park suddenly found it could get a complete sewer system for something like $100,000 less than it could three years ago. In addition, the $250,000 lying in the bank had accumulated considerable interest.

So the board opened bids for the construction of laterals to hook up with the Metropolitan sewer system. However, at this point, it is asserted, Treasurer Boss declared he was not sure of his authority to pay out the funds that had originally been intended for an entirely different sewer system. Again the matter is in the hands of the court.

SUSPECT IN ATTACK OUT ON $50 BAIL

Chiropractor Held on Battery Charge After Investigation of Case

Frank C. Mighton, 40 years of age, a chiropractor, of 2715 West Jefferson street, and Holmes D. Crosby of 3305 Roseview avenue, were questioned in the City Jail yesterday following their arrest Monday night by Officer Grasmehr. Mighton was accused by Mrs. Nellie Hart of 3305 Roseview avenue, the police say, of attempting to attack her while giving her a treatment. Crosby is held for investigation.

After an investigation of all angles of the case yesterday, the charge against Mighton was changed to batter yand he was released on $50 bail.

Officer Grasmehr says he saw the door of the Hart home open Monday night and two men emerge, one pursuing the other. Just as he came up the pursuer struck the pursued, who proved to be Mighton, with the butt of a revolver, he said. He inquired the cause of the trouble and was told by Hart, the pursuer, that Mighton had tried undue familiarities with Mrs. Hart. The chiropractor denied the charge.

Grasmehr, investigating the revolver, found, he says, that the numbers had been filed off. Hart said he got the weapon from Crosby, a roomer in the house, but Crosby was unable, the officer declares, to give any satisfactory explanation for his possession of it or its lack of identifying numbers.

SHOW DEAL TO INVOLVE $2,000,000

Construction and Leasing Program Announced by Junior Theater Circuit

A new theater deal involving some $2,000,000 in construction and leasing operations is announced by West Coast Theaters. A new corporation, Junior Theater Circuit, has been organized by Mike Rosenburg of West Coast Theaters, and Harry M. Sugarman, brother-in-law of M. Gore, West Coast Theaters president. The corporation, the announcement says, already has leased the Royal Theater, Seventeenth and Main streets, and the Crystal and Jewel theaters on Whittier Boulevard, and three houses in Redlands, including the operahouse.

Extensive repairs, remodeling and alterations will be undertaken at all these houses. First in the new construction program is a $200,000 theater at Ontario. It will seat 1500 and will be equipped with a large Wurlitzer organ. The same scale of theater expenditure will be maintained in other cities, according to the announcement.

Each of the Junior Circuit theaters will have a stage for theatrical as well as motion-picture productions. It is the intention of the Junior Circuit, according to Rosenburg, to continue its construction and leasing program until it has one of the largest chains of motion-picture and legitimate theaters in the country.

PROTESTS ON RODEO PROVE UNAVAILING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Sept. 22. Despite protests of Miss Lucy Smithers, secretary of the Child Protective and Humane Society, against staging of a rodeo in connection with the annual Fort Sam Houston horse show in November, preparations for the event are going forward with out delay, it was announced at Second Division Headquarters. Maintaining that objections of the local society are without foundation, Army officials at the post stated there would be no change in the originalplan to include a big-time rodeo in the fall show, which begins November 6, next.

BEACH CITY MAN TO BE GOVERNOR

Col. Whitney Slated for High Porto Rico Post

Ex-Officer Confirms Club Head's Announcement

Unable to Say When Tenure of Office Will Begin

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Sept. 22.—Col. Henry H. Whitney, a retired Army officer, living at 305 Bennett avenue, who served overseas during the World War as a brigadier-general, is slated to succeed Horace Mann Towner as Governor of Porto Rico, it was announced at a meeting of the Adventurers' Club here last night. The announcement was made by Dr. Edward P. Bailey, president of the club, in the course of a talk.

Col. Whitney confirmed the report that he was slated for the high post, but declared official announcement would have to come from Washington. He said he did not know when the tenure of office would begin, as the matter depends upon the health of Judge Towner, who is said to be in ill health. It is understood that Judge Towner intends to retire soon.

Col. Whitney's army record is brilliant and for his service as commanding officer of the Sixty-third Artillery Brigade overseas he was decorated an Officer of the French Legion of Honor. He later was military attache at the American Legation, Berne, Switzerland.

Graduating from West Point in 1892, Col. Whitney served through the Spanish War on the staff of Gen. Nelson Miles.

He served in the Philippines in 1911-1914 and during the World War was promoted to the rank of brigadier-general and given command of an artillery brigade. He retired with the rank of colonel after the war and took up his residence here. He was born in Glen Hope, Pa., December 25, 1866.

COUNCIL TO URGE RIVER PLAN ACTION

Coolidge Will be Asked to Recommend Start on Colorado Projects

President Workman was yesterday authorized by the City Council to urge President Coolidge to include in the President's message to the next Congress a recommendation that a start be made on the development of the Colorado River with flood control and irrigation storage works including a dam at Boulder Canyon.

The action of the Council was taken on recommendation of its Water and Power Committee, of which Councilman Criswell is chairman and Councilmen Hall and Randall are the other members.

The resolution recommended by this committee and which was adopted by the Council yesterday by unanimous vote set forth that President Coolidge in his message to Congress in 1923 had declared that the time had come for the Federal government to undertake the development of the Colorado River, and that the President, in a telegram to C. C. C. Teague of California, dated October 8, 1924, had shown that the President was unchanged in his view that these reclamation, flood control and irrigation works should be undertaken by the Federal government. In his telegram to Mr. Teague the President said of the Colorado River development: "I should indeed look with great pride on the consummation of this, one of our greatest national improvements, within my administration."

The resolution adopted by the Council instructed President Workman in his letter to President Coolidge to urge the President to "again call attention to this very necessary development in his next message to Congress."

Husband Held After Fire and Death of Wife

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—His wife's recent death, which was first thought to be murder, caused Marinus Jacobson, north-side cafe owner, to be held prisoner last night. The present police theory is that Mrs. Jacobson died after an arson plot resulted in the burning of the building where Jacobson had a restaurant, and in which fire Mrs. Jacobson was badly burned.

Jacobson was not being held in any belief that he was responsible for his wife's death, but rather on suspicion in connection with the burning of the building. Witnesses had information that a woman was seen running after an automobile after the explosion, and from the description it was believed this was Mrs. Jacobson.

Capt. Murphy was of the opinion Mrs. Jacobson had been severely burned in the fire and that her husband or some other man drove her to the lake and she died of heart failure on plunging into the water.

New Mexico's Governorship Contest Ends

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Sept. 22.—The governorship contest between A. T. Hannett, Democratic incumbent, and Manuel B. Otero, Republican candidate, was brought virtually to an end today when a judgment for dismissal, agreed upon by attorneys for Otero and Hannett, was forwarded to Judge Edwin Mechem at Las Cruces for his signature.

The judgment grants dismissal, each side agreeing to assume its own expenses in the contest, which has been waged since last fall when Hannett was declared elected by a margin of 119 votes.

BEAR TAKES BALD HEAD FOR STONE

Companion of Irvin S. Cobb Awakened by Scratch of Bruin's Paw

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GLACIER PARK (Mont.) Sept. 22.—Dr. Dudley Roberts, a consulting physician of New York City, will have a scar on his forehead to remember Glacier National Park by, according to Irvin S. Cobb, nationally known humorist.

Dr. Roberts, with his son, Cobb and Jim Whilt, the Rocky Mountain poet guide, were fishing up in the wilds of Glacier Park. They camped at the Snowshoe ranger cabin, and one of the first things they noticed were bear tracks. In the night, Dr. Roberts awoke with a yell. The others hastily obtained a flashlight, which revealed Dr. Roberts with blood streaming down his face and a young black bear disappearing in haste.

None of the party was in the least frightened, Cobb said. While he dressed Dr. Roberts's head with the aid of his medicine kit, Cobb concluded the bear probably had been looking for food and turned over the doctor's bald head with his paw, thinking it a rock under which ants were plentiful, instead of the head of a man wise in germ lore.

Through experiments under the direction of the United States Bureau of Fisheries, the skins of sharks, porpoises and other kinds of fish have been developed into excellent commercial leather. A scarcity of mammal hides has necessitated leather manufacturers to seek raw materials in the sea.

BOY SUES FOR HEAVY DAMAGES IN MISHAP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 22.—Asking the court to give him $50,250 damages, through his representative and guardian, Melvin Houchin, Roy Hill, 14 years of age, has filed suit against H. R. Kanode and others, alleging injuries which he claims to have suffered in an automobile accident on the Maricopa Highway last August. The boy alleges that he was in a car parked on the highway when the collision occurred. It is alleged that the boy suffered a compound fracture of the left leg, an injured hip and serious bruises.

SALVATION ARMY PLAN CAMPAIGN AT HANFORD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Sept. 22.—A drive to raise Hanford's quota amounting to $2000 for Salvation Army work in the coming year will be launched October 12 to 15 inclusive. The drive was voted at a meeting of the Salvation Army advisory board held last night. Capt. Watson, campaign secretary of the Northern California and Nevada divisions, is in charge of the campaign work here. Mrs. Frank B. Graves was elected president, Miss E. Gillspi vice-president, County Clerk Pickrell, treasurer, and County Treasurer McInturff, secretary.

It is said that Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is contemplating the giving to the public as a memorial to her husband her Washington residence.

LEG SORES
The Long-Looked-For Secret Has Been Found

For a great many years millions of people have tried to heal these troubles with medicines alone and failed. A combination of everything necessary to use in cases of leg ulcers has been found. It is not a medicine, but a method. We teach you how to use it at home. More astonishing is that you do not have to lie in bed off the foot. The more you work and walk the quicker it heals. To stop the pain you now suffer is only a matter of a few hours. Now is your chance. Send at once for a free book, or call VISCOSE CO., 803 South Lake St., Los Angeles, Calif. DUnkirk 6089. WATCHMAN BURNED IN $50,000 FIRE

Five Companies Fight for Hours in Effort to Quell Home Gardens Blaze

One man was seriously burned, the plant of the Tweedy Lumber Company was destroyed and two dwellings slightly damaged yesterday by a fire in Home Gardens which is believed to have been caused by the explosion of a gasoline stove. The damage was estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000.

J. C. Coleman, 72 years of age, night watchman, suffered burns on the hands, feet and legs when, according to a report received at the Home Gardens Fire Department, a gasoline stove in his sleeping quarters above the company office exploded. He was burned in attempting to throw the flaming stove through a window.

Coleman was removed to the Suburban Hospital for treatment. It was reported last night he will recover.

The fire broke out at 1:30 o'clock and was still smoldering at a late hour last night, but firemen remained at the scene until the blaze was extinguished. The lumber plant is located on Tweedy Boulevard, one and one-half miles east of Long Beach Boulevard, and is owned by Henry Goddard.

Four fire companies besides the Home Gardens company fought the flames for hours before the fire was brought under control. The fire departments of Bell, Lynwood, Graham and South Gate sent their men to the scene.

CITY FIRE PREVENTION ORDINANCE PROPOSED

Legislation by the city to prohibit the discharge of firearms in sections of the city where there is underbrush or other growth which might be ignited and start fires was recommended to the City Council yesterday by Councilman Hall, and the City Attorney was instructed to present an ordinance similar to that which is now in force in Los Angeles county.

McDonald Wills Dollar to Wife, Bulk to Friend

The bulk of the estate of the late Frank A. McDonald, Los Angeles attorney, who died the 16th inst., goes to Beatrice Benton, who is described in the will filed for probate yesterday, as a friend. The estate is valued at $5000.

The will cuts off McDonald's wife, Beatrice Lenore McDonald, who recently obtained an interlocutory divorce decree, with $1 and his brother, Earl McDonald with $100.

Earl McDonald some time ago accused his brother of sharp practice in connection with the filing of the will of their mother.

TRANSIT PLAN APPROVED

Improved transportation facilities for the San Fernando Valley section of the city, as recommended in the Kelker Rapid Transit Plan were urged of the City Council in a communication filed yesterday by the Reseda Chamber of Commerce.

BORDER RESORT RECOVERS

Cantinas in Tia Juana Missed by Blaze Continue Business While Rebuilding Planned

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 22.—Tia Juana was recovering tonight from her sixth disastrous blaze in as many years with many complaints of the inadequacy of fire-fighting apparatus. The cantinas not affected by the fire which razed an entire block on the west side of the main street, were open again as usual. It was said that only a shift of wind had prevented the destruction of the entire resort.

The blaze was discovered shortly after 3 o'clock this morning in the kitchen of the Vernon Bar on the west side of A avenue and, fanned by a stiff wind from the sea, spread rapidly to all the other structures in the block. Fifteen saloons, the California Commercial Company's large curio store, two meat markets, two grocery stores and other small buildings included in the block were a mass of flames fifteen minutes later.

DEPARTMENT FAILS

The Tia Juana Fire Department which consists of one chemical truck, was on the scene in a few minutes after the fire had been discovered, but was entirely inadequate to cope with the blaze, intensified by the great heat from the thousands of gallons of liquors on fire. And, to add to the problem of those trying to save the buildings on the opposite side of the street, which were threatened with destruction, the water supply gave out after the pumps had been in operation only a short time.

With chemicals exhausted, residents of the border town could only stand by and watch the destruction. A hurry call to the Chula Vista Fire Department took another chemical truck to the scene of the blaze, but by the time it arrived the block had been practically levelled and efforts were confined to saving the structures across the street.

Shortly after 5 o'clock, the wind, which had caused the fire to spread so rapidly, died down and to this is attributed the saving of the rest of Tia Juana.

BUILDINGS DESTROYED

Buildings destroyed include the San Francisco Cantina, the Tivoli Bar, the Log Cabin, San Diego Bar, Gonzales Bar, Alhambra Cafe, Turf Bar, Lower California Commercial Company's curio store, Palace Bar, Vernon Club and other buildings facing the street to the rear of the saloons.

Intense heat from the fire scorched practically all the buildings on the opposite side of the street and cracked windows in structures almost a block distant. Workers and residents worked frantically to get belongings, fixtures and stores of liquor to a place of safety. Pool tables, chairs and other equipment were piled high on the street and were soon covered with embers, water and debris, which the wind carried over from the area of the flames. Damage under these conditions was considerable, more so than if the goods had been allowed to remain inside of the buildings.

Numerous narrow escapes from death occurred during the fire. Two of the buildings burned were two stories in height, with sleeping rooms on the second floor. The

VAUDEVILLE STAR WEDS HER PIANIST

Irene Franklin Becomes Wife of Jerry Jarnagin in Secret Ceremony

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Irene Franklin, famous as a vaudeville star, is the bride of Jerry Jarnagin, her collaborator in the writing of a new musical show shortly to be produced, a pianist in vaudeville and Miss Franklin's accompanist on her vaudeville tours. The news was received in a telegram from Mr. and Mrs. Jarnagin last night.

Irene Franklin

Irene and Jerry have been man and wife since one day last July, according to their own confession, but have managed to keep their wedding a secret, althought they announced their engagement. Last summer the pair made a tour of Australia and their friends were sure they had married while away, but they saved that honor for Bridgeport, Ct.

The romance of this pair of popular stage favorites has been progressing during the past three years with Jerry, according to his own admission, proposing and pleading with the fair Irene each day of the three years to become Mrs. Jarnagin.

Jerry Jarnagin

"You know," wires Jerry, "Irene never did say yes. I simply saw that she was beginning to weaken, so I went up to Bridgeport and had a talk with the justice of peace, who said we might be married at her home, thereby preventing chance of publicity. It seems in Connecticut if both parties for nonresidents, five days must elapse from the time of applying for the marriage license and the wedding. Five days! What a chance for me to lose out! But luck was with me and Irene still hadn't changed her mind. We motored up to Bridgeport early in the morning of July 12 and were married."

Mr. and Mrs. Jarnagin are now making a short vaudeville tour.

STREET NAME CHANGED

The name of Redondo street from Alhambra avenue to North Spring street has been changed to Hondcut Drive by the City Council.

FIX OWENS WATER TERMS

Owners of Eight-Mile Ranch and City Agree as Another Hearing Is Set in Bay City Today

While one Owens Valley faction last night awaited the opening of a court suit this morning before Judge Erwin W. Owen of Kern county, sitting in San Francisco, another faction which has been warring with the city over Owens Valley land and water right purchases was settling its differences with the Bureau of Water and Power out of court, it was learned last night.

W. B. Mathews, special counsel for the Water Bureau, stated that owners of the Eight-Mile Ranch, one of the holdouts in the valley, had come to terms with the city on a purchase price.

The papers have not been prepared, Attorney Mathews stated, but added that the consummation of the deal awaits only the formality of legal procedure.

Owners of the Eight-Mile Ranch were one party of litigants, who had taken their dispute over price into the courts and the case was expected to have been called for trial in San Francisco.

Another case, involving a smaller acreage, is scheduled to be heard before Judge Owen this morning but there were indications last night that it would be continued when called.

Transfer of the case to San Francisco for hearing was granted because of the great number of witnesses for valley landowners residing in and around the bay district. Most of these are technical and engineering witnesses, including experts from the University of California and Leland Stanford University.

MEETING SOON

Asserting that the Congressional Committee "has nothing to do with the nomination of United States Senator," Judge Waldo said the committee will continue to devote its attention to the business of electing a Republican Congressman.

He added: "Without this committee and the conference which has been called every two years since the formation of this committee for the agreement upon one candidate to be supported by the Republicans throughout the district, congressional matters in this district would again be in such shape that it would be likely to be represented by someone not a Republican who would be opposed to Republican principles and measures, and would not support the administration of President Coolidge.

"It is our understanding that this committee in the near future will be called together by the chairman, Hon. Galen H. Welch of Long Beach, to consider the Congressional affairs of the district. It is not likely to be dissolved so long as there is a Republican party in the district."

Boulevard to San Fernando to be Widened

Nelson T. Edwards, State highway commissioner, returned to Los Angeles yesterday from a meeting of the commission in San Francisco and announced that a contract has been let to Dewey & Lawson, a Pasadena firm, for the widening of fifteen miles of boulevard between San Fernando and La Canada.

The highway will be widened from fifteen feet to twenty feet with additional six-inch "shoulders" of gravel on each side at a cost of $149,000. The original estimate for the job was $170,000

ACTION NEAR ON DUMPING OIL AT BEACH

Charges to be Filed Against Ship Accused of Polluting Water Near Harbor

The first Federal action to stop oil tankers from cleaning their tanks within the twelve-mile limit was under preparation yesterday by Asst. U. S. Atty. Lucas, who announced he will bring criminal charges against the officers of the tank steamer Francis Powell.

The Powell is owned by the Atlantic Oil Company and is under charter to the Union Oil Company, it was said. She recently discharged oil into the sea off Long Beach, despite the protests of city officials, Lucas said he learned.

The city of Long Beach had provided a barge into which tankers may pump their water ballast and the scourings of their tanks, it was said, this having the double effect of salvaging the oil and of keeping the beach clean, but the Powell officers declined to use it, it was declared. An investigation by Department of Justice agents followed.

The Francis Powell is now at sea and is not expected back in port for several months.

Heart Disease Held Cause of Quick's Death

As a result of a report of County Chemist Walker that he was unable to find any trace of poison in the vital organs of D. D. Quick, 28 years of age, who died suddenly while playing cards Friday night at the home of Mrs. Mabel Eccles, 1251 Fourth avenue, County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner will sign a death certificate attributing Quick's death to heart disease, it was announced last night by Deputy Coroner McDonald.

It was due to the condition of Quick's stomach that a chemical analysis of the contents was ordered by Dr. Wagner. Quick's stomach was very much distended and this condition brought about pressure against the heart Dr. Wagner said he will sign a certificate today.

Quick resided at 981 South Hoover street, and was employed as a salesman by the National Cash Register Company.

COUNTY FAIR AT POMONA OPENS

Southland's Beauty Shown to Crowd of 20,000

Horticulture Tent Reveals Great Improvement

Splendid Racing and Horse Show Programmed

POMONA, Sept. 22.—The greatness, the grandeur, the beauty of Los Angeles county and all of California were never better presented than at the Los Angeles County Fair which opened its gates today and received a waiting multitude. Opening day, as usual, was given over to the school children of whom more than 5000 passed through the turnstiles for one great day of squawkers, toy balloons, hot dogs and red lemonade. In addition to the pupils of the schools, 15,000 adults came to the fair before the last sessions tonight closed the most successful opening day ever staged by a like exposition in Southern California.

The grounds, the tents and the displays are truly things of beauty, through which a note of Old Spain predominates in the color scheme. Overhead in the main tent are silken draperies in the bright colors of the Latin countries which, combined with wrought iron chandeliers displaying a multitude of electric lights, give to the whole a touch of Fairyland as the deepening shadows of the late afternoon permit of artificial illumination.

Officials of the fair organization have adopted Spanish costumes and are devoting eighteen hours a day in a very successful attempt to make every visitor feel that he has a personal interest in the big show and that the event is staged in the interest of both exhibitor and the community. Representatives of the Pomona police department, the Sheriff's office and the local fire department have established themselves on the grounds so that all possible protection is provided the great throng that will fill the tents and buildings during the week.

INTEREST IN RACES

Great interest centers in the race program and horse show scheduled for each afternoon and evening. The racing program, which will be presented each afternoon during the week, will be made up of horses which have broken speed records on some of the best tracks in the country, and no event, aside from the great Ambassador show in Los Angeles, offers horse lovers a greater opportunity of seeing some of the country's best show stock in action. The show horses will be exhibited during the evening hours in front of the great grandstand where special facilities for a wonderful exhibition have been provided.

In a display as varied and bewildering as that presented at this premier fair, it is especially hard to point to any particular department or division which is entitled to special notice. Interest no doubt centers in the main or horticulture tent, which houses the displays brought from the various near-by communities, and the more distant counties. Here are shown the best of California products in displays unexcelled for their artistic excellence. Pomona, Sunnyslope, Sacramento county, Glen and Colusa counties, San Joaquin county, La Verne, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, Lassen county, Claremont, Antelope Valley, San Diego county, San Bernardino county, combined with the National Orange Show, Chino, El Monte, Puente, Humbolt county, Baldwin Park, San Fernando Associated Chambers of Commerce, and San Dimas, all have booths which are keen competitors for the prizes offered for community displays.

Winners of Oratorical Contest Find Many Charms in Tour by Chamber of Commerce

The four young Mexican oratorical champions and party of officials accompanying them, who are here this week as the guests of Los Angeles, started out yesterday morning to see the town in cars furnished by the Chamber of Commerce and under the guidance of a member of the staff of that institution.

Their day's activities included a visit in the industrial district in the morning, a lunch with the Advertising Club at the Biltmore at noon, the studios in the afternoon, a dinner given by The Times at the Biltmore in the evening, a show after that, and then such repose as their full day's entertainment had earned them.

The boys are enjoying themselves hugely. Though some of them have been in the United States before none has visited Los Angeles, and they are tremendously interested in all they see and hear.

Perhaps one of their most enjoyable experiences yesterday was their attendance at the Advertising Club's lunch. They had the good fortune there to see and hear in action Hugo Kirchhofer, the club's song leader, in the business of teasing song out of his fellowmen. The boys liked Hugo and joined heartily in the singing.

VISIT RUBBER PLANT

Among the industrial plants visited was that of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. The party was taken from the basement to the rafters of the huge establishment and found out all about how chunks of crude rubber are put through a multitude of intricate processes and bewildering machines until they come out as resilient aids to joy-riding.

Their visit to the studios of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Company furnished a new line of sensations. It was the first time any member

NOTHING that rolls on wheels can compare with these limited trains of the West.

Traveling in the East is unpleasant at best on account of the coal smoke.

Eating in the diners is like a picnic on an ash heap.

If you don't keep open your window in your berth you perish of suffocation. If you do keep it open, your face looks as though you were made up for a minstrel show.

CHANGING AT CHICAGO

If the Chamber of Commerce wants people to come to California this winter it should persuade the railroads to run through Pullmans from coast to coast.

That change of cars at Chicago is a thorough nuisance and a bore. It really spoils the whole trip.

BACK IN AMERICA

It is not until you leave Kansas City and the prairies stretch out wide that you begin to feel you are in America again.

You begin to see a world free from Greek bootblacks and crooked Italian taxicab drivers.

What saddens me about them is their essential unkindness, their little cheap meanness.

If they think you don't know the city, these taxi drivers would drive you around for hours. They never show the slightest shame when detected in the act.

DOING THE STRANGER

Every time I travel from West to East at intervals of years I can feel less and less of the old feeling of friendly kindness that was America.

It would be too much to say that the population of these big centers of population is chiefly foreign; but this much can be said: That the stranger within the gates is largely in the hands of foreigners.

And, believe me, they handle him.

EYESORES

The hand of man has spoiled the work of God in most of these eastern landscapes.

You see beautiful valleys and river pictures that would have made your heart beat fast from sheer beauty. But they are all spoiled by houses of hideous ugliness.

The old stone houses of rural Pennsylvania and some parts of New England and Western New York are lovely with age-softened colors and fine lines.

But nearly everywhere else the farmhouses are horrible eyesores.

SPANISH CHARM

The Spanish are the only people who have always built houses that made the landscape more beautiful.

It is the adobe house which gives every California landscape charm as well as beauty.

LABOR TROUBLES

I believe that the labor troubles of the coal mines are due in no small part to these dreadful houses.

No one could live in one without hating the world.

The foreign-born miners come from lands where life is surrounded by beauty. They come here and are put in these gosh awful nightmares. No wonder they decide that all America lives for is to grab money. And so they'd better grab, too.

I live in the biggest house in town and drive
The fastest car on the pike. My radio set has
The loudest speaker; my clothes are the sportiest;
My bulldog the ugliest in my crowd. I sit in the Foremost row of every show. Yet I naturally shun the Light of publicity and shrink from the calcium's glare.
I don't want much. My wants are few. I care nothing
For show and detest all splurge. I don't care a thing
For the awe of my neighbors and to keep up with the Joneses is not my urge. I see no reason to follow where Others lead. I order my life by no other man's creed.
I'm advertising, that's all, and the cost is tall
When it comes to making the Joneses fall for the notion
That they've got to keep up with me!

MANY TAKEN IN GAMING RAIDS

Ten Chinese and Five White Men Arrested

Lottery Charges Faced by Several Orientals

Asserted Operator of Still Also in Custody

Raids conducted by Sergt. Simpson and vice squad officers on four asserted gambling games in Chinatown yesterday netted ten Chinese and five white men, and Lieut. Lucas and a squad uncovered a still in operation and arrested the asserted operator.

Lottery games were found by Sergt. Simpson and his men, they reported, at 111 Arcadia street, where Wong Fing and five white men were arrested; at 846 East Fifth street, where Ah Lim was charged with possession and at 114 Arcadia street where Ching Sun and three Chinese were seized.

At 917½ South San Julian street the officers reported they arrested four Chinese for gambling with dominoes. All the suspects were lodged in the City Jail.

Lieut. Lucas and his squad were passing 1737 East Twenty-second street, they said, when they smelled a still in operation in a house at that address. Entering the house, they reported, they found a still nearly red hot and ten barrels of mash. A man who gave the name of Sam Libriti was arrested on Wright Act charges.

CAR STOP REQUESTED

Residents of the Northeast section of the city have petitioned the City Council to establish a streetcar stop at York Boulevard and Avenue Fifty-three.

Foot Troubles Now Out of Date

Away! with bunions, corns and fallen arches. They're as out of date as hoop skirts and powdered wigs. There are too many things to accomplish and enjoy to let yourself be held back and aged by nerve-racking foot pains.

Unnaturally shaped, improperly designed shoes are the cause of tortured feet. Ordinary shoes won't correct these troubles. Only Ground Grippers have the three specific foot helps designed by science to permanently cure foot weaknesses by natural strengthening.

With the aid of the three Ground Gripper foot aids—straight line inner edge, the flexible arch and the rotor heel—weak feet cure themselves.

Come in and have an expert foot specialist examine your feet, free. Put on a pair of "Ground Grippers" and notice the difference right from the start.

of the party had seen a motion picture in the making.

They were met at the gate by Lawrence Hughes, who had been assigned to show them around, and he omitted nothing, from the way a Kleig light works to the composition of grease paint. They observed the filming of a portion of "Sally, Irene and Mary," and when the impressionable Latins saw Constance Bennett, star in the picture, it was only after persuasion that they could be induced to depart from the spot.

IMPRESSED BY GIRLS

Among the stars who greeted them was Ramon Novarro. A cameraman was kept busy for nearly half an hour shooting the star and the orators. Asked what impressed them most at the studio after their return to the hotel one of the boys whispered in an aside, "the girls!"

The dinner at the Biltmore in the evening given by The Times was informal, attended by presidents of the high school bodies, principals of the schools and Spanish teachers. Dr. Swiggett gave a brief review of the Mexican contest on constitutional government, stressing especially its effect in stimulating interest in the study of government on the part of the younger generation of Mexico and its results in promoting friendship between Mexico and the United States.

Each orator expressed his thanks for the reception accorded the visitors by the city of Los Angeles. Their brief talks emphasized the statement made by Dr. Swiggett.

PLEA FOR FRIENDSHIP

Betata y Quintana, who speaks fluent English, made an eloquent plea for the cultivation of greater acquaintance between Mexico and the United States, stressing the fact that such misunderstandings as have occasionally arisen in former times have been largely due to the fact that each nation is a stranger to the other.

After the dinner the entire party went to the Morosco Theater, to see "Whispering Wires." Through the courtesy of the manager, A. F. Schroeder, two boxes had been set aside for the party, and during the first intermission the orchestra played the Mexican national anthem.

The climax of Mexico Week will come today when the Chamber of Commerce will give a noon luncheon in honor of the Mexican party at the Biltmore. Aside from the membership of the chamber, the luncheon will be attended by many persons of prominence to whom special invitations have been extended. Among these are Gen. Obregon, former President of Mexico; Senator Shortridge, Congressman Fredericks, Senor Pasqueira, the new Mexican Consul in Los Angeles; former Gov. Spry of Utah; Mayor Rolph of San Francisco; Juan A. Ramos, director of the Latin-American division of the United States National Bank; B. A. Almada, Mexican commercial attache in Los Angeles, and a number of others.

ORATIONS TONIGHT

This evening at 8 o'clock, the four champions will deliver their orations at the Los Angeles High School auditorium. The student body of the high school has the program and the auditorium has been decorated in the Mexican and American colors.

Tomorrow the Mexicans will visit the Chamber of Commerce in the forenoon and at noon they will be the guests at the Optimist Club at the Biltmore. In the afternoon the pupils of Lincoln High School will take them for a drive to the beaches.

At the Advertising Club luncheon yesterday noon, Dr. Swiggett, who directed the oratorical contest in Mexico and heads the party of Mexican visitors here, was introduced by the chairman of the day, Charles L. Estey. Dr. Swiggett told briefly of the contest in Mexico and then introduced each of the visitors.

The principal musical feature of the program was the rendition of three piano selections by Charles Wakefield Cadman, the California composer, who played his own compositions. Mr. Cadman's playing was received with a storm of applause.

The principal speaker was Dr. Walter F. Dexter, president of Whittier College, who spoke on "Control of Human Reactions." Though this sounds formidable, Dr. Dexter handled the subject in a most entertaining vein, keeping the audience roaring with laughter much of the time. The speaker emphasized the point that to gain success the principal reaction that needs control is attention.

VIADUCT-OPENING TO CLIMAX CELEBRATION

Coming as a grand finale to Mexican Week will be the formal dedication and opening of the Ninth-street viaduct at 1:15 p.m., Saturday.

The executive committee met yesterday noon at the Chamber of Commerce, with F. R. Feitshans presiding, and drew up final plans for the celebration at which ex-President Obregon of Mexico will be a guest of honor.

Two parades—one representing the old and downtown Los Angeles and another representing industrial Los Angeles and the East Side—will converge on the viaduct, where speeches will be given by Mayor Cryer, Councilman Sandborn, Rex Goodcell, Fred Beatty and others.

Participants then will parade to the Central Manufacturing District, where an old-fashioned California barbecue will be given, along with an industrial exposition of products manufactured in the district. A caravan composed of all participants, and headed by Leslie J. Saunders, then will tour the industrial district and communities of the East Side.

JEFFERS GETS POLICE POST

Former Secretary to Chief Oaks Given Position Vacated by Miss Olin's Verbal Resignation

George T. Jeffers, formerly secretary to Chief of Police Oaks and at one time candidate for the Council, yesterday became the new secretary to the Police Commission when that body suddenly accepted the verbal resignation tentatively offered by Miss Mabel Olin, incumbent, to President Birnbaum a week ago.

The action came as somewhat of a surprise to Miss Olin, who became the police board's secretary three weeks ago, taking the position made vacant by Lieut. J. A. McCaleb. Commissioners Insley, Foss and Webster were in attendance when President Birnbaum announced that Miss Olin had requested to be relieved of her duties.

Miss Olin looked up at President Birnbaum and said:

"When I spoke to you of this matter the other day I was unsettled and undecided, and—"

"No bitter feelings, Miss Olin," President Birnbaum broke in, "I think it was for the best."

"If there is no objection from the other members of the commission I desire to offer the name of George T. Jeffers for the position of secretary to this commission," he added.

The other commissioners and Chief of Police Heath made no comment.

"There being no objections we will consider Mr. Jeffers appointed," President Birnbaum said.

Miss Olin, who for years has been attached to the office of the Chief of Police, will return to duty at the police headquarters. She will be very welcome on account of her efficiency and ability, Chief Heath said after the meeting of the board.

Mr. Jeffers is known to be a close friend of H. H. Kinney, secretary to Maryor Cryer, and is considered a strong administration man.

There was nothing unusual or mysterious in yesterday's action, Commissioner Birnbaum said last night. Miss Olin's resignation was brought about by her own initiative, Mr. Birnbaum declared.

"About a week ago Miss Olin expressed a desire to have certain changes made in the personnel of the commission's clerical force," President Birnbaum declared. "The changes desired by her could not be made without impairing the efficiency of other departments and she was so advised. Then she stated that unless they were made she would prefer to return to her old position in the office of the Chief. We accommodated her. The appointment of Mr. Jeffers was made because the commission considered him the best man we could obtain for the job now. He has had considerable police experience and his work in the Chief's office will make his work on the commission more efficient," Mr. Birnbaum said.

Aside from saying that she had offered the commission no written resignation and that her conversations with Commissioner Birnbaum were in the interests of what she considered the best thing for the efficient conduct of the office, Miss Olin made no statement.

Mr. Jeffers was appointed to the secretaryship of the Chief's office by Chief Oaks. He resigned in 1921 to become a candidate for the City Council. He received 6401 votes at the primary election and failed to get a place on the ticket. Political gossip had it that Mr. Jeffers would be provided with some sort of a position by Mr. Kinney.

Rites Tomorrow for Pioneer of Southern State

John Allen Armstrong, 71 years of age, Kentucky capitalist and member of a distinguished family of the old South, who died here Monday night after a heart attack brought on by a traffic accident, will be buried at Inglewood Cemetery tomorrow.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. tomorrow from the family home here at 736 South Serrano avenue. Dr. Cowans of St. Paul's Cathedral will conduct the services.

Mr. Armstrong was born in Louisville, Ky., and was one of the pioneers in the development of that city, being president of the Louisville Home Telephone Company, and a director in many of the leading financial and commercial institutions of that city. For some years past he had been touring Europe, making his home here.

Monday afternoon, while crossing a street at a downtown intersection after leaving his automobile he was struck by a street car. He leaves a widow and two daughters, Miss Nelchen Armstrong and Mrs. G. Edward Buxton of Providence, R. I.

pictures an ideal ranch, abounding with products of the citrus orchards, is a center of interest, and is a tribute to the genius of the big city organization, which knows so well how to carry the message of "California the Wonderland" to a visiting throng. Claremont has created much interest with an old-time Spanish house with patio garden and relics of early days. Indian baskets and bowls are used to display wonderful examples of perfect fruit. Antelope Valley has pictured a desert and then shown what care and water can accomplish. Twelve tons of baled alfalfa hay have been used in the display and form a background for a remarkable display from the orchards and gardens of this progressive community. In the San Diego county booth Escondido has taken a place of prominence with a display greater in variety than any of the competitors. Fruits, nuts and vegetables are shown in profusion, with much space devoted to a showing of silk, both in the raw, and finished product. It is contended here that raising of silkworms is to become one of California's greatest industries, and that San Diego county is to take the lead in developing mulberry groves.

San Bernardino has one of the most excellent exhibits from an artistic standpoint and has used a fountain made of varicolored fruit as a motif. The greatest display of orchard products is made by San Joaquin county, whose booth is always full of admiring visitors.

Among the unique displays in the great tent is that of the Sunnyslope water gardens, where the possibilities of gold-fish culture are made plain by a display both colorful and instructive.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT

Observers who have been engaged as judges at this and other fairs and who have attended most of the exhibitions of the kind given in the State are unanimous in their verdict that the general displays in the main tent here show at least a 40 per cent improvement in the quality of the fruit presented and prove, it is said, that the county fair is a great influence for the improvement of both agriculture and horticulture.

Outside of the main tent interest is divided in many ways, between great displays of cattle, sheep and hogs, rabbits, poultry and pigeons, women's work and school displays and the Midway, where daily frolics are in progress. In all probability the display of rabbits, poultry and pigeons here this year are greater than have ever been shown at a county fair. Every known breed is on display and the judges will have a hard time to decide upon winners among such a large entry list. In the cattle barns are shown great variety and high quality, speaking in terms of praise for the advance of this industry in the West in the last few years. As has been true at other fairs in the State, Holsteins lead in number of entries and quality of stock. The Junior Republic of Chino is in the front rank in this division with a showing of many prize-winning animals. P. M. Longon of Tulare county is exhibiting twenty-two head of high-class animals, while the Santa Monica Dairy and the El Como ranch of Norwalk are well represented. Anita Baldwin, H. L. Miller, W. R. Elliott, Mrs. Pearl Penrose and H. B. Martin are among the most prominent exhibitors of high-grade cattle.

HORSE EXHIBIT LARGE

The fact that the tractor is by no means the adopted "power of the farm" is proven by the exceptionally large and varied display of imported and domestic draft horses. Displays are here from all of the counties of Southern California and many communities at a greater distance. Much interest is centered in this division and a great deal of study of the merits of the many breeds on display illustrates the educational value of the fair. Never has there been gathered in this part of the State a better display of sheep and goats, which keep pace with the other large departments of the fair.

Schools of the city and county have a section of their own, where work only attempted in the universities of a generation ago is on display. Arts dear to the woman's heart are in display in profusion in the section where cakes, pies, jellies, marmalade and other kitchen products are shown. Needlecraft and fancy work have by no means been neglected and work of artists with brush and chisel are shown in great wealth.

No department which makes a fair great has been overlooked, and no section where information of general interest can be gained has been omitted. It is a great fair of a great county and is worthy of the great support given by everyone from everywhere.

EASTERNERS ATTRACTED BY WESTERN HORSES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Sept. 22.—E. A. Stuart of Seattle, president of the Carnation Milk Company, who is exhibiting a string of thoroughbred saddle horses at the fair here, believes eastern exhibitors are waking up to interest shown in horseflesh in the West.

"By interesting eastern horsemen in our shows I was able to import twenty carloads of horses to exhibit at the Portland fair," Mr. Stuart said. "The same can be done by southern fairs if they go about it right."

Mr. Stuart is a pioneer horseman of the Pacific Coast and maintains one of the finest stables in the country. He is accompanied by John E. Hook, formerly with the stables of Lulu Long in Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Hook is managing Mr. Stuart's stables.

CHECK OF TAXES TO BE COMPLETE OCTOBER 5

If your income tax conscience bothers you, prepare for the worst by October 5, next. Uncle Sam's auditors will complete the check of the 1924 reports at not later than that date, according to Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell, and, instead of waiting a year or two as has been the practice in the past, the good or bad news—whichever it may be—will be released.

WILL DEDICATE PLACQUE

The large bronze memorial placque, recently erected in the foyer of Temple Emanu-El, Jewish synagogue of the Wilshire district, will be dedicated with impressive ceremonies at 2 p.m. on the 28th inst., the Jewish Day of Atonement. Rabbi Ernest R. Trattner will conduct the services.

MEXICO SHOWS HER PRODUCTS

Varied Display on Exhibit at Commerce Chamber

Resources Exemplified by Numerous Articles

Replicas of Aztec Days Form Interesting Portion

What Mexico is capable of producing is revealed in an interesting manner by a display on exhibition on the ground floor of the Chamber of Commerce Building. B. A. Almada, commercial attache of the Mexican Consulate in Los Angeles, is sponsoring the exhibit.

The exhibit, which is one of the most attractive at the Chamber of Commerce, includes agricultural products, mineral and geological specimens, manufactured goods and examples of Mexican textile and decorative art.

AZTEC REPLICAS

There is also an archeological exhibit containing replicas of numerous articles that date back to the time of the Aztecs.

One of the most conspicuous features of the exhibit is the display of blankets made by the Oaxaca Indians in the southern part of the republic. The work, which is all done by hand, is exquisite, being especially characterized by its harmonious blending of brilliant colors. Most of the pieces show figures of symbolic or religious significance, the art revealed by the work having come down to these Indians from their forefathers through many centuries.

The exhibits of glazed tile from Puebla attract attention by their striking designs which are copied from those of the first Spanish inhabitants and are of Moorish origin. There are also several exhibits of colored glassware from Guadalajara, resembling that produced in Bohemia, and in the exhibits of rare woods from Colima and Campeche there are more than fifty varieties of hardwood found in the forests of these two States.

The agricultural exhibit contains grains and vegetables of all kinds raised in Mexico, and in the fruit exhibit are included not only all the fruits that grow in most parts of the United States, but also many varieties of the tropics never seen in this country.

MAY BE PERMANENT

One of the most interesting exhibits is that showing relics of the Aztec period. This includes, among other things, an exact reproduction of the famous Calendar Stone of the pre-Spanish inhabitants of Mexico, many of the utensils used in connection with human sacrifices and an array of grotesque gods worshiped by the Aztecs.

Mr. Almada put forth a special effort to have this exhibit in place in time for Mexico week. The Mexican government forwarded all the material, weighing nearly a ton, by express in order to have it here by the 21st inst., the day the oratorical champions arrived. The Mexican party will view the display tomorrow morning as a part of their visit to the Chamber of Commerce. Plans are under way to leave the exhibit at the chamber permanently for the benefit of visitors interested in the productions of the southern republic.

BOTANICAL PARK IDEA SUPPORTED

Mr. Bent's words and declared that nowhere else in the world are the climatic, soil and natural conditions so favorable for the establishment of such a garden.

Dr. A. D. Houghton of the University of California likewise approved the plans in unmeasured terms. He stated that he had been sent to the meeting by a committee of educators and scientists engaged in the study of horticulture to determine whether the project bore a commercial tinge.

"After studying the plan and talking to the men and women who are supporting it," he said "I have become absolutely convinced that your proposal is one of the best ever advanced. I shall so report to my committee."

Dr. Houghton pointed out that there is not a single school in the nation where horticulturists may be trained. There is no proving ground or "final court" for plants or shrubs in the United States. A botanical garden such as is proposed, he declared, will fill this need and bring scientists and students to Los Angeles from all corners of the world. It will react to the material and aesthetic advantage of the city as no other project possibly can, he declared.

Mr. O'Melveny, Mrs. J. B. Lorbeer, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, Dr. Remson D. Bird, president of Occidental College, and a number of others spoke in emphatic approval of the plan and promised to lend all support possible.

President Pridham of the Chamber concluded the meeting with a declaration that the unanimous support of the community must be obtained and the general interest of all centered on the project.

As outlined at the meeting, the garden will be a testing ground for plants and shrubs, with divisions of research, plant breeding, experimentations, propogation, systematic botany and many others. Because of the ideal climatic conditions, the garden can be so landscaped that all other similar enterprises will pale by comparison, since plants, shrubs, trees and other growing things must be kept under shelter in other sections.

BORDER RESORT TOWN RECOVERS

dwellers were routed into the street with no chance to save any of their belongings.

One of the greatest individual losses was suffered by the San Francisco Cantina, owned by Herman Cohn and Charles Goldie. In addition to the liquor stocks and other appurtenances destroyed a collection of about twenty-five paintings, depicting Mexico's early history and valued at more than $25,000, was consumed. These paintings, it is said, cannot be replaced.

Rebuilding of the block will be started at once, it was announced, and many of the resort owners have already placed orders for materials with San Diego building concerns. Not more than $200,000 insurance was carried on the buildings destroyed, it is reported.

RAILWAY'S OBJECTION TO PLAZA DEPOT ANSWERED

Business Men's Association Replies to President Storey of Santa Fe on North-End Site

In connection with the effort of the city to have the proposed new terminal located at the Plaza, an action to which end has filed with the State Railroad Commission, the following cor- between President W. B. Storey of the Santa Fe Railroad William Peters of the Downtown Business Men's Asso- of Los Angeles, will be found interesting:

Very respectfully yours,

THE REPLY

Mr. W. B. Storey, President,
Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad,
Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Mr. Storey:

Permit me to thank you for your letter of September 9th. We note:

1. That you are not opposed to a Union Station as such, but object to the location.

2. That you also object to the joint use of the Arcade Station.

3. That you are ready, and have been ready, to go ahead with a new station, but because of the action of the city in connection with the Southern Pacific case you hesitated.

4. That you think that the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific now have ample facilities for the present needs.

5. That you are joining with the city in the elimination of some grade crossings.

6. That you believe that the agitation for a Union Station on the Plaza site is a result of propaganda in connection with a real estate scheme.

In all these positions which you take, we beg to differ with you and to suggest that possibly a more careful analysis of the situation on your part would change your views. In answer:

1. I think you will agree that it is at least a peculiar coincidence that every disinterested engineer who has ever reported on the Union Station matter in Los Angeles has agreed that the only location for a station is the Plaza. No doubt you remember that the city first had a man named Robinson, whom they employed, make a report in this connection and that they engaged Bion J. Arnold, a man of national repute in connection with these matters, to come out here and make report. Following these the Mayor appointed a committee of three engineers, two of them entirely disinterested and very eminent in their profession—Samuel Storrow, Mr. H. Hawgood and the Chief engineer of the Board of Public Utilities of Los Angeles. Later the Railroad Commission of California had twenty engineers at work over a period of at least five years at a cost in excess of eighty thousand dollars to the city and State. Lastly, the Interstate Commerce Commission has reviewed all of this work and approved of all of the engineering reports with the final result that none agree with your views and all agree that the Plaza site is the proper location.

(2.) The slightest examination of the present joint use of the Central station by the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific will show that it is not only not large enough for their present needs, and certainly the future must be considered, but 35 per cent of the area they are using is public property in the shape of streets. It cannot be contended that this station, under these conditions, is large enough or provided for the future. In any event it would not be a Union Station.

(3.) That a new Santa Fe station is needed is evident from your letter, but if you built a station, as did the Southern Pacific Company, in a location obviously not to the best interests of the city, and in the face of written notice from the City of Los Angeles and written notice from the Railroad Commission of California that you should not do so, you could not rightfully object to any action on the part of the city or the State asking you to remove your station or join in a Union Station. Apparently you do not understand the condition under which the Central station was built.

As far as we know, the Santa Fe railroad has always been fairly treated by the city and State, and it is therefore not easy to understand why you should anticipate unfair treatment and base your fears apparently upon insufficient information regarding the treatment of the Southern Pacific by the city and State.

Your fourth question is answered in our reply to your third question.

(5.) It is true that the Santa Fe is joining with the city in the elimination of some grade crossings, but not all of the grade crossings. It so happens that in the matter of grade crossings the Santa Fe is the least offender, but it is a situation which the city must work out as a whole in a comprehensive way, and you will appreciate this elementary fact.

(6.) In answer to the sixth question, whether your conclusions in this regard are true or not, and we think that they are not, we are unable to see the bearing on the matter under discussion. Whether some one makes money on real estate or loses money on real estate is no importance to this organization. In any movement of this kind some one may be damaged and some one else may prosper. This certainly has no bearing on the merits of a proper location for a Union Station or its necessity. There is only one parcel of land that you could have in mind and that is the property formerly owned by Mr. L. E. Hanchett. In this connection this property has been owned over two years by the Southern Pacific Company, and it is an additional reason now why a Union Station should be built at the Plaza, because it makes the necessary area easily available. As a matter of fact, we are credibly informed that Mr. Hanchett does not own, nor does any of his companies, a single piece of land in Los Angeles county.

If the Plaza site is considered the neck of the bottle, we can only make answer that no other engineers have discovered this when making their reports. If you complain of congestion of traffic, the most frequent car service and the greatest amount of traffic in Los Angeles, in spite of the growth of the retail center on Seventh street, is still at the Plaza and all of the plans of the Traffic Commission and the City Planning Commission now being made, are with the view of relieving the traffic situation in the Plaza district and providing additional outlets, which can be done more readily from the Plaza than any other section, and Bion Arnold found in his report, that in spite of the growth of the retail section around Seventh street, the center of population is still adjacent to the Plaza.

I should be very glad to get your further reaction on this highly important matter. I wish, in closing, however, to thank you for your prompt response to my previous letter and your frank pronouncement relative to the Union Station problem.

Cordially yours,
[Signed]
WILLIAM F. PETERS,
Secretary,
Downtown Business Men's Association.

TOM LIDDECOAT HELP TO CUPID

Gets Pastor for Midnight Marriage Party at Midnight Mission

Denizen's of Hell's Half-Acre" were preparing to retire to their bunks at 11:30 last night at the Midnight Mission when the phone bell rang.

"Is this Brother Tom Liddecoat? Well, I want you to marry us—me and my sweetheart, of course You can't? Got no license? You don't need one—I got the license. Oh, I see. My name? It's Joseph Leavitt and the girl is Minnie Beatty. We used to go to school together in Utah and a few days ago we met here—and we want to get married. Well, see if you can get somebody. We'll be right down."

And Brother Tom told his "boys" the news and sent for Rev. J. M. Schaefle, who left his warm bed to administer to the happiness of Joseph and Minnie and the joy of Hell's Half-Acre. H. G. Whitney was best man and Miss Edna Hewitt, bridesmaid.

The Midnight Mission was crowded with spectators, who congratulated the bride and groom and afterward helped to prepare a wedding supper.

"Fontana Grapes Bring $80 a Ton"

Fontana grown grapes from young vineyards, most of them three years old, and in commercial production for the first time, this season have sold and are selling at $80 per ton in the eastern markets.

In the last three weeks a total of 32 cars of Fontana grapes have been shipped east. Most of these were Zinfandels—a dark juice grape

The vintage is in full swing at Fontana. Come out and see the harvesting crews at work on the largest irrigated vineyards in the world—over 5200 acres.

"Breaking Records"

See the refrigerator cars loaded and starting for the east. Then visualize the immensity of this industry—the profits to be derived—when these young vineyards, two and three and four years hence, come into mature production, shipping from five to eight times the amount of fruit per acre that is being shipped today.

JUDGE WILL RULE ON HULA

Morality of Dance for Which Club Was Raided to Come Up Before Georgia Bullock

Next Monday, the day on which she is to decide whether wall paintings of Pans, satyrs and nude maidens are artistic or immoral, Police Judge Georgia Bullock will be called upon to rule upon the morality of hula dancing as well.

Lola Ruiz, Mae Merril and Myrtle Ellis, entertainers, who gave their address as 1630 Temple street when arrested in a raid by police and Sheriff's office men on the American League Club, 1444½ North Wilcox avenue, Hollywood, last night, were arraigned in Judge Bullock's court yesterday. Lola Ruiz and Myrtle Ellis were charged with being "lewd and dissolute persons." Mae Merril was accused of putting on "an exhibition of an obscene, indecent and lewd representation of a hula dance."

PLEAD NOT GUILTY

All pleaded not guilty. Defense Attorney Hahn asked that the case be put over until the 28th inst., when he will be prepared to argue the question of whether a hula dance is indecent. It was intimated that a jury trial will be asked for if an adverse opinion is given the girls were released on $150 bail.

Thirteen men arrested in the raid, which, according to arresting officers, broke up a scene which would have made a hardened Babylonian blush, were arraigned before Judge Chambers yesterday. Nine entered pleas of guilty to gambling charges, and were fined $25 each. Four, charged with vagrancy and lewdness, entered pleas of not guilty and asked for a jury trial. Their cases were transferred to Police Judge Frederickson's court. Of these, James Hicks and Fred Franks, musicians, and Eddie Cobb, asserted picket, had bail set at $500. Bail of $1000 was set for Kenneth Kavanaugh, accused of taking a prominent part in the entertainment.

ENTERED BY TICKET

Kavanaugh gave his address as the Cecil Hotel; Hicks, 854 South Hill street; Franks, 3925 Fountain avenue, and Cobb, 1310 Maple avenue.

According to raiding officers, music and dancing of an advanced stage of revelry vied with card and dice games as attractions at the club. The raiders gained admittance, they said, by presenting printed invitations costing $3 each. In addition to the arrests, they took the names of 100 spectators.

Those fined on gambling charges gave their names as Thad Crawford, salesman, 230 North Twenty-third street; Victor M. Clark, 5134 Marathon street; Marion Finley, auto dealer, Anaheim; Victor Hovsepin, 1645 North Hobart Boulevard; Otto Ries, produce dealer, 104 South Vermont avenue; Charles Douglas, theater man, 1227 Bonnie Brae street; Ray Stanley, 828 West Sixty-first street; Fred Sabian, 3406 Garden avenue, and Ted Meyers.

The raiders were led by Capt. Bond and Lieut. Luke Lane.

GIBBONEY IS SENT TO PSYCHOPATHIC WARD

Harry W. Gibboney, who told police two weeks ago that he had murdered Claude Button, night watchman, in 1914, and then recanted his tale by saying he had made the confession because he was weary of life and wanted the State to hang him, was transferred to the psychopathic ward at the General Hospital for observation yesterday. He had been held in the City Jail.

Burial Services Given for Local Investment Man

Funeral services for Harry M. Chapler, a member of a Los Angeles investment firm, who died late Sunday from an attack of double pneumonia, were conducted yesterday afternoon at Forest Lawn Cemetery. The services were conducted by the Masonic Order. The deceased leaves his widow, Mrs. Blanche Chapler, to whom he was married a few months ago.

Mr. Chapler was one of the younger men in the financial district, and was actively identified with the financing of several Southern California business enterprises. He first entered the brokerage business in Columbus, O., and after serving in the Army, through the World War, retired with the rank of lieutenant, and came to Los Angeles. After an association of several months with the investment-banking firm of Carstens & Earles, Inc., he severed this connection, to become a partner of the California Bond & Share Company. He was born in Wabash, Ind.

Local Attorney Given Honors by Bar Association

Andrew J. Copp, Jr., attorney, with offices in the Copp Building, yesterday was notified of his election as a vice-president of the military section of the American Bar Association. He will be the chief officer for the association in the Ninth Corps Area, in which he is a lieutenant-colonel in the judge-advocate's department of the Officers' Reserve Corps.

Col. Copp for fourteen years has been chairman of the military committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and is a veteran of the World War, in which he served in the judge-advocate's department.

The election took place in Cleveland.

LIABILITIES AS WELD

The Kentucky banker who decamped with $50,000 and two women took with him liabilities as well as assets.

THESE PEOPLE

Only the riff-raff and scum of the world are attracted by a reputation for lawlessness, a truth every community in Southern California should keep in mind.

AMONG THE FOOLISH

Aviation will hardly become general and popular until a fool-proof plane has been invented. And it is hard to imagine such a contrivance as being put out by the Fords.

THE STEADY WORKER

An Englishman has worked at one job in a woolen mill for sixty-three years and is now making at least $14 a week. He says he owes his success to his unmitigated industry, but, at that, he would hardly furnish inspiration for an American worker. In this country a man hopes to get a better job after the first fifty or sixty years.

IN GOOD SHAPE

Paris admits that there will be no change in women's shapes this season. This is cheering. Some of us might have feared that our loved ones would come to us in a different form. Most of us had become accustomed to the old shape and to have our women show up in different lines might prove embarrassing. When it comes to the shape of our darlings we are for the status quo.

FURTHER PROGRESS

The soviet leaders in Moscow are going to build a sixteen-story bank building in that city. This sounds like a mighty warm concession to the capitalistic class. This will be the first skyscraper in Russia and it will be a hive of the banking industry. All the progress recorded in Russia has been made in breaking away from Communist influence and getting back to commerce.

LAND OF MYSTERY

The delvers who are ripping open Egypt and other cradles of mankind might spend a lot of time in our own New Mexico. There are sections that would furnish rich entertainment for the archaeologist. There is said to be more mystery under the soil of New Mexico than in any other part of our continent. But it takes more than a can opener and a corkscrew to get at the heart of things there.

THE LEGAL FOGS

We send vast herds and flocks of lawyers to Congress and the various legislatures. They provide an almost unending stream of legislation, yet our laws and our court procedure are the jest of civilization. It begins to look as if we would have to turn to the business men and workers to revise our laws and make our judicial machinery practical in its operation. Our lawyers seem only able to thicken the fog.

THE UNEMPLOYED

It is declared that the roster of the idle in England is swelling at the rate of nearly 40,000 a week and that there are now more than 1,350,000 workers out of employment. The situation is rather gloomy from an industrial standpoint, but it is felt that the patient and resourceful Britons will pull themselves into some phase of prosperity without yielding to the advances of Socialism. There is bound to be much unemployment while the dole system is preserved. That offers shiftless souls an excuse for idleness.

PESSIMISTIC PROFESSOR

Again we are told by the professor that men do not die. They kill themselves. They dig too deep in business. They burn the bright lights. They eat with shameless speed. They drink wantonly. They do a hundred things that are suicidal. That is why not one in a dozen reaches a natural end. The Americans are killing themselves. In 1000 years—at this rate—there will only be a few of us left. We have the professor's word for it. If we would drop our worries and live on simple fodder we might have a chance. But the way we are carrying on opens a bleak future. Isn't it a doggone shame?

FIGHTING FORM

The Democrats are already lining up for the next Presidential campaign in spite of the fact that they almost lost their reckoning as a party in the last battle. The stage seems to be set for a contest between the backers of Gov. Smith and William Gibbs McAdoo. These rivals are as far apart as the two oceans that lave their States. It is hard to imagine them in the same convention. If there were some way of getting them together Democracy might be said to have a shimmer of hope, but it looks as if the rivalry would be a relentless and unappeasable one, with not even the tribute of flowers for the dead.

MEXICO WEEK

Mexico week, the first celebration of its kind to be held in the Southwest, gives concrete expression to the growing spirit of mutual appreciation, co-operation and social and economic unity that characterizes the progressive development of the North American continent. Peace and good will reign undisputed from the frozen Arctic to the warm waters of the Caribbean Sea. No nation, no people fears or is arming against any other. Nowhere in this broad expanse of territory is a single plot of ground in which the seeds of a future war are watched and tended. No other continent in the history of the world has been so free from war and the rumors of war.

Probably nowhere else in the world is the spirit of exalted patriotism so plainly manifest. To love one's country, anywhere in North America, is not to hate one's neighbor. National jealousies have languished and died for want of nourishment. All realize that for one people to be great it is not necessary for another to be less; for experience has proved and education has brought a realization of the fact that the prosperity of each unit is essential to the whole.

What Mexico has accomplished in the last ten years comes near to forming a new record in national achievement; and this accomplishment was made possible because there were men in Mexico who did not hesitate to sacrifice themselves for the public welfare. These men gave expressions to the ideals of the Mexican people. They pointed the way to a greater and higher citizenry, and the mass of the Mexican people courageously followed this path.

Many notable Mexicans are in Los Angeles this week. They have come to accept the welcome of the city of Los Angeles and the people of Southern California to the citizens of the wonderful republic that stretches from the Atlantic to the Pacific along the southern border of our own country, to receive our expressions of good will and to confer with our commercial and industrial groups as to the best means for the progressive development of the whole territory forming the great Southwest. Gen. Obregon, who during ten years has become an international figure, is spending a brief vacation here. A year ago he was President of the Mexican republic. Today he is a private citizen, supporting the government that he did so much to establish and cultivating the acres of his agricultural lands. His voluntary retirement marks the greatness of the man, recalling our own Washington.

Gen. Obregon is no stranger to Los Angeles. He once lived here for a time, and his wife went to school here. He is a distinguished representative of a great and growing people who have established their right to a place in the sun, not by waging wars on their neighbors, but by establishing a reign of law and promoting education and industry in their own territory.

Among the other notables are Miguel Covarrubias, representing the Minister of Foreign Relations; Ygnacio Fernandez Esperon, member of the Department of National Education, and Dr. Glen Levin Swigget, director of the Mexican constitutional contest, which is similar to the national oratorical contest that contributed so much during the last two or three years to a closer study and a better understanding of the government established under the Constitution in the United States.

It is eminently fitting that the week's celebration should commemorate the successful conclusion of the Mexican contest and that the four young men who won first honors should be here as the guests of the city.

Education will determine the future of both the republic of Mexico and of the United States. Where self-determination prevails, where a people as a whole select those who shall make and administer their laws it is a prime essential that the whole people shall be thoroughly schooled in the fundamentals of representative government. Republics are not innovations. They are as old as our civilization itself, older perhaps. In the past they were comparatively short-lived, and modern experience has shown that this was due to the fact that only a small minority in the ancient republics had any idea of what it was all about. Education along lines that build character and promote a more exalted love of country is the safeguard of a republican form of government. The leaders of thought in Mexico recognize this as fully perhaps as in the United States; and it is along these lines that present-day Mexico is developing.

Los Angeles as the metropolis of the territory immediately adjacent to Mexico deems it an honor to be for a week host to our Mexican friends and neighbors. The citizens of Southern California are intensely interested in the peaceful development of Mexico. They seek to cement bonds of friendship and community of interest which shall unite the two peoples, which will disregard political borders and distinctions and will make possible the equal progress of all.

THE GREATEST OF ARMAMENTS

It is impossible to avoid the conclusion that an important thing in the world today is the money which the war-fancying nations of Europe owe the United States. That money is the key to world peace. Holding the world's gold gives a nation in our unique position such power that its might is almost unshakable. Without the character and virtues essential to the right wielding of that power, however, the world would be no better off than it used to be. The hope of the United States is that our virtue will worthily support this vast responsibility.

Two accidents, the World War and the peculiar destiny of a rich and isolated republic, are the cause of the means for world peace which seems now to have been intrusted to us. Great Britain has the character and skill required in such a position in an equal degree, but British proximity to the militaristic pest houses of Europe cripples the nation in the exercise of disciplinary power. Britain is peaceful and peaceable, but she lives too near the railroad tracks to get along without brickbats piled protectively under her front porch. Fighting is liable any time to get across the line.

Britain's will and skill in world peace are great, but she is geographically handicapped. Luckily, her skill and our destiny harmonize into a great force for peace. To subjugate the world is not to abolish war.

We as a people should have little sympathy with the war-loving nations of Europe that have prostituted and perverted patriotism for centuries into nothing higher than an excuse to wear uniforms and avoid working under pretext of making war for liberty. Making war for liberty in Europe is ridiculous. War is made in Europe to give titled loafers and smart ministers a chance to live without toil. It is a political habit, and a bad one. There is only one sound principle of self-determination applicable to Europe and that is the principle of determining every gold-sashed general and uniformed princelet, kinglet, dukelet and countlet to behave himself. If he must be determined with a club, well and good.

The only interest that sensible cosmopolitans have in the war-making nations of Europe is to vaccinate them, by force if necessary, against their war itch.

The Times is a believer in peace as the world's greatest need and is a hater of war because it takes people's lives and money and happiness and gives them nothing in return except a band concert. War, nine times out of ten, is a political gesture, and neither economic or patriotic.

NO KLAN FOR GERMANY

Two Americans, father and son, have been arrested in Germany as the chief founders of secret lodges in that country patterned after the Ku Klux Klan. Literature emanating from the "Order of the Fiery Cross" was found in their possession. The charge against them is conspiracy against the German republic. Berlin cables say the accused men are to be deported. The lodges will be broken up by the government.

Germany has been wrong in not a few things, but in showing a spirit unfavorable to these self-appointed regulators of other people's affairs she is quite right. To let such an organization get a foothold in Europe would be for that country to suffer such a stigma as the Klan has placed upon America in the eyes of the world.

While it is true that no acts of terrorism had as yet been perpetrated by the Knights of the Fiery Cross in Germany, the blood-curdling oath, a close imitation of the American Klan pledge, takes away the breath of most German commentators on the affair. The Berlin press marvels that grown men could take the Klan's mummeries and childishness so seriously, particularly as the men arrested are well educated, one of them a very fluent speaker, being an unfrocked Chicago clergyman. But mummery is not the only stock in trade of the Klan. If those marvelling German journalists knew all the high-handed capers and lawless pranks of the night-shirted order in this country their wonder never would cease.

IN THE SWIM

Women seem bent on swimming across the English Channel. The reason for this remarkable enthusiasm on the part of women is difficult to fathom.

Now if it were a matter of the social swim it could easily be seen why women are the contenders. Can it be in her new-found freedom that woman feels about the English Channel much as Caesar felt about the Rubicon?

"Mere exhaustion would not make a woman give up the channel swim, if it were the social swim," is the opinion of the New Britain Herald.

"Miss Gertrude Ederle is now in a position to appreciate exactly how the Kaiser felt about it in the summer of 1914," says the Washington Post. Miss Ederle is the American girl who almost realized the Kaiser's ambitions.

"We don't know the fare across the English Channel, but from the way people are trying to swim across one judges it is unreasonable, whatever it is," remarks the Kansas City Star. And we imagine the fare for women must be higher than for men. Possibly if France would pay us what she owes us we would not have to swim across.

The Omaha Bee sticks its stinger into the question in this fashion: "The muscular energy expended by a woman who tries to swim the English Channel would darn 456,233 socks or sew on 523,282 buttons or patch the bosoms of 83,211 pairs of trousers."

Who knows but what these attempts of America, Argentine and Egypt to swim the channel may be just try-outs to see what could be done in time of war!

If this be true, the British Isles are comparatively safe. If some enthusiastic soul would devote himself to getting some francs to swim across not only the channel, but also the ocean, America would take larger interest in the feat.

NOT SO CRAZY

The dwellers in Charleston indignantly deny that their city has aught to do in connection with the feverish dance of that name. One of the Aldermen does not even consent to its public indulgence. There is nothing immoral or indecent about it, but he argues that it is simply silly and discordant and should be barred as a wanton waste of worthy time. Anyhow, the South Carolina metropolis firmly refuses to wiggle and cavort to the hectic music of the dance that bears its name.

ADVICE

There is joy in honest labor, I am told
It is comforting to conscience, when it's done—
If the will to loaf is properly controlled,
One begins to know the blissfulness of fun.
It is glorious to rise at peep of dawn
And to toil until some hours after dark;
Till the evil love of idleness is gone,
One can never know the meaning of a lark.

Folks that like to lie beside a running stream,
When they should be up and doing useful deeds,
Folks that like to watch the summer sunlight beam
On the meadows (just for rhyme, let's call 'em meads,)
Folks that hate to rise at half past six a.m.
And who think to lie abed is perfect bliss—
Well—the working world should really pity them,
For they little reck what happiness they miss.

See the workman in the morning with his hod
Brushing with his heavy shoes the dews away,
Joyful fellow—yet it seems a little odd
That he never quite appears to look that way.
See the lucky, lucky lad that brings the coal—
What a fortunate and joyous lot is his!
But he often scowls a bit, for, stupid soul,
He can't realize how happy that he is.

Work—it brings the pallid cheek the hue of health,
Work—it fills the soul with an eternal youth
And bestows, so people say, abounding wealth—
(Though these people do not strictly stick to truth.)
If you shun it, in the end you're sure to be
Both a sluggard and a dull and useless oaf,
So go to it, if you want to, as for me—
Every time I get a half a chance, I'll loaf!

THE PIONEER

From the highlands and the lowlands,
From the distant ports and inlands,
From the cities with their busy marts of trade;
From Atlantic's troubled waters,
From the Great Lakes and their daughters,
From the farms where fame's foundation oft is laid;
From the prairies' wide expanses,
From chill cold and heat that dances,
From arenas where high honor's debt is paid—
Come we to your western glory,
For we've heard the wondrous story
And have sought and found where glories never fade.

Crave we, then, a welcome ever
In this field for strong endeavor,
In your mountains, in your valleys' shine and shade!
And we'll build with you fraternal,
Fame and fortune, life eternal,
In this Golden State that God and man have made.

LETTERS TO The Times

The Real Jenny Lind

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In his recent article, "Which Shall It Be?" Mr. J. J. Lowman failed to tell us the name of the one book he would take besides the Bible, if he were to be exiled for life. But, while we don't know what it is, we do know what it is not. If it were Holland's Biography of Jenny Lind, he would never have included her in his list of "enchanters," "vampires who have held a prominent place in history." Jennie Lind, the "Swedish Nightingale," whose greatest desire was to use the money her concerts brought her to found schools in her own country. She who, when found sitting with her Lutheran Bible on her lap, looking out on the glory of a sunset on the water, was asked by a friend how she could have given up her stage career when at the height of fame and answered quietly, "When every day it made me think less of this," laying a finger on her Bible, "and nothing at all of that," pointing to the sunset, "what else could I do?"

Who later in life took supreme delight in a quiet home life as wife and mother. Is this the stuff that "vampires" are made of? Her name is surely out of place among a list of women, many of whom Mr. Lowman says failed to meet the requirements of Mrs. Grundy. And because of that lack he says they occupy more conspicuous places in history than Ruth, the heroine of the sweetest love story that was ever written.

If that is the price that must be paid for fame, blessed be oblivion!

MARY O. LOTSPEICH.

Law Can Be Enforced

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In your issue of last Sunday Raymond I. Turney asks the question, "Can prohibition be enforced?" That is equivalent to asking, "Is the criminal law-breaking element in this country stronger than our government?"

Can our dear Uncle Samuel, when he is acting concurrently with the individual States, enforce the laws and uphold the Constitution on which this nation was founded, or is our much-vaunted republican form of government a failure?

Has our Federal government been dilly-dallying with the bootleggers so long that they have become so expert in evading the laws and so well organized and powerful that it is now impossible to suppress them?

Is it more important to play the game of politics successfully than it is to preserve law and order and save our nation from disgrace and perhaps death?

What shall it profit a political party to hold the votes and support of the wets and lose all else that is desirable?

Is anyone verdant enough to believe that the richest and most powerful nation on earth cannot enforce its own laws whenever the national administration wants to enforce them and will place the enforcement machinery in the hands of loyal, patriotic men, who will do their duty and not perjure themselves by violating their oaths of office?

GEORGE E. MOREY.

No Diogenes Needed

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] One little six-word ad in your "Lost and Found" columns brought startling results Sunday. I had advertised for a lost cameo pin. Between 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. eight persons called me on the phone announcing that they had found a cameo pin. This proved that "It pays to advertise," that there are at least eight honest persons in Los Angeles and that women were shedding their cameos like the trees their leaves. Oh, yes, I recovered my pin.

RIPPLING RHYMES

IN CANS

"Long ago," said Vampire Varden, smiling sadly through his tears, "we grew fodder in the garden, succotash and roasting ears. Oh, our spuds and beans were winners, we grew turnips by the peck, and our mothers cooked our dinners in the pleasant vale of Heck. All the good yarbs then invented were to growing children fed; there were onions nobly scented, there were carrots white and red; there were squashes in their splendor, there was eggplant crisp and brown, and they all were fresh and tender, cooked before they wilted down. But the world wags on forever and we change our ways and plans; now the housewife, blithe and clever, feeds her people out of cans. All the garden plot is seeded down to grass and other things which no human ever needed since the world was made, by jings. Nevermore the housewife scampers to the garden for a meal, bringing cabbages in hampers, bringing luscious fruit to peel; no, the garden is deserted where the onions used to grow, where the stately rhubarb flirted with tomatoes in a row. In the modern home I've rubbered like a brownie or an elf; there are cans in every cupboard, there are cans on every shelf; cans are piled up to the ceiling, cans are heaped upon the floor, and the modern wife is peeling wholesome garden sass no more. And she wonders while she's pouring dinner from a dozen cans why the cost of living's soaring, knocking out her saving plans."

CHAMBER GROUP ENDS CONCERTS

San Francisco Artists Win High Encomium

Only Strictly Native-Born Ensemble Society

Tower Station Celebrates Notable Engagement

BY PAUL SHEEDY

Playing as one artist on a single instrument, filling the air from the tower studio with the warmth and eloquence of the superlative ensemble rendition of the finest in musical composition, the Chamber Music Society of San Francisco last evening at KHJ closed their three-concert series amid the plaudits of the highest musical critics of the city.

The three evenings of chamber music from The Times station are to remain engraved on the annals of the best in radio broadcast, presenting opportunities for the listeners to hear the best that musical culture can give.

A spontaneous response from the public has greeted this splendid series given through the support and courtesy of the Los Angeles [illegible] Company. Particularly notable has been the flood of expressions from mothers and fathers, extending their gratitude for the opportunity given their growing children to hear the choicest musical gems, played with accurate interpretation.

PREPARE FOR TOUR

Returning to their homes in San Francisco today, the group will immediately prepare for their lengthy list of engagements in the East, where they are to appear in concert in more than fifty cities, taking a prominent part in the annual chamber music festival in Springfield, Mass., and then appearing as the selected organization to mark the opening of the coming session of Congress.

Individual praise last night was bestowed on Louis Persinger, first violin and director; Louis Ford, second violin; Nathan Firestone, violist; Walter Ferner, 'cellist, and Elias Hecht, flutist and founder, in addition to Claire Mellonino, popular pianist of the city's musical colony, who was chosen as the artist to play with the ensemble in its concluding program.

Feature in last night's program was the alto flute solo by Mr. Hecht, a rarity in broadcast. Owing to the mechanical difficulties of construction, this beautiful instrument has been neglected and little music written for it. It is larger than the ordinary flute, and four tones lower, going down to [illegible] of contralto quality, while the ordinary flute is soprano. Many makers have tried to perfect one, and it was only three years ago that William Hayes, noted flute maker, succeeded in turning out a perfect instrument, finally turning it over to Mr. Hecht, who was forced to make special arrangements of music because of the scarcity of compositions for it. His rendition of "Largo" from the Fifth Sonata of Haendel, accompanied by Claire Mellonino, was a thing of exquisite beauty.

NATIVE TALENT

The Chamber Music Society of San Francisco enjoys a unique distinction inasmuch as it is the first chamber ensemble of international distinction which is strictly American. Each artist of the organization is native born. Louis Persinger was born in Rochester, Ill.; Louis Ford is a native of Salt Lake City; Nathan Firestone is a native of St. Paul, Minn.; Walter Ferner hails from Baltimore, and Elias Hecht is a native of Atherton, Cal., a suburb of San Francisco. In the past, prominent American ensembles have always included foreign-born artists.

In the entire history of this country the Chamber Music Society is the only first-rank chamber musical organization whose personnel is entirely native American.

It is particularly gratifying to note that the high artistic standard and splendid performances of this ensemble have attracted the attention of noted composers. Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, leading American woman composer, wrote her splendid These and Variations, Op. 80, for flute and string quartet, for this society. Likewise Arthur Foote, the distinguished Boston composer, wrote his nocturne and scherzo, recently featured on the programs of the Boston Symphony, for the San Francisco organization. Frederick Jacobi of New York, composer of the "Eve of St. Agnes" and other celebrated orchestral works, wrote a beautiful serenade for strings for them. Domenico Brescia, one of the leading moderns, wrote his "Quartetto Andino," as likewise his eclogues for flute and strings, for the Chamber Music Society. Many other compositions, including English, French and German, are now in course of creation and will be dedicated by their composers to the Chamber Music Society of San Francisco.

YOUNG ARTIST SINGS

Yesterday's broadcasting from the tower studio held another bit of loveliness—the remarkable voice of Elsie Wilson, soprano soloist, who appeared on the matinee program of the Pacific States Electric Company with Nicholas Ochi-Albi, 'cellist, and Grace Currey, harpist. Although she has been heard but a few times over the air from The Times, the excellence of her voice is already recognized, but the remarkable thing is that Miss Wilson is only 16 years of age, yet possesses a voice of charm, culture and appeal. Competent authorities declare that maturity will find her one of the leading soloists.

Charles Leslie Hill, fine little 4-year-old reader, who is every bit a boy, and petite Queen Titania, with her Sandman, were the stars of the children's hour last evening, which had the full, feeling voice of Lenore Killian, contralto, in several excellent solos, including "A Mother's Croon," "Cuckoo Clock" and "Dreamland Cradle Song." They were followed by H. M. Robertson with another of his interesting talks on dogs, which have become the criterion for amateur fanciers in the Southwest.

The Piggly Wiggly Girls and Carlotta Fjelstrom, contralto, divided the honors of the noon program from the studio, given through the courtesy of the Piggly Wiggly Stores.

Maj. Lawrence Mott, noted radio authority and owner of station KFWO on Catalina Island, has just announced a new schedule of hours for broadcast. The station is on the air nightly from 6:30 until 7:30 p.m. with orchestra music; daily from 12:30 to 1:15 p.m., and on Sundays from 8:15 until 9 p.m. The special "Golden Hour" programs are given from the studio on Tuesdays, Fridays and Sundays from 5 until 6 p.m.

JUDGE GIVEN CONTEST OF DOZEN HEIRS

Fight of Children and Widow Over Estate of $250,000 Submitted

The contest between the eleven children of Peter Gross and their stepmother over the division of his $250,000 estate was being considered yesterday by Judge Willis of the Probate Court, who took the case under submission after hearing testimony and argument.

Gross was found dead, shot through the head last October 13, after the filing of a suit for $150,000 against him by Mrs. Gertrude Isensee, who charged he had humiliated her by entering into an illegal marriage with her.

He left no will, and letters of administration were applied for soon after his death by Mrs. Hersee M. Gross, whom he had married little more than a month prior. She claimed a widow's third of his estate and in addition an income of $200 a month, which she said he had promised to provide for her by will, by the terms of a nuptial agreement.

Gross's children contested this claim, arguing that Mrs. Gross was entitled only to the income, on the ground that by making a nuptial agreement she had waived right to claim a widow's share. The estate consists largely of valuable apartment-houses in Los Angeles and San Jose.

VALUABLE DOG STOLEN

Mrs. W. Scott Darling, 8237 Dalton avenue, reported to the Sheriff's office yesterday that she had been called away from home for a few minutes by a mysterious telephone call, and that during her absence some one stole her pedigreed police dog, valued by her at $250.

POLICE AID LAST RITES FOR GLASS

Seventh Chief of Local Force Buried Yesterday With Simple Honors

John Malcolm Glass, Los Angeles' seventh Chief of Police, was buried in Rosedale Cemetery yesterday while a guard of honor of high police officials stood at attention in a brief ceremony which followed the funeral service in the Glass home at 4782 South Main street.

Many floral offerings banked the casket during the funeral ceremonies. The Christian Science service was read.

The active pallbearers were George K. Home, former Chief of Detectives, Paul Flammer, Gus Smith, Dr. N. McFarland, James Rouse and Oscar Smith. The police officials who made up the guard of honor for the casket on its way to the cemetery were Deputy Chief Cleveland Heath, Captains Spellman, Jackson, McDowell, Sweeney and Shand, Lieut. Toomey and Patrolman Daniels.

Chief Glass served as head of the Police Department for eleven years, retiring in 1900. He was born in Tennessee in 1841, but moved to Los Angeles when a young man. An illness lasting more than a year preceded his death.

City Help for Night Mission Urged by Chief

That the Midnight Mission at 136 South Los Angeles street and its superintendent and founder, "Brother Tom" Liddecote are of great assistance to the police in suppressing crime by housing homeless and hungry men was the declaration of Chief Heath yesterday in recommending to the Police Commission that the city appropriate $4792 to purchase beds and other equipment for the Mission. The chief said that the Mission makes no charge for its accommodations and that it is supported by contributions, which pay for the care given homeless men who otherwise would be wards of the city and might commit crimes in order to secure lodging and food.

Church Wins in Fight to Have Line Set Back

St. James Episcopal Church yesterday finally won its battle to extend its new $200,000 building on St. Andrews Place near Wilshire Boulevard beyond the present 15-foot set-back line on that street, the City Council reconsidering its action of last week in denying the request of the church for the elimination of the set-back line.

The motion to eliminate the set-back line on the west side of St. Andrews Place from Sixth street to Wilshire Boulevard carried yesterday, nine to three, those opposing being Councilmen Barnes, Moore and Shaw. Reconsideration of the vote of last week was obtained by Councilman Zahn.

NEW YORK HOTEL MAN VISITS IN LOS ANGELES

Thomas D. Green of New York, president of the American Hotel Association, was among the arrivals at the Biltmore yesterday. Mr. Green, who is manager of the Hotel Woodward in New York, owned by Henry Ford, is on a tour of the country to confer with hotel owners in the interests of the organization he heads. His Los Angeles visit will be brief, as he plans to depart for Fresno today. A dinner in his honor was given by James Woods, vice-president of the Biltmore, last night. The guests included about thirty of the leading hotel men of Los Angeles.

BENEFIT FOR INVALID

For the benefit of an invalid Scotchwoman, the Caledonian Club of Los Angeles will give a concert and dance at Symphony Hall, 232 South Hill street, Friday night. Diviva Wood, Bess Morgan, J. Ross McKenzie, John Ritchie, Jack Innes, Jessie Smellie, Celua Davidson, Maude Nicol, Elsie Yuill and Hulda Yuill will be on the program in musical, comedy and dancing numbers.

In the Silent Watches of the Night

You switch off the light in your room—perhaps many stories above the street. In the same hotel hundreds of other guests, like you, are retiring for the night.

Safely you slumber, and soundly; undisturbed by any thought of fire or panic—if the hotel is built of Concrete.

Your peace of mind lies in the knowledge that Concrete has proved itself, in many severe tests, the highest type of fire resistive construction.

Concrete makes possible the utmost in safety and comfort, to say nothing of beauty. That is why hotel and apartment house builders, owners and dwellers look upon it as the ideal building material.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the beautifully appointed affairs of yesterday was the luncheon with which Mrs. Frank Silas Hicks entertained at the California Club in honor of Mrs. James Calhoun Drake, who has recently returned from an extended trip abroad. The table was centered by pond lilies and delicate foliage. Mrs. Hicks and her daughter, Miss Alice Hicks, were for some months in the East and since their return have been at the home of the former's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frank Gross in Chester Place.

Mrs. Drake, who with her sister, Mrs. Mary Wilcox Longstreet, left some months ago for a visit to Italy and the continent, visiting her daughter Mrs. Sayre Macneil and her children, came home a few weeks ago. Mrs. Longstreet remained abroad indefinitely.

The luncheon yesterday afternoon was a "welcome home."

Musical Evening

Mrs. Nora Puterbaugh of Laughlin Park, Hollywood, is giving a musicale Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. Gertrude Ross, who, with her attractive young daughter, is leaving in a month for a year's sojourn abroad. Sol Cohen, the well-known violinist, who has just returned from a year abroad, shares the honors of the evening. Many of the local musicians will contribute to the informal program.

Going East

Another of the attractive young subdebs who is planning to go East to school this fall is Miss Helen Graves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Graves of 209 South Wilton Place, who is leaving Friday for the East. Mrs. Graves is accompanying her daughter and will enter her at the Gardner School for Girls in New York City. Miss Graves graduated from Marlborough School here in June, and was one of the most popular members of her class there.

Returned Home

Miss Louise Czerniski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Czerniski of 209 West Doran street, Glendale, has returned from abroad.

Engagement Announced

Formal announcement is made this morning by Mrs. Jennie Walz Turner of 2002 Las Palmas avenue, Hollywood, of the engagement of her daughter, Miss Marion Turner, to Roger Geoffrey Holm, son of Dr. and Mrs. Peter F. Holm of St. Paul, Minn. The news was told to a coterie of intimate friends of this popular young bride-elect at a bridge luncheon with which Mrs. Turner entertained Friday afternoon. Miss Marion is an old student of Marlborough and a member of the Lambda Theta Phi Sorority there. She has made her home here since she was a tiny little girl of 4 years. Among those included were Miss Martha Marsh, Miss Jane Luton, Miss Maryon Holm, Miss Helen Barry, Miss Maria Staunton, Miss Rowena Thom, Miss Katherine Pauley, Miss Katherine Thomas, Miss Peggy Bernard, Miss Wilma Holler, Miss Janice Payne, Miss Orine Souden, Miss Evelyn Young, Miss Jeane McFarland, Miss Betty Harwood, Miss Harriett Marshall, Miss Teenie Bradley, Miss Virginia Wilson, Miss Mary Stimson and Miss Helen Graves. On account of the recent death of the bride's father the wedding will be a quiet affair.

Skinker-Harrison

One of the prettiest of the fall weddings was that of last evening when Miss Rose Skinker, daughter of Mrs. Charles Robert Skinker of 1836 South Wilton Place, became the bride of Alfred Benjamin Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Harrison of Fourth avenue, the ceremony taking place at the Church of the Messiah, in West Washington street with Rev. Edward D. Gaylord officiating. The church was a bower of chrysanthemums, gladioli and dahlias in the autumn shades of sunset and bronze, red yellow and gold tones, tall cathedral candelabra lining the aisles with lighted tapers. Three hundred guests were bidden.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Harry A. Shortell, wore a becoming gown of ivory white charmeuse embroidered with seed pearls in a rose pattern, fashioned with court train, with straight lines in the back, a circular skirt caught into a soft band girdle with sunburst of seed pearls. The veil of tulle with broad border of rose pointe lace was held in place by a headdress of pearls and orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. The veil was caught to the skirt and train by tiny clusters of orange blossoms and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Francis, wore a frock of silver lace over pink chiffon with silver slippers and pink pearl choker. She carried a shower of pink rosebuds. The bridesmaids, Miss Frances Harrison, Miss Adele Smith, Miss Katherine Reynolds, Miss Carmen Pantages and Miss Jeannette Strodthoff, wore frocks of chiffon in pastel shades with tight bodice and circular skirts. Rhinestone bowknots were appliqued on the skirts and long flowing sleeves and they wore slippers and chokers to match their frocks, with rhinestone coronets in their hair. Their bouquets were of pompom dahlias, delphinium and larkspur, the different shades to correspond to their gowns.

Brunette Jacques was best man and Lloyd Pantages, Frank Combest, Jimmie Smith, Aten Lytle and Rolla Hess were ushers. A wedding supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Pantages in North Vermont avenue followed the ceremony. The bride's mother wore an imported model of pink chameuse embroidered in pearls and rhinestones.

The bride was graduated from Marlborough School while Mr. Harrison is an alumnus of the University of California and a member of the Theta Nu Epsilon Fraternity. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison are motoring through the north on their honeymoon and after a month's trip will make their home here.

In the North

Mrs. Warren Bradley Bovard of West Adams street left Sunday evening for the north, where on the 24th inst., she will assist as matron of honor at the wedding of her cousin, Miss Clare Reynolds and Morris Franklin Rowles in Oakland. Col. Bovard is going up for the ceremony but will return immediately afterward, although Mrs. Bovard will remain for several weeks visiting her aunt, Mrs. F. B. Reynolds in Oakland, and also with friends in Burlingame and San Jose, before returning south.

Home From Outing

After several months' sojourn in Santa Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Robert David Matthews, accompanied by their two small daughters Mary Constance and Natalie Matthews, have returned to their home in Berkeley Square.

From Eastern Visit

Miss Ruth Bendix of Arden Boulevard, has just returned home after six weeks' visit with her father, Vincent Benedix, in Chicago and New York City.

MERCHANT FOUND DEAD BY CLERKS

Motive Lacking in Action of Sporting Goods Dealer; Poison Bottle Found

Though no reason was given for his desire for death, police were convinced yesterday that C. L. Griswold, owner of a leather and sporting goods store at 105 West Third street, had taken his own life. A bottle that had contained poison was found beside his body, with a note that read: "Take body to the R. C. Dellenbaugh undertakers and notify home."

Griswold was found dead by two employees, D. C. Carl and Lee Newland, when they reported for work yesterday morning. Finding the door locked, they called a janitor to open up for them and saw Griswold's body lying on a workbench in the rear of the store. Detective-Lieutenants Craig and Jarvis were called and pronounced the death suicide. Griswold lived at 2033 West Forty-second street.

Bride Entertains at Housewarming

[Oppenheim for National Illustrated News Syndicate]

Mrs. Willard Fenton

MR. AND MRS. WILLARD FENTON, whose wedding was one of the prettily appointed events of July, have returned from their extended wedding trip in Honolulu. Mrs. Fenton, who formerly was Miss Louise Rice of Hollywood, gave a delightfully planned housewarming tea at her new home in North Oxford avenue several days ago. The house was a bower of autumn flowers and foliage.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Timely Tips

Wash hairbrushes in ammonia and water.

Sprinkle linens more than you do other materials.

Always stew the fruit for a child under 2 years of age.

Dried orange peelings will prevent moths and leave a pleasant odor.

Colored cotton dresses should be starched with cold starch and dried in the shade.

Change the Color

If the cotton dress has washed poorly and is faded to a nondescript color, take the rest of the color out by boiling in cream of tartar water. It will result in a perfectly white dress.

White Felt Hats

To clean white felt hats, first remove marks with fine sandpaper. Then rub powdered magnesia well into the hat and let stand for two days. Brush the hat and be prepared for an amazing change.

Have Them Dyed

The light-colored satin slippers are probably soiled and dingy after a hard summer and yet may be in perfectly good condition otherwise. Have them dyed darker shades or black and get a great deal more enjoyment out of them.

Ants in the Refrigerator

We never understand how or why, but sometimes in the warmer weather we discover ants in the bottom of our refrigerators. They can be gotten rid of in a day by scalding well with boiling water and then putting a generous sprinkling of borax in the infested places. Also put some along the edge where the doors close. You will probably never see your visitors again.

In Advance

If it is convenient for you to slice bananas a little in advance of the meal, and yet you are doubtful on account of discoloring, sprinkle lemon juice over them. This will keep them white and improve the flavor.

Ponder Well

Think well before selecting a style of dress just because it looks well on your best friend, first deciding if you are enough alike to chance it. So many women look well all the time because they know their failings as to figure and cater to them when deciding upon clothes.

Small Hints

The dishcloth should be scalded once each day.

Mayonnaise jars are dainty spice holders in the kitchen cabinet.

Steel wool will remove those obstinate stains from china caused by eggs.

Put the wet shoes on shoe trees and let dry away from any artificial heat.

A dry paint brush will get in the cracks to remove dust from carved furniture.

Liquid Cleansers

When using a liquid cleanser that evaporates rapidly, place a clean blotter under the spot to be cleaned and rub on this. The dirt will be absorbed by the blotter and it will prevent the cleaning fluid from spreading over too large a surface.

More Comfortable, Too

Instead of mending worn sheets until they look like maps, use the good parts for pillow cases. You will find it a greater saving and one that will present a better appearance than much-mended sheets.

Dried Fruit

All dried fruit should be carefully washed and allowed to stand in cold water before placing on fire.

Diet and Health

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Not Normal to Gain In Middle Age

Mrs. C.—True, it is usual for people to gain in weight on approaching middle age, but it is not normal and it is not necessary. The gain is attributable to the lessening of physical activities without the accompanying lessening of the food intake. We must remember that the amount of energy food needed is directly proportionate to the amount of physical activities. Otherwise we are going to gain.

It takes but very little over the maintenance diet over any period of time to cause a great increase in weight. For instance, one extra slice of bread (100 calories) and a pat of butter (100 calories) each day amounts to 73,000 calories in 365 days. You can store one pound of fat from 4000 calories. Do a little arithmetic here and see how much you would gain in a year, and in four or five years? You wouldn't believe it, would you?

Here is a little excerpt from a paper by Joslin, one of the famous diabetes specialists:

"The turning point of susceptibility to diabetes is forty-five years of age. Gain in weight in young individuals is natural, but when growth is attained and maturity achieved a gain in weight is dangerous."

(We have a booklet on the subject of losing weight. Send self-addressed double-stamped envelope, plus ten cents in stamps, with request.)

Tobacco—Not So Good

Mr. B.—There is no doubt that tobacco, except in extreme moderation, is harmful, for nicotine, the active principle of tobacco, is a poison. People differ in their susceptibility to this poison.

Cancer of the lip and tongue from the irritation of both the nicotine and the medium by which the tobacco is taken—either the pipe stem, cigarette holder or even the cigar or cigarette itself—is not an unusual occurrence. Now surgeons are beginning to look upon tobacco as a possible cause of gastric and duodenal ulcers. As these may lead to cancer if they are not cured, then we can blame tobacco for some cancers of the stomach, also.

I clipped the following from a health magazine in Battle Creek, Mich.:

"Moynihan, of Leeds, an English surgeon of international renown, lays great stress upon the importance of prohibiting smoking after operations upon the stomach.

"Dr. H. Tyrrell Gray, in a recent article in a British medical journal reports the result of a careful study of a large number of cases of duodenal ulcer, which shows that recurrence of the symptoms after treatment by either surgical or non-surgical measures, is four times as frequent in smokers as in non-smokers. He prohibits smoking in all cases and finds that of patients who abandon the habit, 90 per cent make good recoveries, while of those who continue to smoke, only about half as many, or 45 per cent, were cured."

You can cure yourself of the tobacco habit if you want to. Simply stop abruptly. It is partly a muscle habit—the wanting to hold something in the fingers and mouth—and so it is best not to use any substitute. Some of these substitutes are about as bad as the tobacco itself.

Dr. Gaston Edwards tells me that swabbing the mouth, throat and tongue with a solution of one-quarter of one per cent silver nitrate, once or twice a day, creates an active distaste for tobacco in many of his patients who want to be cured. It makes the tobacco taste rotten, he says. Kellogg also advises this.

Tobacco is particularly harmful to growing animals—boys and girls included.

(We have an article on the subject which goes more into detail. You may have this by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.)

She: "Do you mind if I smoke, darling?"

He: "I don't care if you burn."

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents

My dear Followers: When sending for material we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose ten cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

CHICKEN GIBLETS

Place the chicken giblets left from Sunday's dinner in a saucepan, cover with salted water and boil until tender. Lift and chop in coarse pieces. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and one finely chopped onion; stir until brown, add two cupfuls of strained tomatoes, a seasoning of salt and paprika and cook for thirty minutes. Add the chopped giblets to the sauce with half a pound of cooked macaroni; heat and serve.

RICE PUDDING

Place two cupfuls of cooked rice on a sieve and let cold water run through it; drain for one hour. Butter a pudding dish and dust with flour, cover the bottom with half of the rice, spread over the rice one-third of a cupful of seedless raisins, cover with the remaining rice. Beat two eggs and gradually beat into them half a cupful of sugar and one and a half cupfuls of scalded and cooled milk, add one teaspoonful of grated lemon rind and pour over the pudding. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven until firm in the center. Serve with lemon sauce.

HUNGARIAN BEEF LOAF

Put through the fine knife of the meat grinder half a pound of lean beef and mix with half a pound of sausage meat, half a pound of lean boiled ham, cut in small dice, and an equal amount of bread crumbs. Season with one chopped clove of garlic, one tablespoonful of grated onion, one finely chopped green pepper, and salt and paprika. Mix the beaten yolk of one egg, beaten with four tablespoonfuls of milk and the stiffly beaten egg white. Place in a buttered mold, cover tight and steam or boil for two hours. Unmold on a hot dish and pour around tomato sauce.

POTATO PANCAKES

Mix two cupfuls of cold mashed potatoes with one well-beaten egg, half a cupful of milk, half a cupful of flour, and a seasoning of salt and pepper. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto a hot griddle and bake a nice brown on both sides.

PEARS SHREWSBURY

Place in a saucepan two cupfuls of water, two cupfuls of sugar, and one sliced lemon, bring to a boil and boil three minutes; add six peeled, halved and cored pears and simmer until the pears are tender. Lift onto a plate and set in the icebox to chill. Beat half a cupful of butter to a cream with half a cupful of sugar; add one well-beaten egg and the grated rind of one lemon. Add two cupfuls of sifted flour sifted with one teaspoonful of baking powder and work to a smooth dough; roll in a long strip, cut in even finger-shaped pieces and bake in a moderate oven. Mound the baked strips in the center of a serving dish and arrange around the chilled halves of pears.

SALESMAN IS NAMED BY WOMAN

Accused Denies Attempt When Booked on Charge at City Jail

Charged with attempting to attack Miss Elizabeth Hazlett, 23 years of age, of 2915 Sunset Place, a charge which he denied vigorously, Benjamin Kimball, 26 years of age, said to be a real estate salesman of Baldwin Lake, was booked yesterday at the City Jail, following his arrest by Detective-Lieutenants Barrara and Bain of the Wilshire division.

According to the officers, Miss Hazlett declares he invited her a couple of evenings ago to accompany him to his sister's home at 1506 1-2 Second avenue for supper. She had known him for about six months and had no hesitation in accepting, it was said. When they arrived at the house, according to the story, Kimball's sister was nowhere to be seen, but Kimball at once attempted to force his attentions upon her. Miss Hazlett resisted and in the struggle that followed was beaten severely. She finally managed to escape from the house and ran to safety, then reported the matter to the police.

Kimball, the detectives declare, admitted he was with Miss Hazlett on the evening mentioned but declares he did not attempt to molest her.

No New Cases of Paralysis Reported Here

No new cases of infantile paralysis were reported in Los Angeles yesterday, and there have been none this week to date, according to a statement issued by City Health Officer Parrish.

The official total number of cases reported this month to date is fourteen, and the total reported since January 1, last, is 181. The total for last week was four cases, and the total for last month was fifty-one cases.

Eisteddfod to be Discussed at Conference

Representatives of music, art, drama and interpretive dancing from some forty communities in Southern California will meet at the Fine Arts Building of the University of California, Southern Branch, Saturday, in connection with the Eighth Regional Conference of the California Eisteddfod Association.

Preceding a general meeting for the members of the association at conferences of the art section, Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh of Glendale, chairman, and of the drama section, Mrs. Margaret Barbarick Gillette of Los Angeles, chairman. At these departmental meetings as well as at the general meeting which follows, plans will be formulated for the various district Eisteddfods to be held in Southern California next spring.

At the general meeting of members and the supper which is to follow at 6 p.m., addresses will be given by J. Harold Powers, Mrs. Abbie Norton Jamison and W. J. Kraft.

Writ Asked in Trustees' War at South Gate

Petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the Board of Trustees of South Gate to call an election to pass on the official standing of three of their number was taken under advisement yesterday by Judge Hollzer of Superior Court.

The petition was brought by H. P. Shaefer, suing as a taxpayer, and was said to have climaxed political differences in the suburban district over proposed municipal improvements.

Shaefer recited that petitions calling for an election to pass on the question of recalling Trustees Fred A. Schmidt, Asa Sines and Clarence J. Stirdivant had been duly signed and filed with the City Clerk but that the board had refused to take any action toward calling the election.

Judge Hollzer ordered the case submitted to give him time to study points of law raised by Attorneys Ernest M. Torchia and B. A. Hayne, counsel for the Trustees. Attorneys Person and Rogers appeared for the petitioner.

Men Who Know

Its Blending Properties

Insist on Arrowhead Pale "Dry" Ginger Ale

Made from a Water That's Famous for Purity; The Most Natural Flavor-Carrier in the World.

Connoisseurs know the deliciousness, the perfect mixing qualities and the all-around goodness that's in the famous California Arrowhead Pale "Dry" Ginger Ale.

For it's made from sparkling, clear spring water that seeps through granite two thousand feet above the level of the sea. Such a water, used as a base for only this ginger ale, enhances the flavor and adds health benefits that other ginger ales do not contain.

Added to this water, fresh and natural, is genuine imported Jamaica ginger root, pure cane sugar and flavors from the far corners of the earth.

At their best in Arrowhead, for the natural spring water we use is the ideal carrier for these flavors. You've never tasted a "dry" ginger ale quite so good. You'll vote it the most perfect for blending and the most delicious for drinking alone.

WOODLEY GIVES 'MERGER' STORY

Supervisor Tells of Giving $35,000 to Pair

State Rests Case in Trial of "Ten-for-One" Scheme

Motion to Order Verdict for Defense Up Today

The prosecution late yesterday completed its case against Tom Hennessey and Harry Hibbs, 1000 per cent profit brokers, and the lawyers fell to splitting hairs on a motion for an advised verdict acquitting the defendants.

The motion will be completed today when Superior Judge Hahn will render his decision.

The climax of the prosecution's case came when County Supervisor Woodley, chairman of the finance committee, testified concerning the manner in which Hibbs extracted $35,000 from him for the railroad merger.

After Chief Trial Deputy District-Attorney Fricke and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hamner announced the close of their testimony. Bailiff Bryant hustled away the jury and Clerk Williams staggered from the judge's chambers under a heap of legal tomes used in the argument.

ATTACK INDICTMENT

The prosecution first asked for the dismissal of ten of the forty-six counts, which included that count referring to the loss of former Police Justice Chesebro, and then Paul Schenck and Leo Silverstein, defense counsel, developed their attack upon the remaining thirty-six.

The contention of the defense was that whatever crime the brokers had committed it was not larceny by trick and device, which is the offense named in the indictment, but embezzlement, or false pretenses, or something else again. Meanwhile, a stonecutter on the new Hall of Justice was having a thumping good time.

Mr. Woodley testified he had known Hibbs for twenty years, and still had confidence in him as an honest man. He identified checks for $25,000, and said that he got back others for $10,000. He interested several friends in the railroad merger, he said, and one of them, a Mr. Thompson, invested. For this, he testified, he was given a bonus of 5 points, Hibbs raising his receipt to call for the payment of fifteen for one instead of ten for one. Mr. Woodley completed his testimony in less than ten minutes, and was examined closely by neither the prosecution nor the defense. He recounted only briefly the transaction as it was put to him by Hibbs.

DENIES AIDING PAIR

Samuel C. Matthews, secretary and treasurer of the Western Pacific Corporation of Delaware, then took the stand. Witnesses have testified Hibbs told them Hennessey had a contract with this corporation, which purchased the capital stock of the Western Pacific Railroad, whereby he would be given a commission of $200,000,000 as the result of a merger involving a dozen southwestern railroads.

Mr. Matthews said he had never known Hibbs and Hennessey, and a search of his records revealed no contract or correspondence with them, and that the names of the "big financiers" supposed to be backing the deal did not appear in the files of the corporation.

Mr. Schenck, in cross-examination, asked the witness what he knew of an R. R. Company, a Railway Corporation and a Railroad Corporation, all bearing the prefix Western Pacific.

Horace E. Vetter, a Los Angeles attorney, testified he did not subscribe $10,000,000 toward the inauguration of the merger. His name, with this amount opposite it, appeared in the "little black book" which Hibbs showed prospective investors, and which was supposed to contain the names of the big financiers behind the undertaking.

DEFENSE WITNESS

F. F. Grant, San Diego attorney, testified he did not know Hibbs and Hennessey. Other witnesses said Hibbs told them everything was handled by "Attorney Fred Grant of San Diego." Charles Riemer, District Atorney's investigator, testified concerning the arrest of the promoters and the little black book.

One witness for the defense was heard out of turn, he being Ben Hunter, a Los Angeles attorney. He said J. E. Brokaw brought Hibbs to him to gain advice concerning Brokaw's investment in the deal, and that there was no mention of bribing the Interstate Commerce Commission and Federal Judge Symes of Denver. Mr. Hunter said he advised his client against the investment, as it "looked untrue."

Whether the defense has further testimony to offer, or whether it will rest on the case as presented, was a mystery yestgrday and probably will not be settled until today, when Judge Hahn renders his decision upon the motion of Mr. Schenck.

Wins Suit Over Funds Paid for Hospital Stock

Alice A. Beals, formerly secretary to Superior Judge Fleming, was awarded judgment of $150 against Dr. L. M. Driver by Justice Wood yesterday. She asserted that she had given $200 for a preorganization subscription for stock in a hospital association planned by Dr. Driver, which organization had failed to materialize.

Fifty dollars of that amount had been returned her. The defense introduced evidence to show that the organization of the hospital association had been undertaken in good faith.

DE HAVEN LOSES IN SUIT OVER SONG

Writing a song is work even if it is written in the wrong key, Justice Ambrose decided yesterday in giving Verne Elliott a judgment of $92 in a suit against Carter De Haven, actor. Elliott said he wrote the music of "Doctors Can't Fool Me" for DeHaven and was not paid. DeHaven declared he could not sing the song after it was written and hence had refused payment.

STORK BRINGS SON TO FILM MAN AND WIFE

Mr. and Mrs. Curt Rehfeld were being congratulated yesterday by their friends in Hollywood on the birth of a son who arrived at 6 p.m. at the Hollywood Hospital. Both baby and mother are doing nicely. Rehfeld is a director for First National. He has just completed "The Viennese Medley."

Men With Practical Dreams Are Investing Here!

TWO types of home builders are buying property at Rancho Santa Fé: Men of means who have long visioned the finding of that one ideal California beauty spot on which they could establish lovely country estates and enjoy—free from the turmoil of the city, yet not isolated from its conveniences—the delights of the countryside. And men with lesser means who would build themselves less pretentious homes in an exclusive, restricted, ably-financed community and from their fertile, well-kept fields obtain all or a major part of their income.

If you are one of these two types of careful investors, a visit to Rancho Santa Fé would convince you that there is not, in all Southern California, an area of residential and horticultural land quite so perfectly adapted to the working out of such dreams.

Of course, Rancho Santa Fé has been wonderfully favored. Not only by Nature, for the glorious sea and mountain landscape here, made doubly attractive by the semi-tropical loveliness of San Diego County's famous climate, is a most delightful combination; but in many other ways, too.

This will indicate that Rancho Santa Fé is not, by any means, a strictly commercial undertaking. It is a subsidiary of the Santa Fe Railway; it was conceived by practical idealism and is being developed along modern scientific lines; it is being sold at figures which involve a low original cost plus economic but unstinted development of the most approved type; the objective is to build up a community of beautiful homes and profitable orchards; tonnage for the railroad and the realization that another great California dream has come true will satisfy its projectors.

Here are 9,000 acres. 15 square miles. 53 miles of splendid, surfaced roads. Lake Hodges, impounding 12 billion gallons of water. Electricity for cooking and lighting. A most artistic Colonial-Spanish Guest House, La Morada, for the accomodations of visitors who are interested in this unique community. A beautiful Civic Center, with administration headquarters, offices, store, first unit of grammar school, garage and service buildings. A staff of expert home designers, builders, horticulturists, hydraulic engineers

No home costing less than $5,000 may be built. In some localities the minimum is $15,000. Each purchaser is required either to plant one-third of his tillable acreage or build his home the first year. There is but one Rancho Santa Fé! Make arrangements now with our Los Angeles office to visit this very unusual place!

Choicest Land $300 to $450 an Acre

Rancho Santa Fé is located in San Diego County, 5 miles inland from Solana Beach or 7 miles from Del Mar.

Come in or write us for further information. The Sales Office in Los Angeles will be glad to arrange for you to visit the Rancho.

SANTA BARBARA FUND

The Times will receive, acknowledge by publication and deliver to the authorized agents of the California Development Association any sums sent to this paper as contributions to the $1,100,000 fund to be raised by the association for emergency and charitable work in stricken Santa Barbara.

The Times itself started the fund with a donation of $10,000 and takes this occasion to urge all loyal Californians, individuals, organizations, companies, etc., to give to the extent of their abilities. The need is urgent. Santa Barbara has pluckily refused eastern help in the belief that California will take care of her own. Let her be not disappointed.

Contributions may be made through any bank or newspaper, the Chamber of Commerce or the California Development Association, Garland Building, Los Angeles. If sent to The Times, checks should be made payable to the Santa Barbara Fund.

Up to 4 p.m. yesterday contributions received by The Times were as follows:

QUAKE RELIEF FUND GROWS

Local Chamber Sends $25,550 to be Applied on County's Quota in State-Wide Drive

A total of $25,550 was forwarded yesterday by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to Santa Barbara to be applied against this county's quota of the $1,100,000 State-wide Santa Barbara relief fund being raised by the California Development Association.

Of that amount $1000 was from Glendale and $1292 from The Times. Los Angeles up to last night had contributed, $153,687, while the county, outside the city limits, had raised $40,202, making a total for the city and county of $193,890 and bringing the Southern California contribution to a total of $254,868.

A report received at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday and made public by S. Poulterer Morris, manager of the Los Angeles county campaign, showed that Santa Barbara had received from all over the State, up to Monday night $386,086, of which $5150 came in Monday.

Of that amount $3725 came from Southern California, $500 coming from Pasadena, $408 from San Diego and $2818 from Santa Ana. The remainder consisted of $1142 from Palo Alto, $110 from Saratoga, $50 from Auburn and $122 from Sacramento.

BRITISH NAVAL OFFICERS FETED

Los Angeles Business Men Hosts at Luncheon

Mutual Good Will Between Nations Expressed

English Vessel Commander Praises Southland

Mutual expressions of international good will abounded at a luncheon given yesterday at the Alexandria by a number of Los Angeles business men in honor of officers of the Capetown and Patrician, British warships now in Los Angeles Harbor. The luncheon began with a toast to the President and one to the King and British people. It ended with a toast proposing that the English-speaking races rededicate themselves to the welfare of the world. Representatives of the United States Navy, Army and marines sat with the sponsors of the luncheon. It was attended by about 100 persons, representing the nucleus of Los Angeles' group of leaders. The dining-room was ablaze with color decorations of the republic and empire.

Presiding Justice Finlayson of the District Court of Appeal, was chairman of the luncheon. He opened its formal part by proclaiming honor to "our blood cousins from across the sea" and said Los Angeles is proud to have present "these of the empire as her guests."

CITY IS PRAISED

Capt. Knowles, who commands the two vessels, explained that they had come to the west coast through the Panama Canal to attend the California Diamond Jubilee at San Francisco, and to Los Angeles on pressing invitation.

"This is the last United States port we visit," Capt. Knowles said, "and it is one of the wonders of the world. I do not believe the people of Great Britain have any idea of your greatness—staggering greatness. It would be quite impossible to find hospitality more spontaneous and generous. We enjoy it. A meeting like this does a great amount of good. You have extended to us and to our men so many courtesies and we wish to thank you very much."

Perry W. Weidner, who welcomed the visitors on behalf of the United States, paid compliment to "the wonderful work done by the British navy during the World War" and commented that "we, like you, are interested in constitutional government, which makes so much for happiness among liberty-loving peoples."

"We welcome you for the men you are and as the representatives of a kindred people, whose achievements have made so much of the progress of the world," said Leslie D. Henry, who extended greetings on behalf of California. Mayor Cryer, who was to have spoken on behalf of Los Angeles, did not appear.

EDUCATOR SPEAKS

"We are decidedly related," said President Von KleinSmid of the University of Southern California, "not only by blood, but by psychology and institutions and the hearts of our countries beat in unison."

Dr. Von KleinSmid pointed out that not a single military post exists on the thousands of miles of border between Canada and the United States and held that situation up as an example of the "determination of two great nations that amity shall prevail between them." He mentioned some of the recent misunderstandings between England and the United States, but said "deeper than these issues is the consciousness that if the Old World is to roll on in fulfillment of its destiny England and the United States must work together. These two countries must assume the leadership of the world now to bring about a condition of welfare among mankind."

Louis Sentous, Consul for France, was a guest at the luncheon. H. E. Beard, acting British Consul, and Ernest W. Browne, secretary of the British Club, were present.

"I have found no more romantic country in the world than California," Capt. Knowles said in his speech.

The call for the luncheon was signed by A. M. Chaffey, W. M. Garland, George I. Cochran, H. M. Robinson, W. W. Mines and A. Boresby White, secretary.

Sailors from the British ships visited the First National studios yesterday and met Colleen Moore, Dorothy Mackail, Barbara La Marr, Lewis Stone, Victor McLaglen and other well-known motion-picture people. They watched the filming of several scenes and were themselves filmed by cameramen who followed them about the lot. John McCormick, general manager of production, and Colleen Moore spoke to them during a short program in which the Charleston and other dances featured.

Operatic Stars Will Broadcast in Song Tonight

Marcel Journet and Tita Schipa will broadcast operatic selections this evening from KGO, Pacific Coast General Electric Station, according to announcement by Sherman & Clay, local representatives of the Victor Talking Machine Company. Joseph Pasternack, chief musical director of the Victor company, will direct an orchestra of thirty-two members of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

Journet will sing three operatic arias, including the "Serenade of Mephistopheles," and also will sing Faure's "The Palms." Schipa will give two operatice numbers and "Princessita" and "O Sole Mio."

CHAIRMEN APPOINTED FOR DRIVE

Largest Department of Chest Organization Now Completed

The largest department of the Community Chest organization, including eleven committees, is now complete, with the announcement last night of the naming of three chairmen by Harold Janss. Janss is head of the educational publicity department of the Chest.

Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, City Superintendent of Schools, was named chairman of the school co-operation committee; James G. Warren, chairman of the church co-operation group, and Mrs. Nichols Milbank, head of the agency co-operation committee.

The other chairmen, previously named, include John G. Mott, chairman of the speakers' bureau; Mrs. J. B. Lorbeer and C. A. Dykstra, heads of the club co-operation committee, Arthur Strasburger, chairman of the window display committee; Joe Toplitzky, chairman of the theater coloperation committee; Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the film co-operation committee; Frank E. Barham, chairman of the press co-operation committee, and Glenn Harper, chairman of the film exhibitors' committee.

Former Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe, head of the team organization department of the Chest, will announce many of his colonels within the next two days. Each colonel is to have charge of a district, with 281 workers assisting. The entire team organization will number nearly 14,000 persons in the forthcoming campaign.

Dates for the appeal have been set from November 9 to 19. During this time workers will canvass a territory larger than the combined area of Boston, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Newark, Oakland and San Francisco.

Man Overboard in Storm Saved by Quick Work

Washed overboard in the height of a tropical hurricane, Krugger Felt, a seaman on the steamer Lena Luckenback, was picked up again and brought back on board within fifteen minutes, officers of the Lena Luckenbach reported on her arrival at this port yesterday. As the vessel is fifty feet from her davits to waterline, the lowering of two small boats and the rescue of a man in that time in the teeth of a terrific wind and sea is considered a remarkable performance.

The loss and rescue of Felt took place the morning of the 18th inst. while the vessel was off the West Coast of Mexico. The hurricane lasted for three days and battered many vessels severely, but the Lena Luckenbach showed few signs of it. She came from New York with a large and valuable cargo. Capt. A. W. Jorgensen is her master.

WRITING AGAIN

WILLIAM DE MILLE WRITES NEXT STORY

By Grace Kingsley

It is all very fine to be a director, but authoring, too, has it charms, thinks William De Mille. And so thinking, he sat down not long ago and dashed off a new story for the Paramount films. This story he thinks so much of that he will make it his next feature, rather than "Polly of the Ballet," which he had intended making.

Bebe Daniels, therefore, isn't going to play a ballet girl, as formerly intended, but will appear in the star role of the new William De Mille story, which is tentatively called "Magpie." The story tells of the troubles of a girl crook after she gives of her career of crime. The story sounds dramatic enough, but we are assured that it will have much comedy in its make-up.

William DeMille

Violet Clark, who not so long ago wrote the scenario of "Not so Long Ago" for Paramount, will adapt this story to the films. Production is scheduled to start on October 5.

William De Mille's "Strongheart," "The Woman," "The Warrens of Virgina" and other plays made him one of the country's best-known playwrights before he entered the realm of motion pictures and, because of his standing as a dramatist, he new screen play will be awaited with unusual interest.

Another fascinating bit of news issuing from the Lasky studios is to the effect that Ernest Torrence has returned to Los Angeles from Atlantic City and will prepare for a featured role in "The Golden Sin," which Raoul Walsh will direct.

This actor and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., have been having a joyous time making personal appearances in connection with the Atlantic City beauty pageant. Not that either, of course, was a contestant for honors, Torrence merely portraying King Neptune, while young Fairbanks disported himself as Triton, Neptune's son. The two spent an enviable several days as hosts to the eighty beauties who participated in the national contest for Miss America, won by Fay Lanphier, a California girl.

Miss Lanphier has been signed by Famous Players-Lasky Corporation for the title role in "The American Venus," which is to be finished in technicolor.

LLOYD HUGHES WILL BE OPPOSITE STAR

The combination has been working so well that it has been decided by John McCormick and Colleen Moore that nobody but Lloyd Hughes can suitably fill the bill as leading man opposite Miss Moore in her next picture. Wherefore, McCormick, who is general manager of First National productions in the West, announces that Hughes will have the leading male role in the film version of "Irene," Miss Moore's next starring vehicle. Hughes has been in many of Miss Moore's recent pictures, including "Sally," and "The Desert Flower."

Lloyd Hughes

Miss Moore is to begin work on "Irene" early next month, and Hughes, who is now in New York City for First National, will shortly return to the Coast. John Francis Dillon will direct the picture. Dillon has made many pictures with Miss Moore, the outstanding recent production being "We Moderns," which is now being cut and made ready for the star's next release.

"Irene" is to be made along pretentious lines and is considered to be most excellent film material. Rex Taylor is working on the script under the editorial direction of June Mathis. James Montgomery wrote the musical comedy from which the picture will be taken.

William Russell Flits

That ardent bridegroom, William Russell, finds that it isn't going to be necessary for him to remain all alone in California, after all, following the departure of his fair wife, Helen Ferguson, for New York. He has discovered that it is not only convenient but well-nigh imperative that he go on to New York, too.

William Russell

The reason, or excuse, or whatever you want to call it, which is making it necessary that Russell go east is an offer to appear again on the stage. Several months ago he was offered the starring role in "What Price Glory?" when it was to be staged in Chicago. But Russell was engaged in screen work then and could not leave. However, another stage opportunity has been tendered him by a New York producer, and it is quite possible he may accept. He has also received a couple of bids to star in pictures to be made in the East.

Barrymore's Sabatini Story

The Warner Brothers have taken their time about picking out John Barrymore's next story, but after due consideration and the considering of a whole library of books, they are now ready to announce what that story will be. It is "The Tavern Knight," by Raphael Sabatini, and is said to have as its central character the most fascinating yet conceived by its author.

Not only will Mr. Barrymore have an opportunity for display of his acting ability, but he will also be able to display his talents as a swordsman. He is an expert with the foils, but in no picture to date has he had the chance to show what he can do along this line.

"The Tavern Knight" will be made soon after the completion of "Don Juan," which latter is to start under the direction of Alan Crosland within a fortnight.

Clever Situation in Chaplin Comedy

Charlie Chaplin and Mack Swain

Principals of "The Gold Rush," now showing at the Egyptian.

John Barrymore, Bess Meredith, Alan Crosland and Maude Fulton have left for Santa Cruz Islands to whip the final script of "Don Juan" into shape. Mary Astor, who is to have the leading feminine role, is expected to arrive from New York the early part of next week.

Chase Chases Shadows Away

In this sorrow-laden old world it cannot be charged that Charley Chase isn't doing his bit to chase dull care away. No sooner had he completed "The Wooden Wedding" than he began work on another picture at the Hal Roach studios. The new comedy is not yet named.

Fairbanks Secures Experts

As usual, Douglas Fairbanks isn't taking any chances with the technical side of his picture. He has employed a number of experts to see that everything about "The Black Pirate" is shipshape.

You never thought of such a thing, I suppose, as a pirate expert, but all the same Fairbanks has unearthed one. He is Dwight Franklin, known as the outstanding authority on pirate lore in the United States. Franklin has devoted years to the study of pirate traditions and history, and the history of ancient weapons. He has a number of models in the Metropolitan Museum in New York, including the Penshurst Castle group and the Byzantine group. He has just returned from an extensive trip in the Galapagos Islands at the equator, where he headed an expedition of scientists.

Assisting in the drawing of costume designs is Anders Randolf, the clever artist who paints for fun and acts for a living. Anders is also playing a leading pirate role in the picture.

Doris Niles Leaves

Doris Niles, dancer and character actress at the Capitol Theater in New York, has returned to the East following a visit here to Mrs. Niles Pease, her grandmother. Miss Niles was accompanied by her sister, Cordelia Niles, who is an instructor of dancers at the above-named theater, and by her mother, Mrs. Florence P. Niles.

Alec Francis's New Make-up

Alec B. Francis says that he is never going to be vain any more. He has exchanged the boiled shirt for a gray flannel one and a flimsy black tie, this being a part of his costume in the new Jack Ford picture, in which Francis plays the role of a parson.

Works While He Plays

Warner Baxter returned yesterday from his vacation at Hermosa Beach, but he spent his month of rest in a rather unique manner. Every day he motored into town to direct the redecorating of his pretty Spanish home on South Beachwood Drive. A patio and gallery have been added, which make the place as romantic as any palace of old Spain.

Broadcasting Said to Cause Film Streaks

Is radio menacing the making of motion pictures? Is a mysterious static ray, lately apparent, caused by the increase in broadcasting stations?

These are startling questions facing picture producers with the appearance, in apparently unexpected film, of little streaks, like miniature lightning flashes, that are causing considerable worry among camera men.

At first the streaks were thought to be caused by static electricity generated by the motion of the film in the camera, which sometimes occurs, but lately the phenomenen seems on the increase.

Elmer E. Sheely of the technical department at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios is working on the theory that radio broadcasting may in some way have wrought the change.

"We know that when the old regenerative sets were the vogue they sent back waves from their antennae that bothered reception near them," he says. "It is conceivable that these waves were akin to so-called static electricity, as their effect on radio reception was much the same.

"In studios, where heavy current and much wiring is present, it is possible that radio broadcasting sets up an induced regeneration of the same kind. This might render the unexposed film susceptible to, or perhaps a generator of, static. Anyhow, it's an interesting problem for radio amateurs to work on."

So far studio officials assert the damage is more of an annoyance than a loss, as only a few inches of film are ever affected at a time.

MODERN JUNK SALVAGER

Electricity is an efficient salvager. Electric cranes equipped with electromagnets handled great quantities of metal junk at the nation's 3000 scrap yards. The larger sections of scrap are chewed up in enormous electric shears or smashed with a tremendous electric "skull-cracker." Nearly half the manufactured steel of the country comes from reclaimed iron and steel junk.

Kathryn Perry starts work this week in the fourth of the "Helen and Warren" series, in which she enacts the role of Helen.

Barbara Brown Will Return to Majestic Cast

Michael Corper, Majestic Theater producer, announces that he has just signed Barbara Brown, long a favorite with Majestic audiences, on a long-term contract as a member of his stock forces.

Her first appearance will be in support of Edward Everett Horton in "What's Your Wife Doing?" the stimulating farce comedy by Herbert Hall Winslow and Emil Nyitray billed for its opening performance next Sunday afternoon, following the four weeks' run of "The Sap."

Miss Brown has scored many successes in ingenue roles in association with Horton, under Corper's direction, so it was natural that when he took over the management of the Broadway playhouse he should at once take steps to bring Miss Brown back as a member of the company.

Miss Brown's sparkling personality will have full play in "What's Your Wife Doing?" in which she portrays a hot-headed young wife who agrees to be found in a compromising situation with Jerry Warner (Edward Everett Horton) so that a divorce may be easily obtained.

MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM CHOSEN BY 'MASQUERS'

Negotiations have just been concluded whereby the Memorial Auditorium, corner Hawthorne and Highland avenue, one block south of Hollywood Boulevard, has been leased by "The Masquers" for the scene of their first annual "Masquers Revel." This is to be a Hollywood replica of the famous "Lambs' Gambols," of New York, as "The Masquers" is to Thespian circles in Hollywood, what "The Lambs" is to footlight devotees of Manhattan.

Fred Esmelton, secretary-manager of the club, this week announced the complete committee in charge of the entertainment. Earle Foxe is chairman, with Ned Sparks, Sid Grauman, Victor Schertzinger, Lynn Cowan and Jack Pierre as aides. Stage directors already named are Paul Scardon, Frank Bond, Arthur Ford and J. M. McClusky.

FEARS REPUTATION OF BEING "UPSTAGE"

Patsy Ruth Miller

The motion-picture star has certain problems to face, which the public does not usually appreciate, according to Patsy Ruth Miller, who has recently been elevated to that coveted position by Warner Brothers.

"Chief among these is the fact that a star must guard continually against being considered temperamental, 'uppish,' or whatever you wish to call it," says Miss Miller. "As a featured player, an actress, for example, may make any reasonable request from a producer and she will simply be considered a shrewd business woman, but let a star make the same request and she will likely be considered as 'upstake' and unreasonable. Again, if a star refuses to make a personal appearance or attend a certain social function — which she may have every good reason in the world for not caring to do—she becomes snobbish in the eyes of the public."

"Personally, I feel the same today as four years ago, when I first started in pictures and I am certain that if we could read the innermost thoughts of most of our so-called stars, they would be found just as human as the average person."

Leonard Mudie Come to Stage From Bank Cage

Leonard Mudie, juvenile in "White Cargo" at the Wilkes Orange Grove, leaped to the stage from the somewhat novel entrance of a bank teller's cage.

"I have always had the lure of the stage in my blood," Mudie says. "I dubbed around in summer stock during college vacations, but when I finally left college I went to work in a bank. As a bank clerk I must have been good as an actor. Anyway I didn't remain long in the bank but secured an engagement with a stock company in the Middle West.

"I spent two years in Los Angeles studios, played with most of the stars of that period, had parts in Nazimova productions. One day I met Thomas Wilkes. He sent me to Denver to join the Wilkes Stock Company at his Denham Theater.

"Those were the days of my apprenticeship. Appearing in one part while rehearsing for another is strenuous training. Pictures grew to be inconsequential after that. I grew to love the feel of an audience before me."

"Then I went to Chicago to play in Wilkes productions there and to take a fling at musical comedy in 'Topsy and Eva.'"

Mudie's triumphant performances in "Outward Bound," "Meet the Wife," and "White Cargo" are current histories in various cities. He is playing effectively the difficult role of Langford in "White Cargo."

Los Angeles Girl Returns Home in Playhouse Show

A "home girl" has come back to Los Angeles to lend her grace and charm to "Little Nellie Kelly," the typical Cohan musical comedy now on at the Playhouse.

She is Una Fleming, one of the principal dancers in the tuneful piece. Miss Fleming is a product of Los Angeles dancing schools—and she believes they are destined to become among the most famous in the world. Though she has not appeared here for the last six years, her family lives here and this city is her home.

Her professional career began as a dancer in a vaudeville act on the Orpheum circuit and from that she "graduated" into leading roles in such well-known musical comedies as "The Velvet Lady" and "The Sweetheart Shop." She has also appeared in films.

'Lady, Be Good' to Celebrate Anniversary

Edward D. Smith's speedy musical comedy, "Lady, Be Good," will have it's one-hundredth performance at the Mason Theater next Monday night, and having passed the century mark, will redouble it's efforts to excel the record made by its little sister "No, No, Nanette."

T. Roy Barnes and Kitty Doner, the featured principals of the show, have not made up their minds just yet as to the manner in which they will commemorate the one-hundredth performance, but it is safe to say that they will introduce some novelty in celebration of the occasion.

Incidentally, next Monday will mark the second time that an Edward D. Smith musical show has played one-hundred consecutive performances at the Mason.

Morosco Cast Rebels Against Savory Orders

Members of the cast of "Whispering Wires," at the Morosco, yesterday were preparing to file a complaint against a restaurant situated across the alley in the rear of the theater to compel the proprietors to desist from cooking savory corn-beef and cabbage during theater hours.

Gavin Gordon, leading man, headed the movement. "When I got a whiff of that enticing corn beef and cabbage yesterday as I approached the theater, I couldn't keep my mind on my work!"

In the meantime, Gordon is doing his best to have the troublesome odors discontinued.

WRITERS' CLUB SEASON OPENS FRIDAY NIGHT

On Friday and Saturday nights the Writers will offer their first program of plays for the current season. This inaugural bill contains five offerings and will be enacted by stage and screen players of note.

In the cast of "The No 'Count Boy," by Paul Green, will be Leslie Fenton, Gertrude Short, Lloyd Corrigan and Jane Beckley. Fred J. Butler will direct the piece, which, as presented by the Little Theater of Dallas, Tex., was awarded first prize in the 1925 Belasco Little Theater Tournament. "The Poem of David," by Ben Hecht and Kenneth Sawyer Goodman, will be directed by Edward Sloman and interpreted by Belle Mitchell, Emily Earl, Arthur Lubin, Mike Donlin and Kenneth Chryst.

Alfred Cohn, chairman of the Writers' dramatic committee, will offer his play, "Semper Fidelis," with Marjorie Bennett, Robert Ober and DeWitt Jennings, who will also stage the play.

"On the Old Vamp Grounds," from the pen of the local publicist, Joseph A. Jackson, will be played for the first time in Los Angeles and will be enacted by Carmel Myers, Martha Mattox and Theodore Von Eltz, under the direction of Fred J. Butler. Allen Clay Hoskins, popularly known as "Farina," will make his stage debut in Jackson's play.

Lupino Lane, the comedian, will offer in collaboration with Brandon Tynan, the novelty playlet "The Play's the Thing." Assisting Lane in the staging of this unusual offering will be Mitchell Lewis, Wallace Lupino and Joe Cox.

The Writers are urging early reservations as the advance seat sale for the season's opening program is exceptionally heavy.

Theodor Von Eltz has completed the first week of his featured role in "The Red Kimono," Mrs. Wallace Reid's new production.

BROWNE TO GIVE LECTURES

Maurice Brown, internationally known as one of the two founders of the little theater movement in America, at the conclusion of a successful summer course in acting and directing at Denishawn, has been invited to conduct a series of autumn classes under the auspices of the University of California. This work, which is under the extension department, will begin the 28th inst., some of the classes being held in the Metropolitan Building and some in the Play Production House on the university campus, on Vermont avenue. "The House Into Which We Are Born," by Jacques Copeau, is in course of preparation by the group comprising the summer class, and its presentation some time during October will be the first American production of the play.

Mr. Browne, distinguished as a poet, lecturer and playwright, as well as director, has of late been identified with the Theater of the Golden Bough, at Carmel-by-the-Sea. Last winter he and his Carmel group brought two new and interesting productions to Los Angeles, "The Master Builder," by Henrik Ibsen, and "The Ship," by St. John Irvine, which were given in the Los Angeles High School auditorium. In April Mr. Browne presented his own play, "The Mother of Gregory," before both the Ebell and the Friday Morning clubs.

MARGARET GOETZ TO GIVE OPERA STORIES

Opera stories, with the principal arias by well-known resident vocalists, will be given Saturday night at Chickering Hall under the direction of Miss Margaret Goetz. The repertoire of the Los Angeles Opera Company, appearing at the Philharmonic Auditorium, will be used. It includes "Rigoletto," "Carmen," "Aida," "Cavalleria Rusticana," with "Lakme" and "La Navarraise," which will be especially featured.

Katherine Meisle of the Chicago Opera Company, will be guest of honor, and Alice Harrison, Lucile Gibbs, Agnes Kraemer, Fern Fitzwater, Margaret Flint, Ernest Pilcher and Benjamin Wheatley will assist Miss Goetz.

The public is invited and the hour is 8 o'clock.

MEXICANS HONORED AT MOROSCO THEATER

American thrills were enthusiastically received by Mexican spectators last night, when the school orators from Mexico, together with civic representatives, were entertained at "Whispering Wires," through the courtesy of Henry A. F. Schroeder, manager of the Morosco Theater.

When the Mexican party filed into the specially decorated boxes prepared for them, the orchestra immediately struck up the air of the Mexican National Anthem, occasioning great excitement. The play, which has a strong note of mystery throughout, was well received.

MAE IN "FREE LIPS"

Mae Warren has been on the Metro-Goldwyn lot this week, in "Free Lips," which Hobart Henley is directing for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, with Norma Shearer and Lew Cody as leads.

Studio AND Stage

With the location shooting schedule of "Fifth Avenue" about completed, for which production the A. H. Sebastian Company journeyed to New York under the direction of Robert Vignola, Sally Long wired her housekeeper to get things read for her return, that the company was leaving the eastern metropolis in time to arrive in Los Angeles to continue production at the Hollywood studios on October 1. For several years previous to entering pictures Miss Long was one of the most popular players on the New York stage. She also gained fame with Ziegfeld.

Clara Horton has been engaged to play opposite Fred Thomson in his latest F.B.O. western special, tentatively titled, "All Round Frying Pan." Miss Horton joined the Thomson company on location last week at Simi, Cal., where Thomson has been using a historic 16,000-acre ranch for exterior scenes. It marks Miss Horton's return to the F.B.O. lot after an absence of two years, she having appeared as lead with George O'Hara in the successful H. C. Witwer "Fighting Blood" series.

Antonio Moreno is on his way home with Mrs. Moreno. He is due to arrive in Hollywood within three weeks, if plans made just before he completed his part in "Mare Nostrum" for Rex Ingram are carried out. He had then booked passage for the 15th inst. and made arrangements for a last visit with his mother in Spain.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

TRICK GOPHER PREDICTS RAIN

Annual Stunt of Van Nuys Rodent Presages Deluge for This Winter

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, Sept. 22.—Abundant rains are expected to fall over San Fernando Valley this fall and winter, according to one local sign that has never failed since Van Nuys was laid out fourteen years ago.

In the heart of the business district is a gopher and a gopher hole that has persisted while the town has grown up and around.

Only a few times during the year does the gopher come to the top and throw out his dirt. In his autumn appearance, if he shows after October 1, according to records that have been kept, light rains may be expected for the next five or six months. If before October 1, old-timers chase home, batten down the family hatches and sit tight for the deluge to come.

While several pioneers looked on today the old gopher emerged from his hole, cocked his eye at the hazy horizon and ducked down again.

The augury is sufficient.

Pasadenan Has Plan to Provide City Auditorium

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Sept. 22.—A plan to build Pasadena's municipal auditorium, the third unit of the Civic Center, without the aid of another bond issue was submitted to the Board of City Directors today by A. A. Patterson, real estate dealer. The proposal, if adopted, would solve a problem that has been troubling the directors for several months.

Funds voted for the Civic Center last year will be practically exhausted by the construction of the new City Hall and Library, before the third unit of the center is even started. Mr. Patterson's plan provides for a combined civic auditorium and Masonic temple, which would provide a suitable location for the Masons and at the same time rid the city of a great expense.

The people of the city would be opposed to another bond issue, but at the same time they appreciate the value of a civic auditorium, Mr. Patterson said, in support of his plan. A combined civic auditorium and Masonic temple has been worked out successfully at Toledo, O., he pointed out.

The directors took the suggestion under advisement.

PAVING BASE BEGINS

Alhambra Traffic Rerouted To Avoid Inconvenience

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Sept. 22. — The work of laying the base of the new Main street paving will be started tomorrow morning, it was announced today by the contractors, the Hall-Johnson Company. For the past three weeks the paving operations have been confined to constructing the gutters, curbs and culverts. Throughout the entire two-mile length the street is to have a five-inch asphaltic concrete base with a two-inch asphaltic-concrete top.

During the time the street is being paved traffic is moving over the Pacific Electric right of way so that the inconvenience to motorists has been greatly reduced. It is the intention of the city to keep the street open as much as possible while the work is in progress.

The same contracting firm has just completed the paving of Elm street.

FAILS TO REACH VERDICT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 22.—After waiting a week for its deliberations the jury in the case of Harry Winchell of Brea was unable yesterday to agree whether he was innocent or guilty of an attack upon his own daughter, 15 years of age. The jury was discharged by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams late yesterday, having been out all day with no prospect of reaching a verdict. Chief Dep. Dist.-Atty. C. N. Mozley signified his intention of proceeding with another trial of the case, the date of which will be fixed next Friday.

UNTER GETS STIFF FINE

Deer Shooter Makes Double Mistake and Pays Out $500 in Court

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

—R. W. Mattison, Anaheim nimrod made a "spike" buck in Trabuca Canyon Sunday. 500. The first mistake was when the deer and Mattison failed to observe the famous waiting to "see the whites of their eyes."

game warden promptly arrested them both, but the younger Mattison was later released. The father pleaded guilty before Justice Morrison today and made his excuse, which was not accepted by the court.

Mattison was fined $500 for his violation of Section 626 E of the State game laws. In connection with the fine today Justice Morrison pointed out an amendment to the section in question, which, this year, makes an offense of killing a deer that does not have both horns formed. Previously one forked horn was enough to make a deer lawful prey, but now the bucks must be "four-pointers."

ORANGE COUNTY DEVELOPMENT DEPICTED AT FAIR

Featured Exhibits Show Possibilities and Actualities

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 22.—The development of Orange county from a sagebrush waste as the German pioneers found it in the fifties to a leading productive center of the world was graphically presented here today, when the Orange County Fair pridefully opened its doors to the universe with its famed products in expansive array.

In the rose-bowered entrance salon of the exposition, surrounded by the blooms of the floriculture division, Senator Samuel M. Shortridge conducted the opening ceremonies. After calling attention to the remarkable achievements of the county, as evidenced in the show, he made a plea to the residents to continue their fruitful labors by developing Orange County Harbor as one of the greatest natural resources the region had.

On the platform with the Senator were Thomas H. Talbot of Huntington Park, chairman of the Board of Supervisors; H. A. Lake, president of the Orange County Fair and also head of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the county; A. M. Stanley, director-general of the fair, and other fair officials.

The entrance to the exposition is through a tropical garden, with an aviary of rare birds as the centerpiece for bowers of dahlias, roses, zinnias and other seasonal plants set off with artistic trellising by the leading landscape artists of the county.

Featured exhibits include a mammoth display by Garden Grove, presenting a huge English walnut with a miniature orchard of orange trees in the foreground, banked with colorful displays of oranges, lemons, pomegranates and other products of the trees.

Cypress, a tiny community on the borders of Los Angeles county, won the admiration of the crowds with a clever exhibit presenting Uncle Sam on the top of the world on a pedestal skilfully embellished with fruits preserved in glass and the natural products of the vicinity. Every person in the community lent a hand in fabricating the exhibit.

Other noteworthy community displays included La Habra, whose products were set off with garlands of dahlias; Tustin, which presented the community's best in a bower of corn stalks. The manufactured products of the county were featured in a huge co-operative exhibit. The extension division of the University of California displayed cleverly wrought graphic charts with live poultry and eggs incorporated to teach the value of selection of productive animals and birds.

The industrial division presents more than 100 expansive exhibits of the products of the county manufactured in the four-score factories within its limits, including many displays of citrus by-products.

The live-stock division features an extensive roll of pedigreed animals. The County Farm's prize Holsteins and a comprehensive exhibit of Jerseys from the D. Eyman Huff stock farm attracted attention in the dairy division. The county's Berkshire hogs was a leading display in the pig division.

Interest in the pet-stock show centered about Princess Beatrice and her family of nine Llewellyn setters entered by Mrs. D. Eyman Huff of Hughes Park. More than fifty dogs were exhibited.

The poultry division presented 400 coops of birds and the pigeon division was the largest probably ever assembled in the county, with more than 500 birds on display.

Equestrian stunts, including potato races, steer riding and bronco-busting featured the opening of the daily rodeo program. The allegorical pageant-play, "The Birth of an Empire" had its opening performance tonight.

MAY TEST POOL HALL LAW

Ontario Council Locks Horns With Club Manager Over Question of Charge for Play

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ONTARIO, Sept. 22.—Legal action on the part of the City Council seeking to prohibit the Ontario Pastime Club, recently established at 220 North Euclid avenue, from operating under its present plan was seen today in the Council's stand as laid down to Austin Jones, club manager, that the provisions of the city ordinance prohibiting the operation of pool tables for hire and profit are being violated through the charging of fees for their use in the club.

Mr. Jones declared the club is being operated under a State charter, that only members are permitted to use its pool and billiard tables and that he believed he was entirely within the law.

Members of the Council, however, took the stand that by admission of the club manager the city ordinance is being violated, and it was strongly intimated that a test of the matter is to be made in the future.

Public pool and billiard halls in Ontario were banned by a vote of the people several years ago, and subsequent attempts to repeal the law prohibiting them have failed. Members of the Council, therefore, take the position that side-stepping the intent of the ordinance through the formation of a club is an injustice to those who were forced out of business by the law's enactment.

Intention of the Council to call a bond issue at an early date to raise necessary funds for the acquiring of additional water, water-bearing land, a reservoir, pipe lines and other equipment, was seen in the adoption of a resolution setting forth this need, and in the approval of an option given by J. R. Johnson on a tract of seventeen acres of water-bearing land at Euclid avenue and Dessau street, to be purchased by the city, in the event the bonds carry, for $18,500. The preliminary resolution did not, however, fix the specific amount to be raised by bond.

BAKERSFIELD PEAK SCORED IN BUILDING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 22.—Calling for the expenditure of $30,910.72, a permit was granted by City Building Inspector R. H. Hubbard late yesterday afternoon to Bakersfield Community Hotel Corporation for the installation of plumbing in the hotel building at Seventeenth and K streets. The permit, however, was but one of two dozen issued during the past twenty-four hours, the total value of which reaches a peak of $42,520.97, which is the highest figure shown by the building inspector's record for any single day this month. Of the permits taken out today, twelve were for electrical work calling for a total expense of nearly $3000.

BAKERSFIELD BEGINS NEW STREET CAMPAIGN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 22.—The most active street building campaign that Bakersfield has undertaken this year, and which will give to the city twenty blocks of fine paved streets by November 1, is now well under way, according to statements issued by City Engineer W. D. Clarke today. Within three weeks the Union Paving Company will begin laying pavement on Chester Lane from Oleander avenue to Oak street, it is said, thereby giving a new entrance to the city from the southwest and an improved northern boundary to Sunset Park subdivision.

Sea Lions Wreck Fishermen'sNets, Bring Huge Loss

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 22.—Enormous herds of sea lions, roaming the fishing banks from San Diego to Turtle Bay, are not only scaring fish away from their usual haunts, but daily are destroying thousands of dollars' worth of nets, according to reports received here by the State Fish Commissioner.

Andrew Castagnola, skipper of the fishing schooner, Catterina M., reports that while fishing near Turtle Bay, he hauled in a halibut net containing forty-three baby seals. Other fishermen report that as many as a dozen seals have been enmeshed in their nets at one time.

At the present time the seals cannot be killed by the fishermen in California waters under penalty of $100 fine and imprisonment.

Rate Reduction on Cottonseed Will be Sought

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 22.—Appearing before the California Railroad Commission in Los Angeles Friday morning, the 25th inst., the California Cotton Seed Oil Company of Los Angeles will attempt to have Southern Pacific and Santa Fe cotton-seed shipping rates from Bakersfield to Los Angeles reduced.

Fresno and Bakersfield interests, the latter represented by the Bakersfield Civic Commercial Association, will appear as interveners, taking an opposing stand on the basis that such a reduction, without a corresponding reduction of San Joaquin Valley rates, for shipping between all points from Bakersfield and Fresno, would kill an infant industry of both Fresno and Bakersfield, namely that of cotton seed oil manufacturing.

POMONA STUDENTS GO TO TEACH IN MEXICO

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CLAREMONT, Sept. 22.—With the departure of Miss Julia Wagner of Claremont and Miss Rebecca Burdorf of Fullertotn for school work in Mazatlan, Mex., Pomona College has sent four graduates into educational work in the southern republic. Miss Wagner and her classmate, Miss Burdorf, have gone to teach in La Escuela del Pacifico at Mazatlan where the former is principal, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Lorbeer, who graduated in the class of 1924, are now at International College in Guadalajara. Mr. Lorbeer is professor of English and physical education. His wife is also teaching English. A number of Mexican students are also being educated at Pomona, preparing themselves for work among their own nationality.

MULE PICKS NICE LAWN TO DIE ON

And So Tenaciously Did His Mortal Body Tussle With the Restless, Out-bound Spirit That the Greensward Was All Mussed Up and Kicked Full of Holes

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Sept. 22.—Indignation is seething in the bosom of Sanford Anderson, president of the People's Building and Loan Association, due to the fact that a common mule of uncertain antecedents had no more regard for the proprieties than to die all over the lawn of the palatial residence of the local financial magnate at 214 Spruce street, this morning.

The mule added insult to injury by timing his preliminary mortal struggles at an hour when Mr. Anderson is usually completing his beauty sleep by forty winks more with sweet dreams of 8 per cent money.

In other words, it was 6 a.m. when the thoughtless mule began to unwind this mortal coil. This was evidently so snarled, however, that the lawn and shrubbery came out second best in the struggle between the Grim Reaper and the mule.

The police, a veterinary and everything but the fire department was called by Mr. Anderson in his efforts to get rid of the animal at the earliest possible moment, if not sooner. The mule is, or was, the property of D. F. Faubian, Van Nuys contractor, working on the grading of the new Potrero Country Club.

LA CRESCENTA GETS PERMIT FOR BANK

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LA CRESCENTA, Sept. 22.—A permit for the establishment of a national bank in La Crescenta, near Los Angeles street and Michigan avenue, has been received here and sufficient financial backing for the institution has been obtained, it is announced by John DeMoulin, one of the bank's promoters. It is stated that the bank will begin operation by the first of the new year. Local residents will be invited to become stockholders, the remainder of the stock to be subscribed for by the organizers.

OXNARD SUGAR PLANT RUN TO END OCTOBER 17

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Sept. 22.—According to tentative plans, the 1925 sugar campaign of the American Beet Sugar Company factory here will be over on October 17, it was announced here today. If this schedule is carried out October 14 will be the last day for hauling beets. This will give the factory a seventy-one-day run, longer than last year. The output will be around $25,000 sacks of sugar.

OXNARD HAS FRENCH GUN FOR PLAZA

Antiaircraft Weapon Recaptured from Fritz to Grace City Park

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Sept. 22.—Battle-scarred, rusty, but still showing portions of war-time camouflage, a French antiaircraft gun, one of many given to various communities throughout the nation by the government, arrived here today by special truck from Los Angeles Harbor. The big gun, weighing a ton and a half, was lifted off the boat and loaded into the truck.

W. O. Fleischer of Oxnard personally supervised the shipping of the war relic to Oxnard. Four months have elapsed since the Oxnard Trustees put in a bid for a piece of war craft.

The City Trustees are proud of the new addition to the City Park. The Trustees will decide tonight just where the gun is to be placed, either in front of the public library or in the Plaza. It will be painted and reconditioned before being put on display.

The gun was manufactured by the French government, used in the World War, and captured by the Germans. The Germans used it for a time until the Americans recaptured it, later sending it to the United States.

Santa Barbara Roundhouse in Mission Style

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 22.—The first railroad roundhouse ever constructed in the world from other than conventional plans is to be built in Santa Barbara by the Southern Pacific, according to plans made public here today.

The structure is to be fashioned after an old coliseum and will be plastered and tinted in hues corresponding to the new Santa Barbara type of architecture. The railroad has consented to co-operate with the city planners and the first big structure seen by travelers from the south will be a tile-roofed roundhouse with palm trees growing around it.

GIRL VICTIM IN CRASH TO BE BURIED TODAY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Sept. 22.—Little Dorothy Lee Perkins of Armona met death in an auto accident in Fresno last Sunday. After visiting in Dinuba, the family had gone to Fresno. The Perkins car collided with a car driven by H. C. Cervenka of Fresno, and despite the fact that both cars were being driven slowly the little girl was hurled from her mother's lap through a windshield, a jagged piece of glass gashing her neck and severing the jugular vein, causing the girl to bleed to death. Mr. Perkins, father of Dorothy, absolved Cervenka of all responsibility at the inquest in Fresno. The funeral will be held here tomorrow afternoon. Her grandfather, L. D. Perkins, is a merchant of this city and Armona.

INGLEWOOD WILL GIVE BELL TO HARBOR BODY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Sept. 22. — A bronze bell, big enough to make the welkin ring, will be presented to the Harbor District Chambers of Commerce, an organization of local chambers and improvement associations approximately fifty in number, by the Inglewood Chamber, to be used at the regular monthly meetings. The gift is conditional, however, with an agreement that these gatherings adjourn promptly at 10 p.m., that politics be eliminated and no speaker hold forth for more than twenty minutes. The bell is similar to that used by luncheon clubs and can be used to call time on too verbose orators.

LETTON HEADS MERCHANTS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MONTROSE, Sept. 22.—W. R. Letton of the Letton Lumber Company, has been elected president of the Verdugo Hills Merchants' Association, to succeed A. E. Sullivan, who has served since the inception of the organization. E. E. Laughrey was elected vice-president, and George Wales Ferrand, secretary-treasurer.

HEARS GROAN OF MURDER VICTIM

Pasadenan Calls Police to Find Snoring Night Watchman

[By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.]

PASADENA, Sept. 22.—Grewsome moans breaking the silence of the midnight air terrified C. L. Wells, manager of Stephens & Co., as he was mailing a letter in the postoffice at the witching hour of midnight.

Mr. Wells stopped in his tracks and listened. The building was deserted and dark, save for a tiny light high in the ceiling. The ghastly sounds continued to issue from behind a glass partition. They grew louder and more agonized. A postal clerk was being brutally choked to death!

Shuddering, Mr. Wells ran to the street. Not a person was in sight. As he stood on the postoffice steps, the horrible death rattle again froze the current of his blood. Convinced that murder was being done, he ran four blocks to the police station.

With sirens screeching, a squad of officers sped through the streets to the building. Entering with drawn revolvers, they—

Awakened the night watchman, who was snoring loudly!

Upland Plans Reception for Lion Delegates

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

UPLAND, Sept. 22.—Preparation for the entertainment of more than 200 visitors slated to visit this city Friday in connection with the convention here of the officers' association, fourth district, group two, Lions International, was going forward today among members of the Upland Lions Club.

Although the association numbers only the officers of the various Southland Lions clubs, every member of each den in the district has been invited to attend.

The program will open with a tournament on the links of the Redhill Country Club in the morning, followed by luncheon at noon at the Sycamores. The afternoon will be devoted to a business session for the men, with golf and bridge tournaments and motor drives provided for the women of the party.

Climaxing the day will be a banquet at the Sycamores at 6:30 p.m., when District Governor Jack Riley of Los Angeles, and Deputy District Governor Earl Newmire of Huntington Park are to be the speakers of the evening. The evening will close with a dance in the Sycamores' ballroom.

CREDIT MEN'S HEAD TO SPEAK AT INGLEWOOD

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Sept. 22.—Ralph W. Watson of Spokane, president of the Retail Credit Men's National Association, is to be the speaker at a banquet to be given in his honor on Monday evening, October 5. He will be the guest of the Inglewood Credit Association, which is planning the dinner, to which business men, not only of the Centinela Valley cities, but also Redondo, Hermosa, Manhattan and other beach communities are invited. Because at the time arrangements were made Inglewood was the only Southern California credit organization with a 100 per cent membership in the national body, the local association was given the honor of having first choice in the date for receiving the new head of the national association, according to C. R. Hutchinson, the secretary.

CHILD DIES OF PARALYSIS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 22.—The first victim of infantile paralysis in Santa Barbara county is William Oliviera, 14 years of age, Portuguese youth, who died in the County Hospital. There is one other case in the county, that of his sister. Both lived near Buellton, fifty miles north of Santa Barbara.

"FIG TREE JOHN" COMES TO TOWN

He's Indian Chief Who Aided Fremont's Men

Has Records to Prove Ripe Age of 127 Years

"Do Right; Don't Eat Too Much," His Rule

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Sept. 22.—Chief Juan Razon, better known as "Fig Tree John," chief of the small tribe of the Agua Dulces Tuba Indians living on the Colorado Desert on the edge of the Salton Sea, was a visitor in Redlands today. John is 127 years of age, and hale and hearty. He is now visiting friends on the Morongo reservation near Banning and was brought here by Henry Matthews, a life-long friend.

John has many papers, which will help to prove his age. His eyesight, teeth and hearing are good. He says there is but one rule for long living, "Do what is right and do not eat too much."

GREW FIRST FIG

His nick name comes from the fact that he grew the first fig tree in the south at his ranch at Agua Dulces Springs on the western edge of Salton Sea. There in the desert he has lived his life as his father and grandfather before him.

His mind is packed with memories. He remembers the time when, but a boy, he saw a strange dust hovering over the desert. As he went toward it he found strange white men clad in peculiar garments of blue cloth. They were almost dead from thirst and from the burning sun. Young Juan brought water to them and led them to shelter.

They were Fremont's men that had become lost.

FOUGHT WITH FREMONT

He remembers also that raiders came over the border from Mexico and drove away the Indians' horses and stole their cattle. This was later, in 1846. Learning that Gen. Fremont was operating against the Mexicans, Chief Juan headed a little party of braves to find him. When the Colorado River had been reached and Fremont's men had been located, Chief Juan guided them to Warner's ranch and thus took part in the Battle of San Pasqual.

VALLEY'S BABY LIMA BEAN HARVEST BEGINS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

RESEDA, Sept. 22.—Reports are being received here, at Van Nuys, Owensmouth, Zelzah and other towns in the San Fernando Valley bean areas, that the harvesting of the baby lima crop has begun and will continue for several weeks until all acreage has been garnered and the beans threshed. As has been given out at various times, the baby lima crop this year is expected to be about 60 per cent of the normal yield, because of adverse conditions during the growing season, and because of lack of irrigation water while the Los Angeles aqueduct was temporarily impaired following several cloudbursts in the Owens Valley section. There were 15,000 acres planted to beans this season. At one time it was asserted that the crop shortage would amount to about $1,250,000. Later, this estimate of loss materially was lowered by those in charge of the valley marketing associations.

AUTOPSY SHOWS DEATH DUE TO NATURAL CAUSE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Sept. 22.—Following an autopsy this afternoon at the mortuary of F. A. Utter & Son, it was announced that Michael J. Teahan, 27 years of age, a collector for the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, who was found in a dying condition by the roadside in San Gabriel yesterday, died from natural causes. The man had been suffering from tuberculosis, resulting in a hemorrhage, it was found. The body will be shipped to Chicago, where a sister, his only relative in America, lives. Teahan died yesterday while being rushed to the Alhambra Hospital. It was at first thought he had been struck by an automobile as his head and face were covered with blood.

NEW TRUSTEE SWORN

MAYWOOD, Sept. 22.—Oscar E. Johnson, who was recently selected as a member of the City Board of Trustees, has been sworn in, and is now police commissioner of the city. He took the place of James S. Packard, who recently resigned.

GLENDALE CHEST DRIVE SET

Campaign to Raise $45,000 for Community Charity Fund Scheduled to Begin October 12

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Sept. 22.—The Glendale Community Chest will start its annual drive the week of October 12. The goal of this year's campaign is set at $45,000 and the list of beneficiaries includes the names of sixteen organizations. The budget committee has authorized the following amounts for the various organizations:

American Red Cross, $3000; American War Mothers, $200; American Legion Auxiliary, $400; American Legion, $3000; Boy Scouts, $8500; Bureau of Catholic Charities, $2000; Children's Hospital Auxiliary, $1200; Community Service, $4500; Girl Scouts, $3000; Glendale Welfare Council, $2000; California Junior Republic, $500; Protestant Welfare Association, $1000; Salvation Army, $2000; Travelers' Aid Society, $300; Women's Christian Temperance Union, $300; Young Men's Christian Association, $8500. The budget also provides for a contingent fund of $4500.

The American Legion has been added to the list of beneficiaries with the object of raising the quota set for Glendale in the raising of the endowment fund for orphans of veterans, and the Travelers' Aid Society is also added this year. The campaign will be conducted by teams appointed by a number of local organizations and the city will be covered in a house-to-house canvass that will insure the teams visiting every residence, instead of concentrating their efforts on the merchants and business men, who have borne the brunt of the drive in former years.

Headquarters have been established at 414 East Broadway, with Capt. D. Ripley Jackson, Glendale postmaster, in charge of the campaign. The cost of collection and administration will be held down to the lowest possible percentage of the amount collected, the services of a professional organizer having been dispensed with in this year's drive.

Through the exercise of rigid economy, the amount to be raised this year has been reduced $5000 below that of last year, which was $50,000.

Income Property

TO REAL ESTATE AGENTS AND OWNERS. Have just completed four 7-rm., 2-story stucco residences, having divided large corner, into four separate lots. Houses are well designed, complete in every detail and of 1st class construction. Each house has its own driveway, garage and rear yard. Income on leases, $4800. First-class tenants. Appraised value of property $44,000. I could take in exchange up to about $20,000, good close in unrestricted lots, (prefer corners) or a small piece of old business property that by remodeling I could improve and increase value. This is a deal you can conscientiously recommend to any shrewd client, as the property will stand close inspection and within a year will increase in value, being in Hancock Park. 5718 W. 4TH ST. 5722 W. 4th st. and 400 and 404 S. Cloverdale, nr. R cars, 2 blks. N. of Wilshire. Open for inspection. Owner, DRexel 3019.

PAGEANT WILL LURE CROWDS

Number of Artists to Lend Services

Auditorium Being Changed Into Opera House

Special Settings Prepared for Varied Program

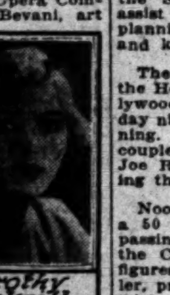
A record attendance is expected at the Jubilee Pageant at the Olympic Auditorium on Saturday evening, October 3. One of the greatest collections of stars ever gathered in Southern California will present a bill as attractive as it will be varied. For this occasion the Olympic Auditorium is being transformed into an opera house. The elaborate settings for the opera "Manon" will serve as a background for the array of artists who appear, and perfection in acoustics has been attained.

Carmel Myers

The Olympic Auditorium was donated for the Jubilee Pageant by President J. M. Danziger and his associates. Danziger and Harry M. Pollok, vice-president of the auditorium and chairman of the amusement enterprises division of the Southern California Forward Movement, have inaugurated several changes in this great building which will make for perfect appointments.

Rubber padded carpets on all the cement runways, additional ventilation to the already capacious system, new lighting effects and other changes have been made.

Getano Merola, director-general of the California Opera Company, and Alexander Bevani, art director, who have contributed the scenery which will later be used during the opera season, have spared no pains in arranging the settings. Giovanni Grandi, famous for his Milanese creations, considers this setting for for Manon his triumph.



Dorothy Mackaill

In addition, many other gorgeous settings and investments will be used for the Jubilee Pageant. L. E. Behymer and his associates have made possible the presentation in costume of the entire chorus of the California Opera Company and are arranging the announcement of operatic soloists of international fame.

Natalie Kingston, who appeared at the Writers' Review and the Wampus Frolic, is preparing a special number for presentation on the program.

Sally Rand will lead the great Charleston group of dancers, each of the ensemble having attained fame in this spectacular dance.

Carmel Myers, famous Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, will sing some new songs.

Dorothy Mackaill, First National star, for the first time since she left her dancing role in the Ziegfeld Follies will create and present a new dance number.

Bert Lytell

Joan Crawford, Rita Carita, Anton D'Algy, Dorothy Devore and many others have accepted invitations to appear on the program.

Bert Lytell will be master of ceremonies, and the names of famous stars will be announced from day to day.

The transformation of the Olympic Auditorium into an opera-house, while provided for in the original designs of the building, is being done in an elaborate manner.

Unique in the history of events of this kind, every seat occupied will represent a bona-fide purchase. Every cent obtained from the seat sale for the Jubilee Pageant will be turned over to the Southern California Forward Movement and will become part of the $1,000,000 fund which is being raised and which will be used by the All-Year Club and the Chamber of Commerce to overcome unfair attacks on this region and to attract to these parts a greater volume of tourists and investment travel.

The co-operation which Chairman Harry M. Pollok and others of the amusement enterprises division are receiving from all interested in amusement enterprises in this section is illustrated in a letter received by him yesterday from Sol. Lesser of the West Coast Theaters. The letter reads:

"I wish you to feel at liberty to command me in any way where you feel that either the company or mself individually can help the Southern California Forward movement. Sincerely yours, Sol Lesser."

The seat sale for the Jubilee Pageant which opened on Monday at Birkel's music store, 446 S. Broadway, was greeted by hundreds. Reservations over the phone are taxing the Birkel forces, whose services are being contributed to the occasion by the management of the Birkel store.

Commemorating, as it will, the 150th anniversary of Los Angeles's settlement by a white man and sponsored, as it is, by the Southern California Forward movement, the Jubilee Pageant on October 3, will mark another milestone in the progress of the community.

BULLETS FOUND BURIED IN SAND

Ammunition Cache Along San Gabriel River Uncovered

Jim Bryant, prospector, struck it rich in lead and powder when he uncovered a cache of ammunition while looking for sand for the Warren Brothers, construction contractors, along the San Gabriel River near Downey, southeast of Los Angeles.

He informed the District Attorney's office and Investigator Charles Sprankling went to the scene. Sprankling found 400 rounds of rifle and revolver ammunition wrapped in newspapers dated August 7, last.

All is peaceful along the San Gabriel, and the purpose of the ammunition is a matter for guesswork only.

NEWS OF THE CAFES

Temporary headquarters of the new Breakers Club at Santa Monica have been established in the Ship Cafe in Venice.

Harry L. Lewis and George Bowman, two of the principal organizers of the new beach club, have made arrangements with Ward McFadden to the effect that Breakers Club members will be accorded special courtesies when visiting the Ship Cafe. McFadden will assist the new organization in the planning of the club dining-room and kitchen facilities.

The Greenwich Village Cafe in the Hotel Christie building in Hollywood will hold its usual Wednesday night dancing contest this evening. The prize to the winning couple is to be a surprise. The Joe Robkins orchestra is furnishing the music.

Noontime dancers have shown a 50 per cent increase with the passing of the summer season at the Cafe Lafayette, according to figures compiled by Harry M. Miller, proprietor of the Wilshire district restaurant. During the summer months despite the cooling breezes from Westlake Park, midday devotees of Terpsichore spent more of their luncheon hours in eating than in fox-trotting. Miller's auditing department, in checking noon dance numbers, discovered that where 100 formerly danced every dance, now 150 customers relax to the alluring strains of the Cafe Lafayette jazz band.

The Oaks Tavern at Fourth and Hill streets was the recent scene of two large private parties. One hundred salesmen of the Shell Oil held a get-together affair there. The other large private party was held by A. B. Cotes of 1818 West Ninth street, attended by seventy-five friends.

Rod Loring's Oak Tavern Syncopaters Supreme and Miss Betty Abbott, the girl baritone, are regular attractions. Frank Reiter is the proprietor of the Tavern, and also is the owner and operator of the Mission Inn in San Bernardino.

With Clarence Brown, director of Rudolph Valentino, as guest of honor, and with Citron's big autumn fashion show from the Metropolitan Theater displayed by living models, as an added attraction, Eddie Brandstatter is planning to present a most notable program at his Hollywood Montmartre this evening. Mrs. Brown, the wife of Director Brown, will act as hostess for the evening.

Brandstatter arranged with F. L. Newman, managing director of the Metropolitan to stage the fashion shows this evening after its presentation at the theater where it is being offered in conjunction with the showing of the Paramount production, "The Trouble With Wives." The newest creations in milady's fall apparel just received from Paris, and valued at thousands of dollars will be on display this evening and will be worn by the most beautiful models to be found in Los Angeles and Hollywood.

The Montmartre presentation will be directed by Ruth Collier. Prof. O. L. Moore will act as master of ceremonies for the evening. In addition to the other features there will be staged an impromptu vaudeville entertainment in which a number of stage artists will participate. James McGee and Dolores Eline, dancing team, will give an exhibition. A dancing contest will also be held.

ROAD CAMP FUGITIVE ARRESTED IN SEATTLE

Frank Brown, under arrest in Seattle as a burglar, has been identified, Capt. Peoples of the Sheriff's force announced yesterday, as Frank Elliott, who escaped from the county road camp here on January 26. Capt. Peoples said an attempt will be made to extradite him in case the Seattle authorities do not hold him, as a test to determine if escape from a road camp is an extraditable offense.

THIEF GETS JEWELRY WHILE WOMAN ABSENT

While Mrs. C. N. Bates, 618 North Irving Boulevard, was showing a flat to a young man yesterday, a burglar entered her room and stole jewelry valued at $1000, she reported to police. The burglar is believed to have been an accomplice of the youth, who left without leaving an address.

ANGELENOS ON GLEE CLUB

Thomas F. Bailey, sophomore student at the University of California, registered from Los Angeles, and George Potter, sophomore, registered from South Pasadena, were among twenty-six songsters and entertainers who were elected yesterday to membership in the Varsity Glee Club, it was announced on the Berkeley campus. The members were selected, according to officers of the glee club, on their merits as proved in tryouts and past experience.

RAIDERS GET HUGE STORE OF ALCOHOL

Dry Agents Batter Doors Only to Find on Entrance Factory is Deserted

Battering down the door to a window-shade manufacturing establishment at 1429½ West Thirtieth street, Federal prohibition agents led by Ray S. Adams late yesterday afternoon raided a rubbing alcohol distillery and seized a 100-gallon still, 185 five-gallon cans of "Rubalcol" and "Lincol," medicated alcohol, and forty gallons of the pure distilled product that agents declare was ready for sale to bootleggers.

Not a person was on the premises at the time of the sally, but clews held by investigators are expected to lead to an arrest today.

Purchases from wholesalers of the rubbing alcohol in truckloads led the prohibition officials to the window-shade concern. The alcohol, when distilled, is declared by chemists to be perfectly pure and suitable for internal use.

Ben Fields was arrested late Monday night by prohibition agents and arraigned yesterday before United States Commissioner Turney on a charge of transporting fifty-seven quarts of liquor in an automobile. His examination was set for this morning at 10 o'clock and he was released on $1000 bail.

C. K. Sherman, captain of the "Nigger Boy," who was fined $500 several months ago for participation in an assegted rum-running plot, yesterday paid the remaining $250 of his penalty. He was given an extension of time to remit after he had paid the first installment in court immediately after sentence.

ATTORNEYS PASS STATE BAR TESTS

Five Admitted on License From Other States, Eight on Taking Examination

Thirteen attorneys were admitted to practice before the State bar yesterday in Division One of the Second District Court of Appeals, Justice Conrey presiding. Five were admitted on license from other States, and eight were admitted on the recommendation of the State Board of Bar Examiners following a recent examination.

Prominent among those admitted yesterday were George DeForrest Home, nephew of George K. Home, former chief of detectives, and Albert E. Marks of Youngstown, O., who formerly was connected with the Attorney-General's office in Washington, D. C.

Those admitted were William G. Bonelli, Arthur P. Lord, Austin C. Sherman, Bayard R. Rountree, William Melbury Smith, Raymond J. Kirkpatrick and Harry J. March by examination, and Oak Nolan, A. A. Garrett, Albert E. Marks, Benjamin H. Neblett and Robert E. McFarland on license from other States.

AUTO TRUCK COMPANY TO BUILD HERE

Factory Branch Will be Erected by Cleveland Motor Concern

An automobile truck and motor-bus factory branch, to employ between 100 and 200 men, and requiring an investment eventually of several hundred thousand dollars, will be opened by the White Company of Cleveland, at 3851 South Santa Fe avenue, it was learned last night from G. A. Urquhart of San Francisco, a vice-president of the company.

The branch will serve Southern California from Santa Barbara to San Diego, Arizona and the State of Sonora in Mexico. It is intended eventually to exceed the San Francisco branch, which employs about 150 men and represents an investment of $750,000, Mr. Urquhart said.

He announced that J. L. Sydnor, who has been manager of the San Francisco district for the company, will have charge of the local branch. Mr. Sydnor already is on the ground here. Mr. Urquhart has charge of the Pacific Coast area for the company.

The site of the local branch is a part of the property on which is located the Richsteel Products Company. It has been leased by the White Company.

"It is the national policy of the White Company," Mr. Urquhart said, "to establish factory branches to service and look after White machines wherever they are used in numbers. The growth of our business in Southern California makes this extension in Los Angeles a necessity in order to maintain White standards of service to purchasers of White machines."

STOCKHOLDERS LOSE MONEY RETURN SUIT

Stockholders in Petifil's Confisserie who wanted their money back failed in their legal action when Judge Guerin yesterday handed down a decision for the company, after hearing evidence in the stockholders' suit for recision. The plaintiffs were Florence and G. C. De Garmo, and several other shareholders, whose similar suits had been consolidated. They sought to prove that they had purchased shares as a result of representations that the company was earning a profit of 20 per cent a year. After hearing the testimony Judge Guerin ruled that no misrepresentation had been practiced by the company. Transcripts of the testimony were ordered by the plaintiffs, indicating that an appeal will be filed.

COUNTY'S LARGEST BOOTLEG COMBINATION TIPS SCALE OF JUSTICE FOR $1 PER POUND

Shylock and the rest of the story about the pound of flesh received curious confirmation yesterday in Judge Crail's court, where the largest bootlegging firm in Los Angeles county was fined $1 a pound. In addition, two members of the firm — one might almost call it a corporosity—will serve time in the County Jail, the third being released so there will be somebody to look after the children.

The firm consists of Mrs. Annie Raich, who tips the scales at 425, her son, Louis Raich, a mere toy in comparison, but still weighing 290, and her daughter, Mrs. Christine DePuliz, who helps uphold the family traditions by making the pointer creak its way to 335 when she steps on the platform. They hail from 3726 Brooklyn avenue, Belvedere.

It will be noted that 425 plus 290 plus 335 totals 1050.

All three appeared before Judge Crail and pleaded guilty to selling intoxicants. Mrs. Raich had a record of two previous convictions in justice court, on each of which she had paid a fine of $500, so Judge Crail fined her $750, which she paid, and added ninety days in jail for good measure. Louis Raich was fined $150, which he paid, and will serve thirty days, while Mrs. DePuliz, in consideration of the welfare of several smaller DePulizes—was fined $150 without any jail sentence. She paid.

It will be noted that $750, plus $150 plus $150, totals $1050.

When Sheriff Traeger heard of the affair, however, he began to wonder if th efines will be sufficient to meet the board bills of the Raichs, if their appetities are in proportion to their size.

'AIDA' WILL INAUGURATE OPERA HERE

Presentation Schedule Revised Over Difficulty to Complete Set

Working on the revised schedule of presentation, Richard Hageman, general musical director of the Los Angeles Civic Opera Association, last night conducted a full practice rehearsal of "Aida," scheduled to inaugurate the season next Tuesday.

The new order in which the operas will be given, made necessary because of the inability of the scenic workers to complete the sets in time for "Lakme" to open the season, is as follows:

"Aida," Tuesday, the 29th inst.
"Rigoletto," Wednesday, the 30th inst.
"Carmen," Thursday, October 1.
"Lakme," Saturday, October 3, (matinee.)
"Cavalleria Rusticana" and "La Navarraise," Monday, October 5.

With Rosa Rais, Chicago Opera dramatic soprano, in the leading role of "Aida," opera officials believe the productions will set a new mark in presentation here. Raisa has made some of her most notable successes in this opera, particularly recetntly at Ravinia Park, home of Chicago summer opera.

Filling out the cast are Ulysses Lappas as Rhadames, Giacomo Rimini as Amonasro, Kathryn Meisle as Amneris and Edouard Cotreuil as Ramphis.

Elaborate settings of Egyptian motif and lighting effects have been perfected under the direction of Stephan Horbeczecke.

Ernest Belcher, ballet master, will present innovations in ballet scenes. Last night his dancers appeared in the three important "Aida" sequences, "Dance of the Vestal Maidens," "Dance of the Ethiopians" and the grand bacchanale prior to the triumphal entrance of Rhadames.

Richard Hageman, described by Vice-President Charles G. Dawes on his recent visit here as "the best all-around musician in the world today," will conduct the rehearsals and operas.

HALT MOVE FOR WIDER JEFFERSON

Protestants Under Old Law Delay Improvement Under Major Traffic Plan

Proceedings for the widening of West Jefferson street from Vermont avenue to Arlington street were abandoned yesterday by the City Council, as property owners had presented a protest representing 65 per cent of the district which would be assessed for the improvement. The proceedings were brought under the Act of 1903, by the terms of which the Council was required to abandon proceedings on presentation of a majority petition.

As the widening of Jefferson street was one of the street openings and widenings recommended in the Major Traffic Plan, some of the Councilmen were reluctant to sustain the protests, but they were informed that new proceedings for the improvement will be brought under the Act of 1925, by the terms of which the Council will have the power to proceed with the improvement even though a majority protest is filed against it.

Assistant City Attorney Whitehead said that the widening of Jefferson street was the only improvement which had been started under the Act of 1903, and that other improvements recommended in the Major Traffic Plan had been started, as will all those ordered in the future, under the State law which gives the Council authority to order the improvement, despite the opposition of property owners.

RESIDENTS OF GIRARD OPOSE LOSS OF BUS

The Board of Public Utilities and Transportation yesterday gave an extended hearing to property owners in the Girard section of the city in the San Fernando Valley, who protested against the proposed discontinuance of the passenger motor-bus line from that section to the central part of Los Angeles. The motor-bus line was established by the Pacific Electric Railway, and officials of the company presented data to the board yesterday to show that the line was being operated at a loss. The Girard residents said that the service was necessary and would be paying its own expenses in a short time. The board took the matter under advisement.

FIND CLEW IN FOILED KIDNAPING

Police Link Suspect in Attempted Abduction of Girl to Other Cases

A man charged with attempting to kidnap Miss Martha Escobar, 20 years of age, of 10,431 Pico Boulevard, near her home Monday night was being sought last night by police, who believe he may be connected with several similar attempts on young women reported in the past few days. Miss Escobar told officers she got off a Pacific Electric bus about four blocks from her home late Monday night and started to walk the rest of the way.

A youth in a car drew up to the curb near her and offered her a ride. She paid no attention, but walked on, and again he drove up beside her and this time seized her arm and attempted to drag her into the car. She struggled with him, she said, and managed to break away, but fell in doing so and cut her scalp severely on a rock. He drove away hurriedly and she made her way home. She described him as about 21 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches tall, 150 pounds in weight, with a light suit and soft hat.

Man Must Pay Alimony to Two at Same Time

Eugene G. Bryant yesterday acquired the distinction of being under court order to pay alimony to two women concurrently.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Verda Bryant obtained a divorce and an order for the support of her three children.

Yesterday Mrs. Virginia Bryant appeared before Judge Gates, obtained an annulment on the ground that Bryant was not divorced from Mrs. Verda Bryant at the time she married him, and was granted an order for the support of her child.

"I hope this gentleman's income is equal to the situation caused by his wandering affections," Judge Gates remarked. "Just why did you marry Virginia when you knew Verda was still your wife?" he inquired of Bryant.

"That's a hard question, Judge," Bryant replied. "Because I loved her, I guess."

BELIEVE FIRE DUE TO CARELESS PROWLER

Following the abstraction of a pocketbook from the clothing of William Penn in Moneta, a fire was discovered in his house and store, according to his report. Damage was slight. Constable Balmer of Gardena and Assistant County Fire Warden Kennedy came to the conclusion a prowler, looking for valuables, had dropped a match and accidentally set the place on fire.

ROBINSON ARRIVES TODAY

Flagship Arizona to be Base for Assistant Secretary of Navy on Visit Here

The U.S.S. Arizona, flagship of Rear-Admiral Ziegemeier, commanding officer of Division Three of the Battle Fleet, arrived at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday from the Puget Sound Naval Yard, where she recently was completely overhauled.

The Arizona will ze the base for Assistant Secrteary of the Navy T. Douglas Robinson, who arrives at Los Angeles today at 9:25 a.m. for a five days' stay in Southern California, during which time he will inspect the naval establishment, the fleet and the oil reserves in Kern county. Secretary Robinson will be accompanied by Lieutenant-Commander Charles A. Pownall.

Following a reception by a committee of prominent citizens, Secretary Robinson and his aide will be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce at a noon luncheon and in the afternoon will visit the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio in Culver City. They will spend the night on the Arizona and will depart tomorrow by seaplane for San Diego, where they will inspect the naval establishment. Friday morning they will return by plane and will board the Arizona.

With the secretary on board, the Arizona will put to sea to meet the battle fleet returning from the Australian cruise and Secretary Robinson will review the fleet at a point approximately 100 miles at sea. As far as is known, this will be the first time in naval annals that a Secretary or Assistant Secretary of the Navy has reviewed the fleet at sea. The review is expected to occur Saturday morning.

Returning with the Arizona, Secretary Robinson will visit the naval oil reserves in Kern county on Sunday, and Monday he will confer with commanders of the battle fleet relative to the operating program for the coming year.

Tuesday he will leave for San Francisco, thence to Honolulu, returning here October 20. He will leave that day for Washington.

HAWAII FLYERS TO BE AT RACE

Presence of Rodgers and Comrades Assured

Fitting Welcome Planned at Clover Field

Heroes of PN-9 Arrive at Harbor Saturday

Definite assurance that Commander John Rodgers and his crew of the PN-9, No. 1, will be guests of honor at the air meet at Clover Field next Sunday, honoring the first anniversary of the world-flight completion, was received yesterday in a radiogram from Commander Rodgers, now on board a battleship headed for San Francisco.

Commander Woodbine of the Los Angeles Naval Reserve received the message from Rodgers, in which he declared he would consider it an honor to be present, and that advices reaching him from Capt. Sanford E. Moses, in charge of the Hawaii nonstop flight attempt, as well as Col. Frank P. Lahm, air commander of the Ninth Corps Area, have perfected the way whereby he and his crew of four could be present in Los Angeles at that time.

Information to this effect was announced last night by Arnold Kruckman, first vice-president of the Southern California chapter of the National Aeronautic Association, the body sponsoring the $10,000 trophy contest set for next Sunday, in which upward of fifty planes are expected to take part.

Donald Douglas, president of the local N.A.A. chapter and designer of the world-flight planes, has been named to head the reception committee that will meet and look after the entertainment of Rodgers and his crew when they arrive in Los Angeles Harbor next Saturday morning.

JUDGES CHOSEN

Selection of judges for the coming air meet—three for each point in the race—was made yesterday by Kruckman, as follows:

Long Beach—Squire Duree, Commodore Thomas Fronk and Harry B. Watson.

Griffith Park—George H. Crail, district forester; Vanna P. Lee and Charles N. Burger.

Van Nuys—Leo B. Lesnerance, Nathan A. Ryna and Earl W. Porter.

Clover Field—Maj. C. R. Olberg, Lieut. Franklin Young.

The local N.A.A. chapter met last night at the Hotel Ambassador, when various details were worked out by the contest committee and other chapter officials. A special program of interest will precede the trophy contest proper. The special events will begin at 10 a.m. and keep the crowds interested until 1 o'clock, when the planes will begin taking off at three-minute intervals for their 'round-city dash against time.

THEATER GUESTS

Commander Rodgers and crew, together with Lieut. Lowell Smith, Leslie Arnold and Erik Nelson, 'round-the-world flyers, will be invited honor guests at the Metropolitan Theater Sunday night to attend the special aviation performance which Managing Director Newman has arranged in honor of the World Flight Memorial Trophy race. The theater will be decorated in honor of the guests, with the aviation effect as the paramount feature. One of the features on the program will be a song, "Welcome, Heroes," composed especially in honor of the guests by Jack Patridge.

MANY IMPROVFMENT CREWS ON CITY WORK

City Engineer Shaw has reported to the Board of Public Works that on account of the $100,000,000 public improvement program under way the force of surveyors now in the field making surveys for street paving, sewers, storm drains and other improvements, numbers 350 men, divided into eighty crews. This is the largest number of surveying crews the city has ever had at work at one time, and is the result of the large number of petitions for improvements filed by property owners.

CITY PAVEMENT WORK SETS NEW HIGH MARK

New street pavements are being laid in Los Angeles at the rate of ten miles a month, City Engineer Shaw has reported to the City Council, which will give a total of 120 miles of newly-paved streets accepted this year by the city as compared with 113 miles accepted during the last fiscal year. The City Engineer called the Council's attention to the fact that these new streets must be swept and kept in repair and be asked for $153,000 for addidonal equipment and employees.

TWO DRAW TERMS IN JAIL AS SPEEDERS

Charged with hitting a forty-five-mile-an-hour clip on Pasadena avenue, E. W. Vale, 346 East First street, and Frank Neff, 5302 Irvington Place, were given straight jail terms of five days each yesterday by Police Judge Richardson. Judge Richardson yesterday issued a warning to motorists who receive the new triplicate traffic tags to come into court the same day the summons reads, and avoid the issuance of bench warrants. Out of 183 tags filed in court yesterday only thirty-five motorists appeared, and bench warrants were issued for the remainder.

SENATE QUIZ ON LAND SET FOR FRIDAY

Conference Here Put Off Two Days to be Held at Biltmore in Afternoon

The Senate Committee on Public Lands and Surveys now holding hearings in San Francisco will hold a formal Los Angeles session at 2 p.m. Friday at the Biltmore. The hearing originally was set for tomorrow, but was postponed because of the great amount of testimony scheduled for presentation at San Francisco, where three days are being allowed instead of one.

The preliminary conference on public lands, called at the request of the Senate committee by the California Development Association for the purpose of correlating various viewpoints on public-land matters so that an intelligent and concise presentation of California's difficulties may be made to the committe, also has been postponed a day. It is now scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

R. H. Ballard, vice-president and general manager of the Southern California Edison Company, and chairman of the conservation committee of the Southern California regional advisory council of the California Development Association, will preside at the preliminary meeting.

Charles G. Dunwoody, director of the conservation department of the development association, will arrive in Los Angeles this morning to complete final arrangements for both meetings.

DRINK OFFER TO COP GETS GIRL IN JAIL

Los Angeles Beauty and Male Companion Fined on Ontario Charges

Generosity and misplaced confidence proved costly for a young and pretty Los Angeles girl and her male companion when each was assessed a $20 fine in Judge Holbrook's court at Ontario following their arrest yesterday in an Ontario restaurant on charges of intoxication.

Seeing Officer Hammond of the Ontario traffic squad partaking of a midnight supper in the restaurant, the girl hailed him as "Buddy" and asked him if he wanted a drink. Without waiting for a reply, she is declared to have gone to a motor car parked on the street and returned with a partially filled bottle of whisky. She and her companion were promptly taken into custody.

At the time of the arrest the man, giving his name as Norman Banks, 458 South Main street, Los Angeles, insisted the girl was his wife, while the latter vehemently denied it. In court later, however, after several hours in jail, she was willing to be known as Mrs. Norman Banks, giving their address as 309 South Berendo street, Los Angeles. Both entered pleas of guilty to the intoxication charge. The girl gave her age as 22 years, and the man his as 30.
